Fleming First To Meet Chief

By DAVE McINTOSH

TORONTO (CP) — "Wasn't it wonderful," exclaimed John Diefenbaker today about his reception at the Royal York Hotel upon his arrival for the Conservative leadership convention.

"Was that the biggest reception?" he asked reporters when he reached his 16th floor vice-regal suite.

Assured that it was, he said he was delighted.

He said he was concerned about his wife, Olive, in the crush of people at the hotel entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker were caught in a jam of several hundred persons when they stepped from the car which had brought them from the airport. They were met by E. A. Goodman and Roger Regimbal, co-chairmen of the convention, who had to clear with exhortations a path through the photographers and reporters.

The first caller at his suite was Donald Fleming, one of the nine contenders for the party leadership.

WILL MAKE SPEECH

Mr. Diefenbaker said he will make an address Thursday night to the Conservative association "and to the nation."

He did not elaborate. He had been asked whether he will announce his candidacy Thursday.

There have been reports that Mr. Diefenbaker will support Mr. Fleming for the leadership in an effort to head off three candidates the Chief is said to oppose: Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Davie Fulton, former justice minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker described his reception as "very nice, very touching."

He said he will work today on his Thursday speech.

Many anti-Diefenbaker candidates had earlier expressed concern that an ovation for the Chief might persuade him to enter the race at the last moment.

GOES DOWN TO REGISTER

At noon, Mr. Diefenbaker went down to the convention floor to register.

He was met by one person's shout of "Hurrah for Dief" but there was little reaction.

A shout of "Three cheers for Dief" brought only one cheer and only a smattering of applause from some 20 persons around him.

A little later, Mr. Diefenbaker ran into a vociferous parade for Mr. Stanfield.

The premier's supporters drowned out the shouts of "We want Dief."

An old lady patted Mr. Diefenbaker on the shoulder and said: "You're the best yet."

But there were few if any MPs near Mr. Diefenbaker.

Candidate Alvin Hamilton called on the chief after Mr. Fleming left. Another visitor was Erik Nielsen, MP for the Yukon and campaign manager for candidate Michael Starr.

WIRE BRIEFS

De Gaulle in Poland

WARSAW (Reuters)—French President de Gaulle arrived here by air today for a week's visit to Poland during which he will have talks expected to range over European security, the German problem, Vietnam and the Middle East situation.

Viet Fraud Charged

SAIGON (UPI)—"Peace" candidate Truong Dinh Dzu said today that seven other defeated candidates would join him in demanding a new South Vietnamese election on the grounds that president-elect Nguyen Van Thieu had won by fraud.

Cong Beaten Back

SAIGON (CP) — About 2,500 Viet Cong guerrillas tried to storm the provincial capital of Tam Ky for three hours before dawn today, but were beaten off with the loss of 219 dead, including three company commanders, and a mass of weapons, a South Vietnamese spokesman said.

KOREAN MINER FREED AFTER 15-DAY ORDEAL

CHONGYANG, South Korea .AP) — Rescue workers brought to the surface today a 35-year-old Korean gold miner who had been trapped 410 feet under ground more than two weeks. Doctors said Kim Chang-son was in fair condition.

Doctors described Kim as a "man of unusually strong will" and said it was largely his willpower that had kept him alive during the 15 days he had spent alone in the mine.

The miner, a veteran of the Korean War, drank water and ate wood bark he found in the mine.

AT MIDNIGHT

Ford Strike Seen Certain

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and General Motors said today they would allow United Auto Workers Union members to man their plants without a contract, thus insuring production by two of the Big Three U.S. auto-makers if the Ford Motor Co. is hit by a strike at midnight tonight.

Announcement by the two companies came as union and company bargainers at Ford broke for a long lunch after haggling for three hours without progress.

The inevitability of a strike by 159,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states grew as they wore on.

At least one UAW Ford local jumped the gun with more than 10 hours remaining to expiration of the three-year contract.

Some 1,700 workers at Ford's Twin Cities plant in St. Paul, Minn., walked off the job without explanation.

Emerging from the morning session, UAW President Walter P. Reuther agreed with Ford's chief bargainer that a strike was "highly probable."

"But that doesn't mean we have given up," he added.

Reuther said the key issues at Ford were economic and added that the situation apparently was going to be reduced to "economic warfare."

Reuther said the only chance of avoiding a strike would be a change in attitude on the part of Ford, adding that he has seen no indication of any such change.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford's top negotiator, said Tuesday he anticipated no new offer by Ford.

Asked whether he would request recommendations from William E. Simkin, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, Reuther said he would leave that for Simkin to decide.

HOPE FOR SHORT STRIKE

The UAW leader said he hoped any strike would be a short one and that negotiations would get under way again "at the earliest opportunity."

Reuther said Tuesday he expected UAW members would be able to remain at their jobs at GM and Chrysler even if the current three-year contracts are not extended.

Sticks, Tear Gas Needed To Stop Separatist Clash

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Andre Theoret of suburban Pierrefonds said today he plans to ask Quebec Premier Johnson for direct intervention against separatist demonstrations of the kind that widened into a violent two-hour battle Tuesday night.

Four persons were arrested after the clash between demonstrators urging completion of a French-language school and English-speaking hecklers. Three policemen and 10 demonstrators were injured.

Pierrefonds police and reinforcements from provincial police and neighboring communities used tear gas and nightsticks to end the fighting shortly after 10 p.m.

Mayor Theoret said a decision will be made within four to six weeks by the municipal council whether zoning laws will be amended to enable construction work on the Roman Catholic elementary school.

Police said the fighting began after a small number of English-speaking persons began singing O Canada in French during a speech by Pierre Bourgault, leader of the Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale, Quebec's largest separatist political party.

Separatists and hecklers traded punches and kicks and wrestled on the ground to shouts of "kill him" from spectators.

The demonstrators then began a noisy march through the community to a shopping centre, shouting separatist slogans.

English-speaking persons then followed the demonstrators to the shopping centre. The two groups broke into full battle after a group of RIN supporters tore a Red Ensign flag from the hands of hecklers.

The demonstration was called by the RIN to protest an injunction taken out by a Pierrefonds home owners association to block further construction work on the elementary school, scheduled for completion in January.

The home owners said traffic in the area would increase and property values would drop if the school were finished.

Carter Study Urged

TORONTO (CP) — A Progressive Conservative policy committee voted today to recommend to the party that it support extending the base for the federal sales tax to include some services. It also approved shifting the tax to the retail from the manufacturer's level.

Completing its day-and-a-half study of the implications of the Carter report on taxation on party policy, the committee also recommended that a joint parliamentary committee be set up to study the report before the government presents a white paper on its intentions.

The recommendations will go before a plenary policy session Thursday.

The debate on extending the base of the sales tax sparked a dispute among the committee members, with Robert M. Clark, economics professor at the University of British Columbia warning that a general statement about including "some services" could be misinterpreted.

His proposal to exempt shelter, medical, dental, nursing, hospital and educational services was defeated on grounds there was not time to go into such detail.

The committee's stand on the federal sales tax is similar to that adopted by the Carter report. The 12-per-cent tax now is applied at the manufacturers' level and is passed on to consumers as part of the price.

The Carter report suggested it should be seven per cent at the retail level, but the committee did not pick a rate in going along with the shift.

APPROVE OTHER IDEAS

Other recommendations approved by the committee included:

1. Negotiations between the federal and provincial governments to agree on a common base for a sales tax;

2. An upper limit on the size of retirement savings plans to which payments are tax free should be subject to periodic review. Mr. Carter recommended it be fixed at $12,000 a year, but the committee said that would be far too low to benefit young persons now starting to build their retirement funds;

3. Mr. Carter's proposed foreign tax credits should be reassessed because they are inadequate. The report recommended that Canadian corporations doing foreign business pay a 30-per-cent tax on profits, less whatever income tax they pay in the foreign country.

Prof. Clark said the Carter report does not give enough importance to the value of Canadian investment in foreign countries. Such investment was large and benefitted the country's balance of payments.

A short-term policy of passive austerity appeared to be evolving within a committee on economic development at the convention.

The tone for restraint was set by the two economists — Richard Scott-Ram of Montreal and Arthur Kruger of Toronto — who said that inflationary pressures have brought Canada to the brink of recession.

'LOST GENERATION' SETS PACE

Power Brokers Can't Deliver Tory Votes

By PETER C. NEWMAN

Newman

TORONTO — The voting machines, the television technicians looking like moon men staggering under the load of their apparatus, the teeny boppers in psychedelic colors, the fancy identification tags, the rock bands with their transistorized guitars have given the Conservative convention a twenty-first century air.

At first glance machines appear more crucial than men; it's as though the candidates prepared for this convention believing that if only the mechanics were right, delegates could be dazzled into consent. But they've quickly discovered that this is an illusion.

For in truth the Conservative convention is turning into one of the great democratic happenings of Canadian politics. The power brokers are desperately negotiating their victory deals but all the while they are haunted by the fear that they may not be able to deliver.

Open Convention

They are suddenly confronted with the reality that the delegates are not to be easily manipulated; that they are far more concerned and sophisticated than anybody imaged — a group of free spirits who want to choose that leader who can most effectively deal with the torrent of social, economic and political change which is remaking the nation.

The seem to realize that the problems now facing Canada require mature and subtle judgments which don't come out of the kind of passionate leadership represented by John Diefenbaker.

It's an unstructured, wide-open convention with probably less than a hundred votes separating the top four candidates (Roblin, Fulton, Stanfield and Hees) but some trends are already discernable.

Duff Roblin will probably lead on the first ballot — though not necessarily win the leadership. The Manitoba premier's call for unity has struck a responsive nerve chord in the party, but as front runner he has become the target other candidates are shooting at.

Roblin Weakened

The unauthorized attacks on John Diefenbaker by Roblin's Quebec supporters (and the still unexplained telegram assault by Maruice Arpin) have weakened Roblin's claim to be a compromise candidate.

The most likely combination to beat Duff Roblin would be a coalition between Davie Fulton and Robert Stanfield. This is in the works although until the first few ballots are counted, it's uncertain who'll be backing whom. The Fulton-Stanfield alliance might also include many delegates supporting Fleming and McCutcheon on early ballots.

Until nominations close on Friday morning, John Diefenbaker will remain the palpable political presence against whose stature all Tory hopefuls must measure themselves. But in the environment of these reverberating klieg-lit meeting halls, his sorcery seems less potent.

John Diefenbaker must be the only Tory in town who doesn't realize what this convention is all about. He still regards it not as an important political movement's legitimate process of succession, but only as a plot against him and his historic destiny.

His last, gravelly hope lies in his contempt for those ungrateful men who are trying to replace him, the giant, with some political pigmy from their number.

It took Tuesday and Wednesday's scuffling at the Royal York Hotel to bring the convention alive. What has taken hold of it now is the fever that always grips politicians when power is changing hands.

It's a euphoria and you can see it everywhere, in the flushed faces of matrons with dimpled arms and in the glazed eyes of garrulous men of late middle-age who keep recalling other conventions, but most of all you can hear it in the disjointed theorizing of young and old; everybody talks, incessantly, compulsively rumour-mongering, recounting the latest inside-inside story. A man will rush up and repeat as incontrovertible fact a vague theory you told HIM 15 minutes before.

In the long carpeted tunnels of hotel corridors, delegates, reporters, onlookers jostle each other in constant, verbal confrontation. You can still spot the old pols in the crowd, the senators, the wringers of hands, the anxious glad-to-see-you tooth suckers who promenade up the hotel lobbies as if pursuing some essential mission.

Tired Candidates

But they are far removed from the sources of real power in the party and after this convention even their physical presence will become redundant.

This is a convention that belongs to that lost generation of Conservatives who came of political age after the flowering of John Diefenbaker, but this side of the politically-minded teeny boppers of both sexes who'll inherit the party next time around.

All of the hoopla and most of the attention is focussed on the candidates themselves. They strain to satisfy the yearnings of their followers. But they are tired men.

Except for Roblin and Stanfield, they've all talked too much and travelled too far in the past six months.

Their pronouncements began to multiply back in April and through the long, hot summer they criss-crossed the country, exhausting their mental and physical energies, lacerating their sense of privacy, and exposing themselves

U.S. Schools Closed By Teacher Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The vast school systems of New York City and Detroit moved closer to massive strikes today and empty classrooms in cities across the U.S. marked the failure of school boards and teachers to agree on issues of salary and educational policy.

New York City's United Federation of Teachers' rejected what was described as a final proposal from a mediation board Tuesday only hours after Mayor John Lindsay strongly recommended acceptance.

The teachers threaten mass resignations on Monday, the first day of school, a move that would affect 1,100,000 pupils.

Detroit's 300,000 pupils, scheduled to go back to school today, stayed home as the opening was put off to Thursday in order that negotiations could continue between the board of education and the Federation of Teachers. Lieutenant-Governor William Milliken said, "There is no sign of a settlement."

TEACHERS STAYED HOME

Some 19,000 pupils who trooped to classrooms in other Michigan school districts were sent home Tuesday when their teachers refused to show up without new contracts.

Milliken expected another 74,000 to be sent home today. By Thursday, he said, the figure could reach 500,000.

About 24,000 pupils in East St. Louis, Ill., were in their second week at home as a teacher boycott closed most classes.

Greek Gift To Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — King Contantine of Greece expressed the hope today that the millions of visitors to Expo 67 will "become the heralds of universal understanding and peace."

The king spoke at a colorful ceremony marking Greece's national day at the world's fair as a cool breeze swept the sun-drenched Place des Nations. Boisterous applause and cheers greeted his announcement that he was offering the Greek pavilion to the city of Montreal.

Roost to Roast Axe Handle Away

By TED GASKELL

Birds, ships and children were the prize-winning subjects in the final week of The Times Amateur Snapshot contest.

First $10 prize went to Maurice Bombezin, 1310 Prillaman Avenue, for his shot of a cockpheasant roosting in the handle of an axe.

A child with one solitary tear hanging from its eyelid gave $10 to John Sykora of 3050 Glen Manor Place for the best snapshot in the People of the World category.

Fishing boats at sunset was a prize-winner in the World in Which We Live group for Mrs. Ann Wilson, 940 Walema.

Runners up were Mrs. Agnes Duke, 5288 Santa Clara, with a picture of a swan at dusk; Mrs. H. Nelson, 30 Douglas Street with the snap of a cabin cruiser high and dry in the World in Which We Live category, and Mrs. F. C. Smith, 4475 Densmore snapped a dirty-faced little boy for second place in the People of the World group.

NATIONAL

The seven winners in each category will now be judged and the best will receive $25 and entry in the national competition for a first prize of a trip around the world for two with $1,000 in spending money. Lesser prizes of trips to Hawaii, Europe, Mexico and the West Indies will also be given as well as seven $100 prizes for Canadian entries and $20 for the best Canadian print submitted.

Prize-winning entries going on to the national competitions must be accompanied by release from the subjects if over 21 or from parents or guardians if under 21.

When these winners are chosen, release forms will be mailed out to the photographers who must have them signed by the subjects or parents and guardians of the subjects and returned immediately otherwise the pictures will not be accepted by the national judges.

SAFEST PLACE in the world for candidate for the table is on the axe handle, this pheasant believes. Picture was taken by Maurice Bombezon, 1310 Prillaman Avenue, to win first place this week in the Birds and Animals of the World Category of The Times Amateur Snapshot Contest.

'I FEEL ABOUT 37' SAYS BENNETT AT 67

BENNETT
. . . no celebration

Premier Bennett is 67 today.

As usual, he planned no special celebration to mark the event.

The premier was born Sept. 6, 1900, in Albert County, N.B., the son of United Empire Loyalists.

En route to a cabinet meeting Tuesday, he said he feels younger now than he did when he became premier in 1952.

"I feel about 37," he said.

Asked how he would spend his birthday, the premier said "I'll only be thinking about new policies for B.C."

Asked about a recent suggestion that he is considering retirement, Bennett replied: "That's for the prime minister of Canada."

ing that governmental spending be curbed and that some programs, notably medical care insurance, postponed.

In its report the rural and regional development subcommittee called for a regional level of government between local municipalities and the provinces and incorporating some of the functions of both.

CO-ORDINATE EFFORTS

Regional governments would co-ordinate the efforts of adjacent cities, towns, counties and rural areas to solve common problems such as metropolitan transport, water conservation and supply, industrial promotion, housing, schools, hospitals, provision of open space for recreation and regulation of land use.

Committee members agreed this is primarily a provincial matter but felt Ottawa should act as a catalyst, especially in carrying out research leading to solution.

Alvin Hamilton, a leadership candidate, told the committee on economic development that the party should develop an economic policy flexible for both the Canadian regions and industries. In this way, Canada can achieve a growth rate of five to seven per cent and, in 25 years, overtake the per-capital earning rate in the United States.

He said the United States is expected to have a relatively constant growth rate of four per cent.

The flexible policy he envisaged would permit the federal government to select areas for incentives. For example, a tight money situation in central Canada would present an opportunity to provide incentives for the Maritime regions.

Meanwhile, each candidate delivered a brief policy rundown Tuesday night, but none set the audience of 2,000 on fire. The consensus was that the first group appearance of the candidates at the convention was a political saw-off for the leading contenders.

Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba had the choice final spot on the speaking order, but his applause was on the same scale as some of his chief rivals such as Davie Fulton, George Hees and Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia.

John Maclean, a relative unknown, drew a laugh by inviting delegates to ponder whether "they were overlooking some talent in the party."

Mr. Fulton favored a move away from universal, compulsory welfare spending in favor of concentration on helping those who really need it. There was a need for major policy changes in several fields.

Senator Wallace McCutcheon said there is no place in Canada for two sovereignties, one French and one English. There may be a place for two different cultures.

Mr. Roblin talked of the need for order and priority in Canadian administration. Mr. Hees promised a trade crusade to expand markets if he gained power.

Mr. Hamilton favored a policy which he termed expansionist economic nationalism.

National unity was a favorite theme, and Mr. Stanfield said it is not unreasonable for French-Canadians to want mechanisms to safeguard their cultural identity.

Mr. Fleming, a former finance minister, called for policies to encourage Canadian savings to provide domestic capital. Michael Starr favored continuation of Canada's membership in both NATO and NORAD.

. . . POWER

to too many contradictory positions.

There is George Hees, accompanied wherever he goes by the two-beat rhythms of the metro stompers. Continuously being stopped by TV interviewers, Hees stares into the blinding television lights like a sun worshipper, sure that this is his deity and that he will have its blessing.

Yet his words betray little evidence of a mind given to speculating about the subtleties or even the truisms of our changing society.

Davie Fulton seems gayer than he has ever been. He has somewhere acquired a patina of self-conficence which adds to his appeal. Whether or not he'll emerge as the ultimate winner, he'll come out of this convention with the myth that he's a bad politician finally dispelled.

Robert Stanfield remains a ponderer in an age of quick decisions, a faun among the foxes. But his natural dignity is beginning to assert itself and he is at last looking like a possible, if drab alternative.

Looking for Winner

And here, too, parades Donald Fleming, like some geological remnant of a forgotten age. Outwardly confident, he's been loosing delegates steadily for two months now, first with Stanfield's entry, then with Roblin's declaration, and finally with Diefenbaker's call to rally his troops for a possible, last minute entry.

Fleming has nothing left to offer his party except the salvation of their fiscal souls, but the delegates are in Toronto to back a winner, and they only wince when the redoubtable Donald expounds his dreams of a Canada that began to vanish before he was born.

But there's only one question that matters: when the ballots have been counted on Saturday afternoon, who will be the winner?

Asked a similar question about a U.S. political convention, T. H. White, the American journalist-historian, gave a reply relevant to this one.

"The decisive factor," he said, "is how you manoeuvre yourself to attract the attention of the king-makers, the power brokers, the press and ultimately the people. But the most important ingredient is luck. You must be where the lightning strikes."

"Oh dear!"

. . . DIEF

meeting lasted about five minutes.

Immediately after, Mr. Fleming told reporters any statements about Diefenbaker support for him must come from the leader.

Mr. Fleming did not deny the reports of a possible arrangement. He said:

"I heard the reports earlier and I said at the time I would have to seek confirmation from proper sources."

When Mr. Fleming left the Diefenbaker room, the leader posed with him for photographers clustered around.

Asked whether the two men would meet again today, Mr. Fleming replied: "Maybe."

Mr. Diefenbaker's only comment on the report that he might under certain circumstances give Mr. Fleming quiet support was:

"If I answered all the rumors emanating from the several factories here, I'd have time for nothing else."

SEEMS PLEASED

But he was plainly pleased that Mr. Fleming called on him immediately after his arrival and ahead of the stream of visitors who began to file into the vice-regal suite.

A group of women called on Mrs. Diefenbaker and stayed a few minutes chatting.

In his conversation Mr. Diefenbaker kept returning to the reception scene.

"Wasn't it great?" he asked, turning to a small group around him.

"It was the greatest reception I've ever had in public life."

Despite the cheering for Mr. Diefenbaker in the lobby, only a smattering of the crowd wore "Keep the Chief" buttons that have been seen around the hotel during the convention.

Crowds lining the balcony around the lobby were largely silent. As one non-Diefenbaker man put it: "We don't want to cheer too loud, he might run."

The few people who carried Diefenbaker signs were mostly elderly. Most were women.

A Regina woman delegate, without a Diefenbaker button, told a reporter she came to see the leader, who is from her home province, but would not vote for him if he ran.

Many of the persons who jammed the hotel lobby to see Mr. Diefenbaker were not convention delegates.

There was a scattering, however, of supporters of Mr. Fleming and Senator Wallace McCutcheon.

There were few Conservative MPs in evidence.

Ernest MacAulay, the piper for Premier Stanfield, said he was sent down to the lobby by Mr. Stanfield to serenade Mr. Diefenbaker because he was still the chief.

James Johnston, national director of the party, said a band had been arranged for Mr. Diefenbaker. It played in the lobby.

Mr. MacAulay said he was going to pipe anyway and did.

JAPANESE SCIENTIST ARRESTED IN U.S.

'Household Goods' Were Space Study Data

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Federal customs agents arrested a Japanese scientist after the agents said, they discovered three crates labelled "used household goods" contained information on a U.S. space project.

Charged with making a false customs declaration was Dr. Hidebumi Hazama, 39, formerly a researcher for a National Aeronautics and Space Administration project at University Hospital.

The material was described as the complete and only record of a $300,000 study on the effects of living in space on the human brain.

John Dolan, assistant customs agent, said the crates seized aboard the Pioneer Moon in Baltimore harbor contained data tables, slides, documents, records, computations and other information.

Stephen H. Sachs, U.S. Attorney for Maryland, said the material was not regarded as secret.

The arrest of Hazama last Friday was disclosed Tuesday. Agents said the scientist was picked up as he was putting his wife and child on a London-bound plane at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport.

PEARSON HOPES CYC WILL BECOME USEFUL

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson made it clear Tuesday that the Company of Young Canadians won't die out.

He said he hopes the controversial concern now can settle down "and become a useful organization."

Mr. Pearson said he knew the Company would have growing pains "but I didn't appreciate the difficulties would be quite as complicated and great as they are.

"I had hoped the Company would have been at work constructively in Canada and abroad long before this but it has been proven to be far more difficult to put into action than I had thought would be the case."

ECONOMIC POLICIES

Wilson Rapped By U.K. Unions

BRIGHTON, England (CP — The Trades Union Congress, backbone of the British Labor movement, today sharply censured Prime Minister Wilson's handling of the shaky economy.

The congress, with 9,000,000 workers in its membership, adopted at its annual conference a resolution critical of the Labor government's economic policies.

The vote was 4,883,000 to 3,502,000 with the powerful Amalgamated Engineering Union playing a key role by casting its block of 1,000,000 votes in opposition to the censure move.

The TUC criticized the government's intervention in collective bargaining to solve economic policies and deflationary measures that it said has caused high unemployment.

The congress bitterly attacked the government Tuesday for supporting the U.S. on Vietnam and embarrassed Wilson by approving a resolution demanding the government stop backing the U.S. on the controversial issue.

IN DEFIANT MOOD

The TUC showed its defiant mood Tuesday by over-riding its executive committee, the General Council, and passing the Vietnam resolution. Delegates representing 4,686,000 members voted for it, with 3,319,000 opposed.

Observers said it now appears likely that the conference of the ruling Labor party itself would pass a similar resolution when it meets next month.

The General Council tried to get the militant Draftsmen's Union to withdraw its resolution, then appealed unsuccessfully to the delegates to reject it.

J. F. Mortimore of the Draftsmen reminded the delegates that Wilson last year said his government could not support extension of U.S. air raids to the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

"What has changed for him not to fulfil the undertaking he gave a year ago?" Mortimer asked.

Co-operation Limited To Exchanges

PARIS (AP) — French co-operations plans for Quebec consists largely of teacher and radio-television exchanges, it was announced today.

As for economic aid, the government announced only that the Paris money market would be opened wider to the Frnech-speaking province of Canada.

The announcements were made by Information Minister George Gorse after a regular weekly meeting of President de Gaulle with his cabinet.

Gorse said the status of the Quebec co-operation agreement was given to the cabinet by Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Alain Peyrefitte, Minister of Education, will go to Quebec soon to discuss the co-operation agreement, especially in the field of technical education, Gorse said.

Romney 'Brainwash' Denied

SAIGON (AP) — Ruffled by George Romney's charge that he was brainwashed in Vietnam, U.S. officials said today that nine other governors were with the Michigan Republican on his 1965 visit and none of them have made any such complaints publicly.

Members of the U.S. military and diplomatic establishments said Romney was only in South Vietnam four days, that he spent three of them on field trips outside Saigon and that with the other governors he was given only the standard treatment.

Romney's statements in a television interview Monday night were front-page news in Saigon's English-language newspapers and also reached the U.S. embassy and military command on news service wires.

The undeclared candidate for the 1968 Republican nomination for president was asked why he had changed his earlier view that U.S. involvement in Vietnam was morally right and necessary.

Romney replied: "When I came back from Vietnam, I just had the greatest brainwashing that anybody can get when you go over to Vietnam. Not only by the generals but also by the diplomatic corps over there, and they do a very thorough job."

Romney said that since then he had delved into Vietnamese history and "I have changed my mind in that particularly I no longer believe that it was necessary for us to get involved in South Vietnam to stop Communist aggression in Southeast Asia and to prevent Chinese Communist domination of Southeast Asia."

TV Strike Averted

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A threatened strike by 3,000 broadcast employees was averted, at least for several days, when union negotiators reached agreement Tuesday with the National Broadcasting Co., on a new contract and agreed to submit to union members a proposal from the American Broadcasting Co.

PEARSON RETIREMENT

PM's Moves Depend On New Tory Leader

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Timing of the leadership convention to select a new leader of the Liberal party will depend to a great extent on the outcomeof the Conservative leadership convention now underway in Toronto.

Consequently Liberals are watching events at Toronto with almost as great an interest as members of the Progressive Conservative party.

If John Diefenbaker is returned as national leader of the Conservatives, the national leader of the Liberals, Prime Minister L. B. Pearson will postpone the day of his departure from his high position.

But if the Conservatives select a new leader then the prime minister can be expected to decide to step down and make way for a new leader of the Liberal party in the near future.

PM's THINKING

Earlier this year the prime minister, according to close associates, was thinking seriously in terms of announcing his decision to retire in November. This would give the party four or five months to prepare for a spring leadership convention.

The word got around Liberal party circles. In fact it became so widely known that Liberals in some parts of the country became disturbed that it was weakening the government and seriously dividing the party ranks. Liberal organizations facing annual meetings this winter were worried about their choice of a cabinet minister to address their gathering.

If the leadership race gained momentum and they had selected one of the candidates to speak at their meeting it would appear that they were backing that candidate.

PASSED THE WORD

The word was quietly passed to Liberal organizations to play down the possibility of a change in the party leadership coming soon. Meantime, some of Mr. Pearson's cabinet colleagues urged him to reconsider and think in terms of carrying on in office throughout 1968.

At his recent press conferences the prime minister has dropped hints that he may be leader of the Liberal party longer than some of his ambitious colleagues, eager to succeed him, might think.

Mr. Pearson has probably not changed his position and will retire early next year — unless unforeseen developments occur that require him to change his mind.

The prime minister has repeatedly told the Liberal party that he is prepared to carry on so long as the party needs him and just as long as his health enables him to carry the heavy burdens of his office. But at the same time he is emphatic that there must be no prolonged stay in office that would see a duplication of the unseemly power plays within the Tory party to dislodge their national leader.

Mr. Pearson has carried a heavy load during his years in the public service. While he appears now to be more relaxed and enjoying the office, he has often spoken wistfully of the day in the not too distant future when he can relax and step out of public office into private life.

If the Conservatives select a leader other than Mr. Diefenbaker that move may come sooner than some people think.

For Greater Flexibility

THE AGREEMENT REACHED at the meeting in London on international monetary reform must be submitted for approval to the 106-nation International Monetary Fund and then ratified by the member countries' legislatures before it comes into effect. However, even at this stage, there is considerable significance in the fact that a four-year deadlock on the problem of creating a new asset to supplement gold, dollars and sterling in settlement of international accounts was broken.

Not only is this the first full-scale reform in the IMF in more than 20 years, but it brought the United States and France together in agreement on a major problem for the first time in this decade. To be sure the agreement between the two was rather quixotic, both claiming they had achieved a victory over the other, but at least the end result was positive.

The reform plan provides for contingency machinery within the IMF to enlarge the world's money supply, in effect, when it is agreed that the existing supply of gold — and gold-backed currency — is insufficient to allow desirable rates of growth in the member countries. The new asset will be in the form of a credit which can be drawn on over a five-year period — the term credit rather than money was insisted on by the French — provided that a balanced relationship is maintained between the new asset and the creditor nation's other monetary reserves. While further details of the plan must await its formal presentation at the IMF meeting in Rio de Janeiro this month, it is being hailed by the participants at the London conference as a new epoch in the international management of money and credit.

Canadian, American and British officials who took part are jubilant because they have been among the strongest proponents of the need for more adequate means of financing trade expansion. The more conservative Europeans, notably the French, have been much cooler to the idea of further freeing trade from the shackles of gold. Uppermost in the minds of the Europeans, however, must have been the strong possibility that persistence in sticking with gold could lead to balkanization of trade, with the United States, Canada and probably Britain forming a new trading bloc based on a new monetary unit and embracing at least Latin America and probably other lucrative market areas.

French adherence to the plan — with the balm of having been able to write in provisos on timing and the extent of the credits — must have been based on the realization that mercantile isolation is an impossible situation for any advanced industrial country.

A crucial aspect of the new accord is how it will affect the under-developed nations — whether it provides them with sufficient means to buy the things they need to modernize their economies. This is what the majority of IMF members will be waiting to find out, for if the effect is merely to facilitate trade for the wealthy countries the meeting at Rio will be stormy.

Up in the Air

THE STRONG ATTACK against the continuing United States program for the exploration of outer space, made by the principal of Manchester University's Institute of Technology, Lord Bowden, renews the argument as to whether man should be directing more attention to the planet he inhabits and less to other planets whose habitation by man is a dubious possibility at best.

Lord Bowden may have had a point when he assailed the project to put a man on the moon by 1970 —and his criticism here is echoed by many American scientists of repute. However, he seemed to be swinging wide when he characterized the space program as a whole as "the most extravagant venture since imperial Rome ruined itself with costly circuses." That there has been unwise spending in space research is no secret but there have also been important discoveries which will have a vital impact on the betterment of civilization.

The field of communications is one in which Canada is particularly interested at this time and the recent recommendation by the Science Council that the country move quickly to secure satellite room for this purpose is widely supported in both scientific and business circles. Another new space development which will be of vital interest to this country is a stationary orbiting satellite which can be used to relay measurement of river height and rainfall from automatic metering stations to a central office. This development of the United States weather bureau would be of the utmost importance in warning of impending floods. Other satellites are seen as vehicles for mapping, geological surveys and other useful purposes.

Lord Bowden has in the past demonstrated a fine interest in various programs for human betterment, particularly in education, and while he may have a valid criticism of some aspects of space exploration, his blistering attack on the whole program was not in line with his usual considered assessment of human affairs. Some of the priorities and techniques involved in the exploration and exploitation of space are open to scientific argument, but the knowledge being gained and the practical benefits to mankind which will result greatly overshadow this aspect.

Rebel at the Front

IN AN AGE WHEN MEN IN cloth caps and puttees still followed bands as crowds cheered them to war, Siefgried Sassoon began to strip the glamor from warfare as a medical aide might pull off a dressing to reveal a gangrenous wound. Unlike many who in the years since have voiced their abhorrence of war from peaceful vantage points, Sassoon wrote his stinging, incisive poems in the mud and blood of the front line. To a generation of students he became a "war poet"— a new type of rebel who upset the military mode of the first couple of decades of this century, who imparted a slightly tinny sound to the bugle call and a mawkish touch to the "visionless officialized fatuity" of the high command.

But much of Sassoon's verse was in praise of the fighting soldiers, "citizens of death's grey land" with whom he shared danger. He was decorated for gallantry but later threw away his medal in disgust at the hideousness of war.

Now, after years of obscurity, Siegfried Sassoon has died at the age of 80. "Have you forgotten yet?" he once asked. "Look down and swear by the slain of the War that you'll never forget." They are not forgotten, nor will he be. He lived to see his foot-sloggers of Arras joined by the mechanized men of Normandy and the paratroops of still later wars. But his theme would not have changed in the nuclear age: there is still the tragedy of death and destruction, and still despite it the unquenchable spirit of man that made "Everyone suddenly burst out singing . . . the singing will never be done."

FROM WASHINGTON

By MAX LERNER

Affirmed Their Belief in a Viable Nation

WITH the Viet elections, the process of nation-building in South Vietnam has taken another step forward. First a National Constituent Assembly was chosen, then a constitution was drafted, then an electoral law was passed and now a president, vice-president and Senate have been picked.

Compared with the process of nation-building in other Asian nations, and in recent African experience, the South Vietnamese need not feel defensive about their first venture in popular democracy. Despite the inevitable grumblings and beefings, the election, according to the team of American observers, went off as fairly and competently as in many North American cities today.

The military ticket had better organization than the civilians, and it could count not only on its appeals to ethnic groups, but also on the votes of the soldiers in the field. But that was inevitable, and in wartime it is better to have a government with the allegiance of the army and the ethnic minorities than one without it.

Affirmed Belief

In effect the election was a plebiscite in which both the soldiers and the civilians affirmed their belief that the new nation is viable and that it has some claim on the future. With the Viet Cong carrying on their terrorist attacks, and with the Cong "shadow government" which operates at night in the unpacified villages, it took some courage to make this affirmation. Persons who can vote in safe polling booths and come home without fear of reprisal might think twice before they mock the Viet elections.

The crucial purpose of the election has now been served. It was to create a government with legitimate standing in the eyes of its own people and the world and to give its people their first exercixe in major democratic participation. But the government remains a regime of the generals. If they have the "decent respect for the opinions of mankind" that Jefferson spoke of, President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky will have to prove not only their respect for the rule of law, and their energetic effectiveness as a government, but also their independence of the massive American presence in their country.

Ethnic Ties

With its new legitimacy and with a popular — if still minority — base, the Thieu-Ky regime has something it never had before: room for manoeuvre. Thieu has noted wryly that some of his classmates in the first graduating class from the military academy are now Viet Cong generals. This is symbolic of a fact that Americans tend to ignore — that Saigon and Hanoi are closer to each other, by ethnic and historical ties, than Washington and Hanoi are.

The Hanoi politicians and the Viet Cong commanders have thus far proved obdurate about entering seriously into peace neotiations with Washington. It has been partly because they are waiting to see whether America can persevere in an intensely unpopular war through the next American elections, partly because they doubted whether Saigon could survive its own election crisis.

Is it too farfetched to guess that Thieu and Ky will be in a good position for direct peace talks with Hanoi and the Viet Cong, either after November, 1968, now have the capacity for maneuvre, they ought to use it in the best interests of the South Vietnam nation.

It will be said in Washington, of course, that the elections give South Vietnam a new capacity not for peace manoeuvres, but of an effective prosecution of the war. Perhaps. But if any one fact has emerged from the war in the past two years it is that the hearts of the South Vietnamese are not heavily engaged either in fighting sturdily or in the pacification of the villages. This may be lamentable, but it is part of the reality principle that even the most "hard-nosed" of Americans must recognize.

National Interest

The American national interest in its Vietnam intervention has not been, despite President Johnson's repeated assertions, to give the Vietnamese freedom to choose and maintain their own government. If our continuing to be there makes any sense — and it doesn't make much any more — it is on the theory of a credible deterrent: that America must make its future efforts at deterring and containing Communist aggression elsewhere reasonably credible.

The difficulty with this is that in order to make the containment policy acceptable to the world the Americans must rest it on the willing consent of the legitimate government. This is what gives the Thieu-Ky regime its capacity for manoeuvre and its chance for independence from its American ally.

MEDICAL TEACHING

When we go into a ward with our students, the first thing we teach them is: "Diseases don't exist: only sick people." This aphorism impresses two things: the importance of the individual, and the truth that a disease is not something concrete that can be handled, but an abstraction.

Montreal Hospitality

I have just returned from Expo 67 and I would like your readers to know about the V.I.P. treatment I received from Montreal Suburban Hospitality.

This organization, consisting of twenty suburban homes, is being run and supervised by Mrs. Lariviere, 291 Inglewood Ave., Pte. Claire, Montreal, whose name appeared in our local paper some six weeks ago . . .

In desperation, at 12:30 a.m., I phoned Mrs. Lariviere and expected a blasting for disturbing her at this hour, but no — she couldn't have been more considerate had I been her closest friend. Her husband drove twenty miles through the pouring rain to pick me up.

When I arrived I was greeted with tea and toast. My room was a complete basement suite, and next day, I was taken to a new address, given instructions on how to reach Expo, and driven to the metro.

It was not so much the price that impressed me. It was the real concern shown for my welfare. — Joan Mumby, 2612 Thorpe Place.

Balancing the Picture

In a letter concerning Norman Cribbens' review of the film "Hawaii" P.E.H. (Sept. 1) criticizes the "one sided impression" which he believes this review presents of missionary work in Hawaii. He wishes to balance the picture by citing to us how these missionaries "saved" the islanders who "were ridden with disease because of their immoral behaviour with the visiting sailors."

It would be difficult to be more one-sided than this. Conveniently overlooked is the fact that it was the sailors (from the "civilized" world) who brought venereal disease to the Pacific islands, that promiscuity was not regarded as immoral in the code of society which the islanders had developed — the sailors were by no means slow to take full advantage of this — and that it was a combination of many factors (sailors, missionaries, colonial ambitions and wars, etc.) which destroyed what were in fact quite stable societies.

Obviously there were aspects of these tribal societies which could rightly be improved — periodic and senseless tribal wars, torture, slavery, etc. But teaching the islanders the "missionary position" is one of the lesser achievements of so-called civilization in the South Pacific.

It Could Involve Our Survival

Toronto Globe and Mail

IN his speech at the Canadian National Exhibition on Saturday, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin was less than forthcoming on one of the crucial problems facing the Canadian Government: the future of the joint commitment with the United States to defend this continent against air attack.

When the North American Air Defence Command agreement was concluded in 1958, it was basically concerned with the threat to both nations from Soviet bombers. When the agreement comes up for renewal next May, the United States may have already proceeded with a limited anti-ballistic missile system to defend its cities against Chinese missiles.

For basic reasons of geography and resources, Canada relies heavily on the United States for its protection. As long as there is any threat to national security, Canada has a duty to cooperate with the United States in maintaining continental defences.

While Mr. Martin said that Canada would remain in NORAD, he oversimplified the issues when he said that this would not imply any commitment by Ottawa to participate in any eventual ABM system.

He named no names, but Mr. Martin was apparently replying to Dalton Camp, national president of the Progressive Conservative Party. Earlier this month, Mr. Camp told the Conservative thinkers' conference at Montmorency Falls that Canada should get out of NORAD as soon as possible as part of a general move to cut contributions to military alliances.

Mr. Camp was taking issue with a conference working party which had urged Canada to expand its NORAD ties to encompass the threat of enemy missiles. He later received partial support from leadership candidate Duff Roblin, who agreed that Canada should examine its foreign policy and defence strategy to see if they met the needs of the Nineteen Seventies.

NORAD Role

Nor is the disquiet over Canada's NORAD role confined to Conservative ranks. One of Mr. Martin's Cabinet colleagues, Privy Council President Walter Gordon, has urged Canada not to get involved in huge defence expenditures if the super-powers continue to increase their military spending.

Mr. Gordon was referring to threat of a costly ABM race between the United States and the Soviet Union. The Russians have already begun a partial deployment of such defensive missiles and have so far shown little inclination to negotiate with the United States any agreement on their limitation.

While Defence Secretary Robert McNamara has been waging a rearguard resistance to prevent the United States from following suit, China's explosion of a hydrogen bomb has made it much more likely that the Administration will yield to Congressional pressures, at least to the extent of deploying a "thin" ABM system around its major cities.

Aside from political considerations, it would be almost impossible economically for the Canadian Government to join in such a project. It is estimated that each ABM installation would cost about $250-million.

Mr. Martin may be technically correct in maintaining that membership in NORAD does not commit Canada to participate in all aspects of the defence system. But could Canadian officers continue to play any meaningful role in an integrated system if the United States became increasingly dependent on ABM installations which were entirely on its own soil?

ABM System

Indeed, Canada would be vitally involved in the construction of any ABM system, no matter what decisions are taken in Ottawa. One component of the U.S. Nike-X system is the Sprint Missile which attacks enemy missiles which have eluded interception in space.

This means there would be extensive fallout from the anti-missile defences. Much of this fallout would reach Canadian towns and cities, either descending on them directly from interceptions which took place overhead, or else blown to them by prevailing winds.

Because of this fallout, an extensive shelter program is an essential part of any ABM system. If the United States deploys such a system, the Canadian Government would have to decide whether to launch its own costly shelter program, or face the charge that it was failing to protect its own citizens from fallout dangers.

Full Airing

It is disingenuous of Mr. Martin to imply that the strong possibility that the United States will go ahead with an ABM system poses no immediate problems for Canada and that we can renew the NORAD agreement without a full airing of this issue.

Defence Minister Paul Hellyer was more frank when he told the House of Commons in June that the implications for Canada of the ABM system would be worthy of serious consideration and that he would welcome a debate.

In fact the implications would strike to the root of Canada's defence and foreign policies and could involve the survival of the Canadian people.

The Government should present a clear account of these implications before it undertakes any new defence commitment to NORAD.

France Looks at Canada After de Gaulle Visit

By KEITH SPICER
The Globe and Mail

President de Gaulle and Premier Johnson at Quebec

PARIS—After a firestorm of sensational news and criticism about General Charles de Gaulle's Canadian explosion, the French press is offering its readers a fallout of more sober and much-needed information.

Seen in the light of Franco-Canadian relations in recent years and of France's internal politics, these attempts may help to explain the deeper and immediate causes of the "Canadian affair" and its aftermath of Gaullist aggressiveness.

Much of the new background comes from interviews with Canadian statesmen. Prime Minister Lester Pearson and Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec each gave exclusive interviews to the mass-circulation magazine Paris-Match several days ago.

Mr. Pearson, in four pages of detailed answers promising a better deal for French Canadians and gently rejecting interference by Paris in Canadian affairs, says Canadians will "manage all together to make ... separatism unnecessary and impossible."

Mr. Johnson says Gen. de Gaulle acted as a catalyst on Canada's interethnic problem, but he denies this must lead Quebec to secession. Mr. Johnson reaffirms the slogan of his own book, Equality or Independence (of which large extracts appear in Le Figaro litteraire), adding the contradictory and remarkably un-Gaullist conclusion that "the day French-Canadians despair they will ask to be integrated into the United States."

Same Theme

In the popular ORTF newsmagazine Panorama, however, Mr. Johnson restated his traditional theme, which favors a new made-in-Canada constitution recognizing two nations.

The moderate left-wing daily Combat offered a lengthy correction of the highly creative history lesson Gen. de Gaulle sketched in his post-Canadian press release.

Details of the 1774 Quebec Act, the 1791 Constitutional Act and subsequent relatively fair treatment of French-Canadians by Britain are a revelation to the French public, to whom Gen. de Gaulle had spoken of "oppression."

But Combat, the well-informed satirical weekly Le Canard Enchaine and other sources here probe also into the underlying causes of Gen. de Gaulle's disenchantment with Canada.

Wanted Control

According to these observers, the prime reason for Gen. de Gaulle's ill-humor was Ottawa's stubborn refusal, since about 1963, to sell him uranium without control over its peaceful use.

All the rhetoric about "la francophonie," say the sources, is "folklore" and window-dressing. Gen. de Gaulle, so this story goes, only got interested in French-Canadians when he thought he might use their resentments as a lever to pry a cheap, long-term uranium contract out of Ottawa — not just for his small, but growing, atomic strike force, but to insure that France did not miss the boat on uranium as a domestic energy source as it did with oil in the Ninteen Twenties.

Both the Canard and the independent weekly Candide, which quotes a French-Canadian journalist, suggest that Gen. de Gaulle's uranium power play included sending French secret agents ("loaded with money," says the Canard) to infiltrate Quebec separatist movements.

Although such activity is not untypical of Gaullist methods, this accusation remains unsupported by any more reliable evidence.

Gen. de Gaulle's need for uranium was somewhat lessened a few days before his Canadian visit when France signed an agreement with Niger, a member of its French speaking African clientele, allowing it to exploit Niger's newly discovered uranium.

But Niger's uranium will cost France much more than the Canadian product. And Gen. de Gaulle, sensitive to domestic attacks on the extravagance of his atomic force and aware the Niger uranium might price atomic energy out of the French market as a source of electricity, must have arrived in Canada with the bitter uranium quarrel with Canada fresh in mind.

But uranium, while probably crucial, cannot tell the whole story of what one well-placed Canadian here has called a "cosmic misunderstanding" between Ottawa and Paris. On both sides, ignorance and tactlessness — abetted by unfortunate coincidence — seem to have prepared a fertile terrain for the "Montreal incident."

On the French side, ignorance of the political, economic and social realities of Canada is astounding.

Throughout the recent crisis, one of the breathtaking misapprehensions found in the highest French circles was the belief that Canada is still, in some way, a British dependency. French Government spokesmen, exulted in private that the General, in slamming the door to Mr. Pearson, has again put the British in their place for trying to barge into the Common Market.

And the French press, almost without exception, saw the rebuff in the same light — though usually with regret. Perhaps most characteristic of this tendency was the daily review in many papers of "Anglo-Saxon" press reactions.

Although occasionally a quote from an English-Canadian newspaper would get printed, overwhelmingly the French press ran comments of the British press. This was not merely because it was easier to get quotes from London than from Toronto or Vancouver; it obviously reflected a view that it was in Britain that the Canadian crisis would find its denouement.

Without doubt, this misunderstanding owes much to the doctrine, foggy and cavilling to the French, of the legal divisibility of the Crown. To them, the simple truth is that Canada is ruled by the Queen of England — well, by Downing Street. The fact, accidental or otherwise, that both Canada's Governor-General and Prime Minister are at present Anglo-Saxons (who were contemporaries at Oxford) does nothing to dissolve this illusion of English predominance.

Seen as Weak

Finally, the Gaullists, at least, clearly have never understood the low-key language of moderation and compromise that is the joy and apanage of Ottawa's East Block. It is not a very dangerous generalization to suggest that in negotiations of whatever kind, Ottawa's gentle reasonableness has more often than not been mistaken for weakness.

On the Canadian side, there has been no lack of goodwill. Under John Diefenbaker, aid to French-speaking countries began and grew. Under Mr. Pearson, it multiplied, and was accompanied by new efforts to tap French-language immigration, attract French investment and foster cultural exchanges.

But in French eyes, the Canadian attitude has always been colored by an obtuse unwillingness to recognize France as a modern state worthy of close confidence. To the French, Ottawa's ritual protestations that France is a mother country and the admired homeland of Pierre Corneille and Pierre Cardin are no substitute for including France in Canada's cosy, if partly imaginary, Atlantic triangle.

The pleasant personal entente Paul Martin has built with Maurice Couve de Murville never, it seems, has gone as far as to grant Paris the same intimate collaboration in Canada's foreign policy enjoyed by London and Washington.

There is, of course, an excellent reason why this could not easily be so. As long as Gen. de Gaulle decides French foreign policy, the Elysee's virulent anti-Anglo-Saxon bias makes it indelicate, to say the least, for Canada to work closely with France without outraging its friends in Whitehall.

Yet the French in their messianic thrust to block the major Anglo-Saxon powers, view this Canadian reticence as another confirmation that Ottawa's policies are dictated by some kind of world-wide Anglo-Saxon conspiracy against France. Or, to be charitable, as they think, by an unconquerable prejudice of the English-speaking Ottawa Establishment against all things French.

The official story the Gaullists tell of Gen. De Gaulle's visit itself continues this line of complaint by accusing Ottawa of over-reacting to a viciously biased English-Canadian press.

They do not try as hard to explain why Gen. de Gaulle is over-reacting to the French press.

Why? Why is the General departing from the Olympian serenity which is his cherished pose and sometime weapon?

First, he is obviously infuriated by the continuing assaults the French press is making on him — especially at the suggestion that he is too old and bungling the very field, foreign policy, where he forged his legend of infallibility.

Resentment

But most of all, he seems to resent the allegation that his policies in the Middle East, Canada and Moscow are proof of his decline.

Second, Gen. de Gaulle has been on the run politically in France since French voters forced him in December 1965 into a humiliating runoff election and almost deprived him last March of his parliamentary majority.

The papers are full of speculation that — partly because of Canada — several ministers may resign and many more deputies defect in the National Assembly. If this speculation is founded, one might expect Gen. de Gaulle characteristically to take the offensive soon and dissolve Parliament.

Third, France's economy continues to stagnate. Unemployment is the highest since Gen. de Gaulle came to power, foreign trade has fallen off, and an almost complete stop in industrial expansion has dragged the yearly gross national product down to 3.7 per cent instead of the planned 5 per cent.

Fourth, Gen. de Gaulle's cutback in social security benefits and his increase in premiums has further enraged a labor movement already deeply upset over high unemployment. By keeping domestic opinion focussed on a fuss he stirred abroad and perpetuating the myth of an anti-French conspiracy, Gen de Gaulle is probably resorting to the classical manoeuvre of rulers who wish to deflect attention from a mess at home.

Two Blows

Two more disappointments the prestige-conscious Gen. de Gaulle would doubtless like the French — and French-Canadians — to forget these days are recent trouble of the French nuclear power plant at Chinon and the flop of Coralie, the French space rocket in Australia.

Still more than wounding to the General must have been the rocket failure, for Coralie conked out in the full glare of international publicity as part of the European Launcher Development Organization project. Coralie was the second stage of a rocket whose first stage, a brilliant success, was British.

Nom de Dieu! And just the day before the General went on TV to expound his latest triumphs. Perfidious Albion.

Ant Find Electrifies Experts

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The social graces came to ant life 100 million years ago, three insect biologists reported here. That's 40 million years earlier than the oldest social insects known to man.

The evidence for this discovery was embedded in a chunk of amber found on a New Jersey beach by two amateur rock collectors, Edmund Frey and Mrs. Frey.

Their find has electrified students of insect evolution who have long wondered how long it took ant society to evolve.

Biologists Edward O. Wilson and Frank M. Carpenter of Harvard University and William L. Brown Jr. of Cornell University, identified the ancient worker ant fossils in the Frey's amber.

The oldest previously known social workers in the insect world go back about 60 million years to the eocene period. Those ants can hardly be told apart from contemporary ants.

●

They build complex nests staffed by workers and soldiers and queens. They farm their own fungus. The social ants, in fact, are said by insect experts to be equipped to dominate much of the world of living things.

The three researchers say in an article published by Science Magazine that the two ants probably evolved from an asocial wasp, the so-called tiphiid type, which is similar to the methocha wasp that inhabits New England. The newly-discovered insects have wasp-like heads and ant-like bodies.

The wasp-like heads on the worker ants was like nothing the three biologists expected. They thought the first thing to evolve would be the mandibles, or jawlike grippers with which ants grasp enemies and carry their young.

In human evolution man's ancestors first developed the ability to stand up, then the use of nimble hands and finally, enlargement of the brain.

Since the mandible is so important to the ant, the biologists surmised it would be the first organ to evolve.

Brown, Wilson and Carpenter concluded that the primitive worker ants were only a little way off the wasp family tree.

BETTER SCHOOLS FOR LESS MONEY

By WOLF VON ECKARDT
The Washington Post

Help is on the way for besieged school boards, if only they will accept it. It comes from California, where, prodded and assisted by the Ford Foundation, 13 school districts have developed a method to produce handsome school buildings more rapidly and economically by using modern industrial technology.

The six schools that have been built and the five more under construction are far from being identical prefaricated buildings stamped out by cookie-cutters. They do not follow standard plans, a popular but hopelessly impractical notion.

The School Construction System Development Project, as this promising venture is called, simply got school people and the building industry together and got them to rethink both essential educational and essential construction requirements. SCSD then asked the manufacturers to develop new building components that would allow great flexibility. In short, they used the much touted "systems" approach.

Most Creative

The result, according to one California school district superintendent, is "The most creative approach to school building in 100 years." Another says: "We are getting flexibility in these schools that we never dreamed of."

Under the SCSD system, each school board still hires its own architects and uses local general contractors to build schools on the basis of competitive bidding. The SCSD component manufacturers become subcontractors, as it were, their component comprising about half the cost of the total building.

The floor plan and the exterior walls, and thereby, of course, much of the appearance and character of the school, are entirely up to the school board and its architect. Yet there is a decisive difference in approach.

In designing a school, as in most building, the architect starts practically from scratch. He doesn't quite have to invent the wheel all over again, but he does have to put it together spoke by spoke.

Cutting and Fitting

He finds his spokes in a catalogue offering thousands of building products from steel beams to door knobs. But he will hardly find a demountable classroom partition, for instance, that a school board can afford. And if he did, it still would not fit the dimensions of his classroom. So there is a lot of cutting and fitting and making by hand.

There are also, of course, countless regulations and restrictions, some essential and others plain silly, which makes architecutre in general and school buildings in particular even more expensive.

Just think what an automobile might cost if hundreds of local building and safety codes, 19 trade unions, five powerful mechanical associations and ancient traditions required that part of every car be built on the spot in the owner's garage and that all of it be assembled there by expensive technicians using non-standardized parts out of a catalogue. And if, on top of that, the designer were required to come up with an original product every time.

That's just about the way it is in building and probably will be for a long time. But SCSD did not try to break through these obstacles. Instead, it patiently worked with everyone concerned — contractors, unions, architects, engineers and code enforcement agencies — to gain their confidence.

They were willing to make concessions if everyone else made some concessions. "It was like a game of musical chairs but without taking anyone's chair away," says Ezra Ehrenkrantz, the architect who launched the project.

In the end, Ehrenkrantz and his team, with the support of the Ford Foundation's Educational Facilities Laboratory, came up with a system of structural steel components, an ingenious "service sandwich," ceiling which includes lighting, heating and air conditioning, inner partitions, cabinets and lockers.

Ehrenkrantz and his associates did not design them in detail. They worked out what was needed, stated what problems had to be solved and left the solution to the manufacturers. That is how the military and the space explorers get their hardware.

The structural frame, consisting of steel columns and a unique orthotropic "truss deck" which had been used only for bridges, allows spans from 30 to 110 feet, which accommodates a gymnasium. Based on a 5-foot module, it can be put together into one, two or three-storey buildings of just about any shape.

The "service sandwich" ceiling permits partitions to be moved at will without changing the mechanical equipment or the wiring and plumbing. The partitions include the usual fixed partitions, demountable partitions and accordion-folding partitions which the teacher can open and close to suit his needs.

All this combined is a long stride toward the changeable building for today's rapidly changing education. "This allows me to experiment with team teaching without being committed to it for 40 years." said one educator."

Another said: "A building open to change is opening the eyes of our teachers."

The first SCSD school, the Fountain Valley High School for 3,000 students at Huntington Beach, a fast-growing Los Angeles suburb, consists of one-storey buildings grouped around a large central court that contains an amphitheatre. It is unusually handsome with brick exteriors, a snack bar terrace, a paved and fenced service yard, two swimming pools, an auditorium with a stage, separate buildings for student lockers away from classrooms, four tennis and four baseball courts, superior classroom lighting and superior air conditioning which includes a five-year maintenance contract.

Yet the cost per square foot of building came to under $16 compared to $18 to $20 for conventional high school buildings.

Not Spectacular

This is not a spectaculer first-cost reduction. Just as the SCSD system only allows but cannot guarantee architectural excellence — that is up the the architect — it cannot guarantee favorable prices for the whole school. But Ehrenkrantz believes that this system will assure lower maintenance cost and its very flexibility also allows for variations in the expense.

Knowing that the SCSD components provide their part of the school economically and with low repair and electricity bills, the school builders can utilize this saving to provide things they could not previously afford. In short, you don't spend less, but you get more for what you spend.

Cheaper by Dozen

The catch is, however, that the whole idea depends on cooperation among several local school districts. It cannot be done for one school building alone, or even for a few. The system gets cheaper and better only by the dozen — if it gets used by a number of school boards. SCSD found in California that the manufacturers required a market of at least $30 million to justify their research and development.

But Bellevue, Wash., and a suburb of St. Louis have decided to build "systems" schools. Schoolmen in Toronto, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Florida are talking about getting together and developing systems of their own.

Now if a few more school boards can manage to unite in order to overcome accustomed ways, they may benefit not only the children but all of us. For SCSD suggests a new way for the building industry to rationalize construction not only for schools but for housing and other needs.

Founders of B.C.

How long would it take to carve a usable trail out of the British Columbia wilderness over a 291-mile route? Edgar Dewdney could have told you.

He was one of the first pioneers over the present route of the Hope-Princeton Highway and he built the trail that led from Princeton to the East Kootenays so gold miners and their suppliers could penetrate to the riches of Wild Horse Creek, near Cranbrook. With 200 men, Chinese and whites and Indians to pack and guide for them, he found it took four months.

Dewdney was born in Devon in 1835 and was educated in England as a civil engineer. He came out to the colonies with a letter of introduction to Governor James Douglas who sent him to Col. R. C. Moody of the Royal Engineers who was chief commissioner of lands and works for British Columbia.

Moody set Dewdney to work laying out New Westminster. But Dewdney had an interest in exploration and he became a roadbuilder and pathmaker. The Indians trusted him and he learned their tongue and served for a time as Indian commisioner.

After construction of the Cariboo Wagon Road was under way, Dewdney was appointed to make a trail from Fort Hope to Similkameen. He completed it as far as the present site of Princeton. In 1864 when gold was found at Wild Horse Creek he expanded this trail to the East Kootenays in 1866. He used oxen and pack horses and mules.

By 1867 the gold had petered out but the trail remained and it led to settlement of the southern interior regions. Some parts of it are still the route of east-west highways.

Edgar Dewdney

He rose to be representative for Kootenay in the 1868 Legislative Council and represented Yale in the House of Commons. In 1881 he was lieutenant-governor of the Northwest Territories and in 1892 he was appointed lieutenant-governor for British Columbia.

ANNUAL CAMPAIGN

UN Seat Unlikely For Red Chinese

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The annual campaign to seat Communist China in the United Nations has not even started yet, and its failure is being predicted already.

Communist sources said Secretary-General U Thant would get a request from some non-aligned and Communist countries this week that the General Assembly convening Sept. 19 should take up an item titled Restoration of the Lawful Rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations.

Debate on that subject in recent years has ended with the defeat of a resolution aimed to recognize Peking representatives as "the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and to oust the Chinese Nationalists from all UN bodies.

Pro-Nationalist diplomats forecast that it will be voted down by about the same margin as last year.

The margin against the resolution at that time was 57 to 46, with seven abstentions. That was much better for the Nationalist side than the year before, when a similar resolution failed on a 47-to-47 tie, with 20 abstentions. The assembly has ruled that a two-thirds vote is needed to make a change.

The United States, a strong supporter of Nationalist China, has angered the Arabs by taking what the Arabs said was a pro-Israeli stand during and after the Israeli-Arab war of last June. China itself has shocked friends and enemies alike with the riots of Red Guards inside China and out.

But indications are that neither factor will count for much in the voting here.

An exception is Canada. At the last session Canada favored representation of both Chinas in the UN as an interim measure.

But Prime Minister Pearson said recently Canada would not support the Communists' entry this year. He said there was something approaching "chaos and anarchy in China."

Analysis shows that how a country votes on the China-seating issue depends not so much on how Peking behaves as on which Chinese government it recognizes, which is the more persuasive in lobbying for its vote and what its traditional position is on the issue.

"Scalp tension, a sign of the times, is one cause of your hair loss," says trichologist M. D. Harrison to balding man. Harrison directs the famous Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists, whose main office is in Vancouver. He is sending a specialist here to advise men how to correct hair troubles by home treatment.

How to save and improve your hair demonstrated by expert here Thurs. & Fri.

New home treatment methods for preventing baldness — and growing thicker hair — will be demonstrated in Victoria this Thursday and Friday, September 7 and 8.

This news was released here today by M. D. Harrison, internationally famous director of Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

In his announcement, Harrison named staff trichologist Ian Edgar to conduct the Victoria clinic. Mr. Edgar will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Executive House Motor Hotel.

Leonard A. Floyd before and after scalp treatment. Unretouched photographs made four months apart.

Examine You Free

"I want to make it clear that you incur no charge or obligation by seeing Mr. Edgar," director Harrison said. "Your only obligation is to yourself — to free your mind of worries about hair loss, dandruff, itching, or other scalp disorders, by learning how to take care of your hair. If your trouble is beyond the scope of Harrison Home treatment, we will frankly tell you so. But less than five per cent of the people we examine are 'hopeless'."

Offers No Cure-all

Harrison emphasized that his new home treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all."

"We always make a personal examination before suggesting any treatment," he pointed out. "There is no one cure-all that will correct every one of the 18 scalp disorders that cause baldness."

Harrison said that sometimes your treatment must be changed after a few weks to get best results. "For this reason, you mail regular reports of your hair progress to the Harrison headquarters in Vancouver.

"Also, your scalp condition is checked personally by a Harrison trichologist at regular intervals."

Who Can Be Helped?

Will this new treatment cure baldness? "No," said Harrison sincerely. "We cannot help men who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But where your scalp still grows hair, we can at least save and improve what you have. Usually, we can grow more hair even where you have only 'fuzz' now."

The important thing is: Don't wait until it's too late!

Best evidence of the success of Harrison treatment is the phenomenal growth behind it. Harrison and his staff trichologists do extension work in more than 100 other cities.

Satisfy 95%

"Our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim to do," declared Harrison. "We satisfy more than 95 per cent of our clients, and have records to prove it.

"But to overcome the average man's initial skepticism is sometimes difficult. He's usually quite desperate — and baldish — by the time he nerves himself to see a Harrison trichologist. He's 'tried everything.' So he starts consoling himself with one of the old superstitions about hair:

That baldness is hereditary; that men naturally lose hair as they get along in years; that nothing can be done to stop hair loss — and a lot of other notions that we know are not true today."

Free Scalp Examination

See Mr. Edgar in person. Learn how baldness can be stopped, and new hair grown on your own scalp. The new Harrison method permits you to actually stop your baldness and regrow hair in the privacy of your own home.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Executive House Motor Hotel Thursday or Friday, between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. for Mr. Edgar's suite number.

You don't need an appointment. You won't be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Examinations are given in private.

HOOPLA MARKS ARRIVAL OF CANDIDATES

Hees Takes Honors as Charger

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

TORONTO — The Conservative leadership candidates are about as interesting a lot of character types as you would find locked up in the same hotel.

Take Tuesday for instance when four of them arrived at the Royal York to register and get established for the convention.

Some people insert themselves gently into a room without drawing too much immediate attention.

Others march in ready for whatever may be waiting and still others charge in with such force that the room is never quite the same.

And then there is always someone who gets his timetable boggled and doesn't quite make it on time.

By now everyone has heard how George Hees stormed the Royal York Tuesday. For sheer pandemonium there was nothing like it and the injured and weak of spirit melted to the sidelines. George is one of your chargers.

Bit Reserved

Duff Roblin is a marcher.

Dapper, friendly but a bit reserved he briskly stepped off his plane from Winnipeg as the skirl of the pipes lifted up from the tarmack.

Smiling broadly, he said it was "just great" and, with the piper in the lead marched into the terminal.

Some of the group of reporters and cameramen were rather keen to have a glimpse of Mrs. Roblin but that will have to wait until today.

The premier explained she had stayed at home to see their two young children safely through their first day at school.

The he was confronted with a crowd of supporters who beamed at him, waved their placards but didn't shout too much in the stmosphere of the airport.

Everyone milled about a bit, found the cars and buses and headed for the Royal York where Mr. Roblin stepped forward briskly with his piper still in tow.

FLOOD OF MICROPHONES greeted Duff Roblin as Conservative Party leadership candidate held press conference in Toronto Tuesday. The Manitoba premier arrived at convention headquarters accompanied by bagpiper and throng of noisy supporters.

The premier stopped briefly at the sight of his brother-in-law John Mackay of Kingston who was holding a Roblin placard.

"Well," grinned the candidate, "I never thought I'd see you carrying a sign."

Then in he marched and a great cheer went up from a mob of his fans in the lobby. Even the paper gave up for a few minutes and the short slight premier momentarily disappeared from view.

He popped out again, obviously pleased with the crush and finally was in an elevator and gone.

Earlier Mr. Hees had swept through leaving all but carnage in his path. He got out of a red double-decker London bus with a wild Dixieland band called the Metro Stompers.

The curbs were swarming with young Hees supporters who bellowed at their candidate under the enthusiastic leadership of Douglas Bassett, son of John Bassett who is the publisher of the Toronto Telegram.

Mr. Hees, waving a straw boater, yelled back "Hi ya" and bounded into the hotel shouting "get the band in, we've gotta have music."

Two smiling little old ladies were almost bowled over as he charged by giving them a vigorous buss on the cheek.

George, who was gathering more of his young enthusiasts en route did not stop in the lobby.

With band still blasting out behind, he swept up two escalators, made a sweeping tour of the convention's registration room and finally waved a $20 and a $5 as he paid for his credentials.

Shouts Greetings

"Hees, Hees," the gang chanted, "He's a winner."

Singing "Ca-na-da," he finally sat down long enough to have his identification picture taken, all the while shouting out "How are ya, glad to see ya."

Mrs. Hees, who somehow managed to survive the flying elbows and cameras, pinned on her husband's badge and he gave her a kiss which brought on another round of cheers.

Then George and band streaked back down the tortuous route, headed for the elevators and disappeared leaving everyone slightly breathless.

One Donald Fleming was more than breathless—he was completely swept aside by the Hees legions.

Mr. Fleming was supposed to arrive a half-hour before Mr. Hees and some of his supporters, including Mrs. Ellen Fairclough waited on the curb in vain.

This candidate somehow got held up and arrived minutes before the Hees avalanche.

Fulton Slips In

Whatever was planned at that time for Mr. Fleming was disrupted as the crowd roared by.

Finally there was Davie Fulton who made a very conservative arrival, probably as most delegates were getting out of bed.

He came early in the morning and was met by a clutch of television cameras and script girls and about a dozen young supporters.

Mr. Fulton slipped in and then got down to the kind of campaigning which he does comfortably—talking quietly and meeting small groups of people.

SELF-TAUGHT engineer George Ben Edmondson, who supervised building of German pavilion at Expo while on the run after escaping U.S. prison, was given additional two-year term Tuesday. His first parole hearing will come in August, 1968. Edmondson was arrested while supervising $50,000,000 construction job outside Montreal when a woman recognized him as one of the FBI's 'most-wanted' men. He was sent back to U.S. to finish prison term for armed robbery.

TIMIDITY?

Tories Cool On Canada Joining OAS

TORONTO (CP) — Despite objections, a policy sub-committee of the Conservative party decided Tuesday night to recommend that Canada not join the Organization of American States as it is now constituted.

Instead of hooking up with OAS, the sub-committee said, Canada should strengthen its relations with Latin and South American countries with bilateral agreements.

The recommendation, the same as that expressed at the recent Conservative conference at Montmorency, Que., now goes to the party's full policy committee.

Heath Macquarrie, MP for the Prince Edward Island constituency of Queens, said the recommendation is an expression of "timidity."

"It's almost a kind of self-righteousness. We can't detach ourselves from this hemisphere. And it would be presumptuous of us to expect a change in the machinery for membership."

'IMPORTANT POSITION' OPEN TO DIEFENBAKER

TORONTO (CP) — George Hees said Tuesday he will offer John Diefenbaker a "very important position" in the cabinet if he is elected Conservative leader and then prime minister.

Mr. Hees told reporters he hopes Mr. Diefenbaker will continue to serve if he (Mr. Hees) becomes party leader.

Mr. Hees said he is not engaged in any negotiations with any other leadership candidate.

"I have made and will make no deals," he declared.

'Patrol' Suggested For Unruly Walkers

Commissionaire-directed "school safety patrols for pedestrians" were called for Tuesday by Esquimalt councillor William Bell.

Coun. Bell made the suggestion after municipal engineer William Gerry and Chief Earl Sarsiat reported on the Canteen Road bottleneck to the traffic committee.

Mr. Gerry said pedestrians leaving Yarrows at 4:15 p.m. each day "couldn't care less" about the traffic situation.

SIGNS IGNORED

"They ignore all the signs and signals," he said.

A commissionaire is already stationed at the top of the hill above HMC Dockyard; but cars still get into the area and the problem is complicated by the fact cars leave Dockyard, Yarrows, and the chief petty officers' parking lot at the same time.

Coun. Bell's "school patrol" would shepherd workers across the road in groups, easing the flow of traffic. The committee made no recommendation on the matter.

At the same meeting, the committee approved a recommendation to council that new traffic lights with advanced left turn signals be installed at the intersections of Head and Esquimalt and Lampson and Esquimalt Road.

'MICKEY MOUSE RITUALS'

Student Elections Called 'Infantile'

High school students' council elections are "Mickey Mouse rituals" according to a pamphlet distributed among returning school students Tuesday.

The pamphlet was "planned, published, and distributed" by seven students from four public schools and St. Ann's Academy.

According to the pamphlet, present elections are undemocratic and require no serious thought.

"Nominees leave the room and are denied the right to vote. Elections are held so early in the year students are not acquainted with one another.

"No speeches are made; no discussions are held; the nominees' opinions are not known: this reduces the elections to mere popularity contests."

The pamphlet suggests nominations he held Sept. 18, policy speeches Sept. 21, and elections Sept. 21.

The pamphlet also calls for secret ballots.

"Students will take elections more seriously if they are not conducted in an infantile way" said the pamphlet, referring to the practice of voting by placing heads down on the desk and hands in the air.

Bid for Job By Gosley Rejected

A bid by Jerry Gosley to become full time entertainment co-ordinator for Greater Victoria was rejected Tuesday by the Intermunicipal Committee.

In a letter to the committee Mr. Gosley said he felt the services of a co-ordinator were required for May 24 celebrations in Victoria, Buccaneer Days in Esquimalt, the Oak Bay Tea Party and various other district celebrations.

But the vote was a unanimous "no."

All district leaders said they felt the introduction of a professional into the organizing ranks would ruin the strictly local flavor of the major celebrations.

Hees Raps Top Tory From Quebec

TORONTO (CP) — George Hees said Tuesday Paul Trepanier, president of the Quebec Conservative association, has no right to call a caucus of Quebec delegates at the party leadership convention.

Mr. Hees told reporters Mr. Trepanier now is a "political manager." Mr. Trepanier favors Premier Roblin of Manitoba as party leader over Mr. Hees and the other announced candidates.

Mr. Trepanier said earlier he would call Quebec delegates to a stop-John Diefenbaker meeting if the national leader tries to keep his job in the Saturday balloting.

Quebec accounts for a significant 435 of the 2,400 delegates at the convention.

Dance Will End Strawberry Fair

A wide variety of exhibits will be on display at the Strawberry Vale Community Club fair Saturday.

The fair will be open to visitors at 1:45 p.m., immediately following the judging of the various exhibits at the Community Club Hall.

Entries will include flowers, vegetables, home cooking, home canning, needlecraft and other hobbies. There will also be a section for children.

The fair will wind up with a dance for club members, starting at 9 p.m.

Fallen Wire Kills Girl

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Six year-old Cathryn Anne Moffatt, died Tuesday when a high voltage wire fell on a parked car occupied by five young children.

Another child, Wendy Dimor, suffered undetermined burns when the 7,200-volt wire fell on the car. Mrs. Elsie Moffat, mother of the victim, suffered from shock.

Witness Mrs. H. M. Yurko said she saw the wire fall, hit her car, then snake along the ground to the other vehicle.

She yelled to the children to remain inside the vehicle while she called police but Mrs. Moffat ran to the car and was thrown to the ground by a shock when she touched a door handle.

Her daughter then stepped from the vehicle but was electrocuted when her feet touched the ground, the witness said.

Lurleen Law Blocked

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—A three judge federal panel barred the state of Alabama Tuesday from putting into effect a new law which would permit children to pick the race of their teachers. The law, signed by Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace Friday, was aimed at preventing Negro teachers from presiding over predominantly white class rooms. It provides that the majority choice of the children in a class would determine the race of the teacher.

U.K. OFFER REJECTED BY ARABS

ADEN (Reuters) — Britain was faced today with an ultimatum from the South Arabian National Liberation Front demanding the immediate withdrawal of British troops from the area before negotiations to form a government start.

The front, which claims control of 12 of the 17 states in the South Arabian Federation, Tuesday night rejected a British offer for negotiations following the collapse of the federal government.

The NLF said no talks would be held "unless Britain starts taking practical steps to liquidate its economic, military and political interests in South Arabia."

But Britain first had to withdraw all its military forces from the area, an NLF spokesman said in Beirut, Lebanon.

TROOPS PULLING OUT

Britain already has started pulling out its 12,000 troops from South Arabia prior to granting independence Jan. 9, but wants a stable government set up before that date.

The NLF's main rival, the Egyptian-backed Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, meanwhile, also turned down the British offer made by High Commissioner Sir Humphrey Trevelyan.

But FLOSY said it would negotiate with a United Nations mission which is trying to ensure a smooth transition from British rule.

The three-member UN mission planned to fly today to Cairo from Beirut to meet FLOSY leaders. The NLF has refused to meet with the mission.

Amid the attempts to replace the collapsed federal government in South Arabia came reports of fighting between FLOSY and NLF forces in Lahej state.

Tire Blowout Fatal

WINNIPEG (CP)—Seventeen-year-old Delvin White of Winnipeg was killed Tuesday when a tire he was inflating exploded. The youth was inflating the tire of a front-end loader.

Horse Manure Draws Rats, Protests

Horses and open manure piles are attracting rats to the Wenman Drive area in Saanich, says Gordon Webb, spokesman for a group of irate taxpayers.

He told Saanich council Tuesday night that three horses kept on seven-tenths of an acre and accompanying heaps of manure were creating a serious health problem.

Residing at 2175 Wenman, Mr. Webb said rats had invaded the district for the first time this summer.

He added that the only assistance he obtained from municipal authorities when he complained was a hand-out of poison.

"I'm not inducing the rats so I don't see why I should have to fight them," he said.

Mr. Webb said there were formerly two horses on the property but a third had been added Tuesday morning.

"The introduction of the third horse was the final straw," he said.

Council accepted a petition signed by 53 neighbors objecting to the horses and the zoning of the property involved as farming and residential.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said the entire problem would be discussed at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

He noted that re-zoning could not be retroactive and that the land could still be used for pasturing horses.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

WIN GERRY

Missionary Describes Costa Rica

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

Win Gerry, the retired federal civil servant whom I told you pulled up stakes at the beginning of this year and went off to Costa Rica to start a completely new career, now has her permanent visa there. In her last letter (dated August 25) she says "I can go and come now whenever I like."

You will remember Mrs. Gerry went to San Jose for her health and to act as secretary to her long-time friend, Dr. Marie Cameron, director of Clinica Biblica, a Christian medical mission in that city.

Win writes that it's the rainy season down there right now. It's dark at four in the afternoon. The rain doesn't "fall" or "pour." It drives. And it "shuts out the mountains and everything else and the water rushes madly down the streets."

August 15 was Mother's Day in San Jose. All stores, offices and banks were closed. (The night before "the streets were packed with shoppers . . . and pickpockets.")

That day Win wanted to cash a cheque so had to "buy" her Costa Rican money "on the street."

It's very easy, she explains. The money sellers "stand on a particular corner . . . step out and say 'dolares senora?' They give a higher rate for United States funds than the banks."

Every Tuesday beggars call at San Jose business houses and "are given a little money."

Mrs. Gerry was introduced to this custom when she saw several women go up to the cashier in an optometrist's office, with outstretched hands. Curiosity made her ask if this was an every day custom. The answer was "solemente los martes" (only on Tuesdays).

* * *

Another unusual custom has to do with parking a car in a restricted area "which may or may not be marked." A policeman removes both "placas" (number plates) and the owner of the car must pay ten dollars to get them back from a licensing department.

Recently Mrs. Gerry and Dr. Cameron were at a wedding. "A real Costa Rican wedding with 27 padrinas, 27 madrinas, eight bridesmaids, two flower girls, a page and various other attendants."

Dr. Cameron evidently parked in the wrong place. The plates were removed and she had to redeem them before she could drive home.

* * *

Each Saturday morning from eight to eleven in the Banco Central in San Jose a gold art museum is open to the public. Mrs. Gerry says over three million dollars worth of pre-Columbian gold artifacts are on display.

"There is a nugget which weighs over six pounds. The rest are necklaces, armbands, earrings, bracelets and hundreds of gods, frogs and other things in all sizes . . . how I wish I could have one for my charm bracelet."

Speaking of the museum exhibit reminded her that on a recent trip to Panama, she and Dr. Cameron saw other golden frogs . . . this time alive.

It was in the interior of the Canal Zone that the two friends saw these "beautiful, graceful, golden creatures" and were told there are bright blue and red frogs down there, too.

And at the canal "the locks are fascinating," Win writes, "especially the funny little donkey engines that work like mad to get the huge ships through."

* * *

Dr. Cameron was guest speaker at a Christian Women's luncheon in Panama. She dealt with the effects of worry, fear, resentment and other things on human bodies and glands and the hormone changes that result. She substantiated her statements from her own personal medical experiences.

There were 167 women at the luncheon including the wife of the governor of the Canal Zone, the admiral's wife and other government people as well as wives of members of embassies and women in professions and businesses.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices recorded recessions on profit-taking and hedging sales on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Rapeseed showed an easier tone. Reports said Japan took some parcel lots of rapeseed. Oats and barley trade was light and domestic. Rye prices were somewhat hesitant.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 700,000 bushels to Italy, 500,000 to Britain, 465,000 to China, 420,000 to Russia, 270,000 to West Germany, 25,000 to Syria and 20,000 to the Philippines.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were down 1 cent.

Sun-Rype Products Gets Council Grant

KELOWNA (CP) — The National Research Council has authorized a grant to Sun-Rype Products, Ltd., of this Okanagan Valley city to finance part of a research program into the economic uses of apple pomace.

The company says that Dr. David Paton, PhD., a plant biochemist, has been employed to conduct a five-year research program on the project.

Apple pomace is the residue left from the juicing process.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mines Suffer Decline

Highland Bell was the big loser on a generally declining market on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today. The issue, which jumped almost two points Tuesday, dropped $2 to $12.

Other losers in the mining section were Buttle, off nine to $1.28; Dynasty, down 15 to $8.30; Northlode, off 21 to 95 cents and Western Mines, down 12 to $2.85.

Among the gainers were Yukon, up six and half cents to 51 cents; Peso, eight to $1.40 and Chataway, six to 43 cents.

In the oils, Central Del-Rio dropped a quarter to $24 and Plains slipped three to 45 cents.

Coronation Credit led the industrials gaining 40 cents to $2.10, while Western Broadcasting fell 37 cents to $15.75.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 716,348 shares.

AT TORONTO all major sections of the market made small advances in moderate trading today.

Clairtone sliped ½ to 8 in industrials. The company reported a loss for the first six months of this year greater than for the same period last year although the value of sales doubled.

Among other industrials, Simpsons rose 1½ to 33½ and Du Pont ⅝ to 29¼. Chrysler Corp. was down 1¼ to 54¼ and Thomson Newspapers ⅝ to 36¼.

In base metals, Highland Bell was down 1½ and Leitch 50 cents to 8.90.

Trading in western oils saw Scurry-Rainbow and Banff slip ½ each to 36 and 15¾ and Canadian Superior and Central-Del Rio ⅛ each to 42¼ and 16.

AT NEW YORK the market continued its rally in active trading.

Ford, the strike target selected by the United Auto Workers Union, edged off, while Chrysler sank nearly a point and General Motors gained a fraction.

Pan American World Airways paced the list on volume, losing a fraction. A single block of 405,400 shares boosted Pan Am far ahead of other stocks in turnover.

American Motors was active as it edged higher in further response to a report of mutual-fund buying.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome Mines was up 1, International Nickel ½, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker Gooderham ¼. Canadian Pacific was down 1, Distillers Seagrams and Massey-Ferguson ⅜.

AT LONDON the market was in a buoyant mood again today, with buyers still taking a long-term optimistic view on the U.K. economic outlook.

Gains in equities once more were widespread, with numerous features. Gilts also gained.

U.S. dollar stocks reflected the rise on Wall Street, but Canadian issues were uncertain. Abitibi, B-A Oil, Central Del Rio, Imperial Oil and Noranda were among those to ease while nickels, Consolidated Paper, West Coast Transmission and Algoma improved.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate trading today

Texaco rose ¾ to 31¼, and Chemcell gained ½ to 11⅝. Scott LaSalle jumped 1⅛ points to 31⅞ after advancing ¾ in moderate trading Tuesday.

Industrial Acceptance and Labatt each slipped ½ to 22¼ and 29¾ respectively.

Silver Price Rise Seen By Industry

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The price of silver is going to go up, most spokesmen for the mining industry in the western U.S. insist, because demand is outstripping supply.

They talk of the metal selling for $2.25 an ounce, or perhaps $2.50, in contrast with the present price hovering around $1.65.

The rise will start, they say, when the U.S. treasury's supplies are reduced to the point the agency must quit auctioning off 2,000,000 ounces of the metal every week.

When the treasury removed its $1.29-an-ounce ceiling, the price shot to about $1.80, then began to drop back.

The producers' outlook is contrary to that of the treasury department, where a spokesman has asserted there will be plenty of silver to fill needs, including payment of silver certificates, and that the price will range from $1.50 to $1.75 an ounce for the next four or five years.

"This is the same old line the treasury has been putting out for the last five years and it has been 100 per cent wrong during this period," said H. F. Magnuson of Wallace, Idaho, a vice-president of Golconda Mining Corp. and a spokesman for silver producers in the Coeur D'Alene mining region of northern Idaho. About 45 per cent of U.S. silver production comes from the vicinity.

Westerners declare the treasury and eastern buyers want to keep the silver price down and are deliberately minimizing the situation.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Experts Paint Bleak Picture

By AB KENT
Business Editor

Two American investment letters perused at random share a dim view of the stock market potential for the rest of 1967.

One is downright pessimistic, predicting enough doom and gloom for all other commentators put together.

But both see Labor Day as the benchmark of our times: the Shaefer letter, of Indianapolis, Ind., looks for the turndown this week, with October and November "sharply down months;" the Alexander Hamilton Institute Investment Bulletin, of New York, sees a continuation of "slackening in demand" in the days following Labor Day.

Kent

What is remarkable about Shaefer—the "Dow Theory Trader" — is his reiteration of bearishness to come and his conviction that the current bull structure is false.

George Shaefer says in his Aug. 19 letter the U.S. has squandered tax dollars on many ill-considered ventures, that the desire of everyone to live the good life has left the country with no tools to head off a crisis.

He says no "moral gumption" remains at either national or individual level.

"A crisis is about to break over the U.S. when this market finally falls apart like a wet graham cracker," he said.

To try to cope with it will require every dollar to prevent chaos, Shaefer declared.

★ ★ ★

He reasoned that recent stock trading constitutes a "huge tidal wave of speculation," creating an all-time high for low-priced stocks;

U.S. Bond prices have been drifting down to where yields are 6 per cent or better (in Canada it may be noted the current McLeod, Young, Weir 40-bond average yield index has reached a new high of 7.05 per cent, up from 6.92 at the end of July);

Taxes are going to be raised, the profit squeeze is on and some of the recent high-flyers don't want to fly anymore.

Shaefer believes many people are about to turn cautious "and that the stage is set unusually well for a crash that promises to completely wipe out many speculators in stocks."

He advises his American followers to liquidate to cash or treasury bills. Later there will be time to find diversified quality stocks at low prices and high dividends.

There will be a crash like there was in October, 1929, but the business depression won't come for a year or so afterward, the letter predicts.

Meanwhile, according to Shaefer, the newspapers and government statements are full of false optimism, just as they were before Oct. 29, 1929.

His most optimistic statement in the letter points out that the U.S. has been riding a market that has had more ups than downs since 1949 and therefore it should have a broad crest, allowing time for the prudent to withdraw.

★ ★ ★

Alexander Hamilton agrees the market "could well be at a crucial turning point. Important clues to the probable direction of the market for the balance of the year are frequently in evidence after Labor Day."

Prices are rising and orders are backlogged, the institute notes. But if wages and productivity per worker continue to diverge, "we may be in for another period of profitless prosperity."

The market should show "at least a technical rally in the next few sessions; otherwise the bright outlook for the balance of 1967 will be tarnished."

★ ★ ★

Referring back briefly to the McLeod, Young, Weir bond averages, it is noteworthy that yields on provincial issues rose .13 per cent over July, on municipal bonds .1 per cent, on utilities .15 per cent, and on industrials .12 per cent.

The 40-bond average now at 7.05 per cent represents an increase of .34 per cent over the average at Aug. 31 of last year.

Six south Vancouver Island men are among 39 graduates in the three-year course in real estate and appraisal offered at University of B.C. by the Real Estate Council of B.C.

To receive diplomas at a dinner in Brock Hall, UBC, Friday are appraisal graduate John T. Williams, of Victoria, and real estate grads Frederick J. Plester, of Duncan; Donald R. Fraser, P. Aksel Petersen, Walter J. Ranson and Stuart A. Soward, all of Victoria.

Royal Alex for Sale

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Royal Alexandra Hotel, a 61-year-old Winnipeg landmark, is up for sale.

A small for-sale newspaper advertisement Tuesday ended months of speculation about the future of the 450-room, Canadian Pacific Railway-owned hotel.

"The hotel has been put on the open market and the right bid takes everything . . . lock, stock and barrel," said acting manager G. A. Swan in an interview.

He said the hotel will continue to operate while bids are being considered.

The famous hotel was built beside the CPR mainline in the downtown area in 1906 at a cost of $1,000,000.

Atlantic Sugar Profits Increase

MONTREAL (CP) — Atlantic Sugar Refineries Co. Ltd. has reported net income for the six months ended June 30 of $2,959,379 or 50 cents a share, compared with $2,496,791 or 42 cents a year earlier.

Sales were $17,533,938 against $17,416,875.

J. A. Gardner, chairman, said that though competition is keen the company's earnings in the year ending Dec. 31 should be much higher than in 1966.

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA — Banks buying cheques at 7¼ premium, notes 7⅛ premium and silver 5⅛. Selling cheques at 8 premium, notes 8⅛ premium.

MONTREAL (CP)—The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was down 1/32 at $1.07 21/32. Pound sterling was down ⅛ at $2.99 13/16.

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar up 3/64 at 92 29/32 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling up 1/32 at $2.78⅛.

LOCKHEED PLANS NEW JETLINER

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—The Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has a tentative go-ahead from its board of directors to produce the model L1011 jet airplane.

The firm's estimated $250,000,000 bid to re-enter the commercial airliner business will depend on "sufficient orders" from airlines, the directors decided Tuesday.

If enough orders are forthcoming, the firm's Burbank-based Lockheed-California division will begin production of the aircraft next year. It would enter airline service by 1972.

Thomson Probe Studied

WASHINGTON (CP) — Newsweek magazine says "justice department trust busters and the Senate judiciary committee may look into the American dealings of Lord Thomson of Fleet, the 73-year-old British press baron who now owns the largest chain of daily newspapers in the U.S."

Thomson two weeks ago acquired 12 small-town dailies for $72,000,000 in the largest newspaper transaction in U.S. history and now owns 35 American newspapers, Newsweek recalls.

A justice department spokesman said the department knows about the purchase, but it is not policy to comment on whether an anti-trust investigation is being considered in such cases or has been undertaken.

A staff member of the Senate subcommittee on anti-trust and monopoly said action in such cases is much more likely to come first from the justice department.

The Canadian-born Thomson also owns 26 dailies in Canada and more than a dozen in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

LONDON (AP) — Lord Thomson said today that on the whole Britain's national newspapers are operating at a loss because there are too many of them.

The Canadian-born publisher, speaking to a gathering of young Conservatives on "press and monopolies," said only four of Britain's nine national newspapers are showing a profit.

"Comparisons are odious and I do not propose to mention names but I think about four of the five newspapers being run at a loss could cease publication and the public would be still as efficiently served as they are now," he said.

"The situation is not quite so bad with the Sunday papers. Of the seven national Sundays, five are probably profitable, one is marginal and the seventh losing heavily."

Thomson owns one of the national dailies, The Times, and one of the national Sunday papers, The Sunday Times.

Dam Payment Discussion Thursday

An outstanding payment of $12,000,000 plus interest owed to British Columbia by the United States will be discussed in Washington, D.C. Thursday in a meeting attended by Canadian External Affairs Minister Martin and U.S. Secretary Rusk, Premier Bennett said Tuesday.

Premier Bennett said he had received a telegram from Mr. Martin stating that the payment due was on the agenda of the meeting.

The premier added "This is not the only subject they will be discussing."

It was earlier reported Mr. Martin had a new proposal concerning Vietnam to present at the meeting.

The sum of $11,000,000 U.S. equal to $12,000,000 Canadian, for downstream flood control benefits, became payable upon the July 31 completion of the Duncan Dam, one of three dams being built under the Columbia River Treaty between Canada and the U.S.

The premier, who made his comments en route to a cabinet meeting, has said B.C. is meanwhile earning interest on the amount due.

Utica Ships Concentrates

VANCOUVER (CP) — Utica silver mine at Keremeos began production on schedule in late July and the first shipment of concentrates was sent to the Cominco smelter at Trail Aug. 21 the company says in a report to shareholders.

Following construction of a 300 ton a day concentrator and auxiliary services the company had cash reserves of $246,000 as of Aug. 1 which it said is adequate working capital.

Official opening of the mine is planned for Oct. 20.

Rigney's Angels Jam Crackling AL Race

The crush at the top of the American League is unchanged today, and don't look now but Bill Rigney is trying to toss another log into the jam.

Rigney's California Angels stand six games off the pace after sweeping Baltimore 7-2 and 11-4 Tuesday. Bubba Morton drove in four runs with two hits in each game.

Ordinarily, six games behind with 20 or so to play wouldn't be so bad, but the Angels have a problem. There are four teams in front of them.

Tuesday first-place Minnesota Twins and pursuing Boston, Chicago and Detroit all won. Thus California, which took a pair, was the only team to gain ground. The fifth-place Angels have won seven of their last eight games.

Minnesota battered Cleveland 9-2. Boston stayed one half-game back with an 8-2 triumph over Washington as Carl Yastrzemski cracked a pair of home runs. Chicago topped New York 5-3 and remained one game behind. Joe Sparma hurled a two-hitter as Detroit blanked Kansas City 4-0 and stayed 1½ game off the pace.

PHILS WIN IN 11TH

In the only National League game played, Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 4-3 in 11 innings.

Morton tagged a pair of two-run doubles while Rick Reichardt and rookie Leo Rodriguez smacked solo home runs as Clyde Wright hurled a four-hitter for the Angels in the first game against the Orioles.

Then Morton knocked in four more runs with two two-run singles in the second game as California completed the sweep.

Yastrzemski, fighting his way out of a 7-for-41 slump, walloped his 37th and 38th home runs, driving in four runs. He wasn't even supposed to be playing. Dick Williams, Boston's manager, had hoped to give him a day off.

Yastrzemski played 6½ innings which was about 6½ too many for the Senators.

SPARMA FANS EIGHT

Sparma struck out eight Athletics including the first four he faced. The only hits off him were a one-out single in the third by Phil Roof and Jim Gosger's grounder which struck base runner Ramon Webster in the seventh.

The Tigers pushed a run across in the fourth when Dick McAuliffe drew a bases-loaded walk and then added two more in the fifth on singles by Al Kaline, Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan. Jerry Lumpe's seventh inning single drove in Detroit's final run.

The White Sox snapped a 3-3 tie in the third inning when their pinch hitting specialist, 41-year-old Smoky Burgess, drew a bases-loaded walk. Don Buford added an insurance run with an eighth inning homer.

Chicago had loaded the bases on singles by Pete Ward and Ken Boyer and an intentional walk before Burgess drew his walk on a 3-1 pitch from loser Joe Verbanic.

DENS NEEDED FOR COUGARS

Victoria Cougar executives are skating around and looking for "room-and-board" accommodations for their junior hockey players.

Lodgings, preferably in private homes, are urgently required now because about 11 out-of-town candidates for the B.C. Junior "A" League entry "must be settled" before high school and university classes start.

Any one interested in accommodating a Cougar is asked to contact manager-coach Doug Anderson at 388-5025.

Spokane Claims Divisional Title

PORTLAND (AP) — It'll be Spokane at San Diego tonight in the opener of a best-of-seven series for the championship of the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

Spokane beat Portland 6-1 Tuesday night in a one-game showdown for the title in the league's Western Division.

Bruce Brubaker went all the way for the Indians, holding the Portland Beavers to six hits.

The two teams had tied for first place in the Western loop at the end of regular season play.

A crowd of 17,111—the largest paid attendance in the PCL this year—turned out to see the sudden death contest.

The Indians piled up a three-run lead in the third inning when left fielder John McLaughlin tripled in two runs and Cleo James contributed another with a sacrifice fly.

Spokane added three more in the fourth on a combination of three walks, a Portland error and only one hit.

Beaver third baseman Jay Ward kept his team from being whitewashed when he belted his 14th homer of the year in the seventh inning with nobody on base.

Spokane manager Roy Hartsfield had high praise for Brubaker. "Bruce wanted to go all the way and showed us some scrap out there tonight," he said after the game.

Portland manager John Lippon's comment was more direct: "I've had some bad days in baseball, and this was one of my worst."

A former Vancouver woman will return to her home town to present a series of professional boxing matches.

She may include Victoria in her promotions.

Mrs. Eileen Eaton of Los Angeles, honored in April as promoter of the year for her promotions at LA's Olympic Auditorium, said her trip was part business, part nostalgia "I lived here as a child."

Boxers imported to Vancouver would be ones shown on West Coast telecasts of Mrs. Eaton's Olympic shows. Among the boxers used by Mrs. Eaton in 1967 are heavyweight contenders Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier.

She said any promotions in Vancouver would include Al Principe, an active promoter here in the 1950s and now a manager.

Flaherty intends to put his own Carlos Monrreal of San Jose against Pancho Deleon of Oakland in a 10-round main event. They are lightweights.

Flaherty said his card is the first of a series he intends to put on in New Westminster, Vancouver, Victoria and at Prince George.

PAIR OF ACES SAPS COURAGE FROM GOLFER

OTTAWA (CP)—When was the last time — if ever — you heard of a golfer sinking two holes-in-one in the same game? That's just what Tony Mangione of Ottawa did at the Glenlea Golf and Country Club.

To make it even more interesting, Mangione completed his feat in the first nine holes. Then he gave up — he didn't have the courage to play on.

He sank his first hole-in-one on the 235-yard fifth hole. His second came on the 135-yard ninth hole. His total for the nine holes was 35.

Mangione has three witnesses to prove his feat.

Lights Also Out For Game Rocks

Chapman Great As Vancouver Sweeps Series

By HAL MALONE

The paperweights they call Victoria Shamrocks reached for the stars Tuesday night and had a galaxy fall on them.

A lightning storm and Vancouver Carlings smacked Shamrocks simultaneously at Memorial Arena. The lights fluttered and failed with three minutes to play. The Shamrocks sputtered with them and ran out of Inter City Lacrosse League engagements for 1967.

Carlings took the game 6-5 and the final four-love. They meet the eastern champions in the Mann Cup Canadian championship Tuesday at Vancouver.

There were no tears in the Shamrock dressing room. Nor should there have been. They had pushed to the limit of their capacity a Vancouver team which outweighed them practically across the board.

Munroe on Sidelines

Shamrocks played the best Vancouver dressed without Bill Munroe (pulled leg muscle), Ed Kowalyk (bad back) and Larry Clarkson (bone chips in knee).

The rested Carlings played a team that had found the adrenalin and inspiration to overcome Coquitlam in five fatiguing games. To ask the Rocks to repel Vancouver under the circumstances would have been like asking Willie Shoemaker to wrestle Don Leo Jonathan.

Upon the rock of positive thinking Dave Unwin built these Shamrocks ("I had to get them to overcome their defeatist attitude") and that's how they finished.

They didn't score a goal in two periods Tuesday. Vancouver had two. But the Rocks believed they could score and did. Within nine minutes they poured in three, by Ray Beach, Ranjit Dillon and Tom Collett.

Skipper Was Busiest

Gordon Frederickson, the league's leading goal scorer, left unchecked momentarily, tied it. Then Duke Liebscher, last man on a three-on-two break put Carls ahead.

Tommy Black, from Ranjit Dillon, whipped a bouncer past Skip Chapman at 13:30 and it was 4-4. Bob Salt rubbed pepper into Victoria's wound with goal a minute later off a block by John Cervi. Then the power petered, the electric clock went kerplunk and, as it developed, the lights went out for good for Victoria.

Fighting two Carls for a loose ball in his end, Collett wheeled it in front of the goal area. Goalkeeper Barry Forbes couldn't make it back after leaving his store to aid Collett and Fredrickson didn't even have to lean on his shot.

With seconds to play Ted Liebich laced a shot past Chapman. Billy Gray made one last desperate fling to knot the game but Chapman put his broad belly where the ball was and that was it.

Chapman made a habit of being in the right place throughout. He stopped 32 shots, twice as many as Forbes.

"If one man won it — and I don't subscribe to that kind of thinking — Chapman was the man," Vancouver coach Jack McKinnon said.

Pipes Looked Wide

Skip had a little divine providence working for him. In the second period when waiting for a goal was like watching paint dry, Nirmal Dillon hit two posts on one shot. Ranjit on the next play shook the gizzard out of the pipe.

But Chapman had a bevy of diesels up front, assassins who wouldn't let their mothers get past without getting a piece of them.

Billy Gray was Victoria's only certified bouncer. Ask any Carling to show you Billy's handiwork. Particularly ask Val Roberton and John Cervi and Sid Warick.

None of the other Rocks suffer from small hearts. Just small bodies. Vancouver did a grinding job on Unwin's troops.

Had Victoria had the bye while Vancouver armlocked with Coquitlam it might have been different in the final.

As Chapman said, "We caught a tired club."

That's life. Or, more correctly, that's lacrosse.

BROOKLIN RIDES TRANS TO 3-2 EASTERN LEAD

BROOKLIN, Ont. (CP) — Brooklin Redmen fired the four unanswered goals in the first period and went on to defeat Brampton 9-3 Tuesday to take a 3-2 lead in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior A best-of-seven finals.

Elmer Tran fired three goals and Paul Tran added a pair. Dave Lough, Doug Favel, Sandy Doberstein and Ken Crawford scored the other goals for the Redmen.

Jack Mabgett, Brian Ahearne and Jim Richardson scored for Brampton.

The series resuues Thursday in Brampton.

No Paying Power, No Staying Power

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Rifles of the Continental Football League have folded, Harold Rosenthal, league public relations director, said Tuesday night.

"It was no secret that they were losing money," Rosenthal said in New York. "I suppose when they drew that poor crowd against Orlando last week they decided to give up.

"If they couldn't draw against the best club in the league, they must have felt it was no use going on."

Rosenthal said results of the two games the Rifles have played will stand. The Rifles defeated Akron Vulcans, 20-7, and bowed, 28-14, to Orlando Panthers.

Sol Rosen, the league's president, said in a telephone interview in New York, that Toronto's collapse "was a simple matter of finances."

"They just weren't taking in what they were spending."

Rosen said the league regretted Toronto's position.

NO ALTERNATIVE

"The teams have to measure up to the league's requirements, whether they're financial or on the field."

Asked if another city might bid for the Toronto franchise, Rosen said "I'm afraid it's too late for this now.

He said however, that the league already had several applications on file for the vacant franchise.

Jackson Retains Faith in Juniors

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—The coach of New Westminster Salmonbellies says his club gave up "16 unnecessary goals" in a 17-7 loss to Oshawa Green Gaels Monday in the first game of the 1967 Minto Cup final.

Coach Keith Jackson blamed poor checking, excessive penalties and below-par play generally for the one-sided whipping in the opener of the best-of-seven Canadian junior lacrosse final.

"We played only 50 per cent of our capacity," said Jackson. "We gave up 10 goals through poor checking and six more on the Green Gaels' power play."

Jackson said his club is too solid to play two poor games in a row.

The coach of the Western Canada junior lacrosse champions praised the Green Gaels but said they came up with nothing surprising.

"After three years of Minto Cup play, we know their style," he said.

Oshawa has won the Minto Cup four years in a row. The last three finals involved Oshawa and New Westminster.

TEAM LACKED SPEED

"We didn't show any speed Monday," Jackson said, planning to shift his club's emphasis from the heavy bumping that led to several pointless penalties.

Eastern teams concentrate on speed and western clubs on heavy checking, Jackson said.

"This club can run, too," he said, "and we will Wednesday in the second game."

Oshawa coach Jim Bishop said his defenders, who surrendered an average of only seven goals a game while winning the Ontario junior championship easily, provided the key to the victory.

The Oshawa scoring outburst came against a solid defensive club. New Westminster also yielded an average of only seven goals a game during its regular season.

PUNCH REMEMBERS

Hospital Tag Handy During Negotiations

TORONTO (CP)—When Toronto Maple Leafs open their National Hockey League training camp in Peterborough today they may learn that Punch Imlach won't be out to baby them.

At least as far as contracts are concerned.

Imlach, 49-year-old manager-coach of the 1967 Stanley Cup champions, remembers how he was admitted to hospital last Feb. 18, just after the Leafs had broken a 10-game losing streak, and how he had to stay away for two weeks.

He says it was worry that put him on the sick list.

Tuesday, before leaving the Gardens, he pointed to the plastic identification tag he wore in hospital and talked about his men and their 1967-68 contracts.

"That (the tag) is just a reminder," he said in an interview. "They put me in hospital and I don't want them to forget it when we sit down to discuss contracts.

"I had a talk with them last season, after we lost 10 in a row. I invited them up to sign their contracts for next year but I didn't have any takers."

Copeman, Hall Bowmen's Best

Bess Copeman and Bill Hall were "on target" in both the American and field rounds to capture overall honors in Victoria Bowmen's annual archery championships.

Leona Owen was second in the American event while Doris Usher was runnerup in the field shooting. Adele Bishop placed third in both ladies' events.

Fred Usher was second in the men's field round and third in the American, finishing just behind Pete Campbell in the latter event.

Doubles Trophy To Burnside Duo

Burnside's Fred Hall and Bill Cruikshanks captured the Yarrow Cup in the men's doubles competition at Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling Club.

Runners-up were Sam Barr and John McNair of the host CP club.

"B" section winners were Hector Tapp and Dan Millar of Victoria and "C" honors went to Allan Jones and Bill Jobson of Oak Bay.

The 1967-68 Victoria Minor Hockey Association players registration will take place at the Memorial Arena the 9th and 16th September, between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, and the 13th September, between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Boys registered with Esquimalt and Saanich Associations are not eligible. All other boys, ages 7 and not more than 17 on May 31, 1967, are eligible. Registration fee is $12.00 per player, maximum $24.00 per family. Mutual Aid, $1.00 per player up to Midget, $2.00 per player in Juvenile division. Failure to register on the above dates may result in being refused membership with the association.

Landry Has Solid Club

RIDE 'EM COWBOYS!

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas Cowboys probably will win the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League for the second straight year after beating a surprising Pittsburgh team in the divisional playoffs Dec. 24 at Dallas.

Under the new NFL setup, Dallas will compete in the Capitol Division against Washington, Philadelphia and the expansion team from New Orleans.

The Capitol winner will compete for the conference crown against the winner of the Century Division made up of Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cleveland and New York.

The eventual Eastern winner will meet the Western champ for the NFL title in the Western city, Sunday, Dec. 31.

EARLY FORECAST

Here's the way the two divisions shape up:

Capitol

1. Dallas.
2. Washington
3. Philadelphia.
4. New Orleans.

Century

1. Pittsburgh.
2. St. Louis.
3. Cleveland.
4. New York.

The Capitol Division appears to be one of the strongest in the league with Cowboys defending their Eastern title against the Redskins, Eagles and the unexpectedly tough Saints.

Tom Landry's team has been slow coming around while he has been trying to work some new men into his intricate offence.

Don Meredith, erratic in the early games, should straighten out once he works again with his regular backfield and receivers

However Cowboys' strong point is that defence led by Bob Lilly. Mel Renfro is strictly a defensive back this year with no more experiments on offence.

Philadelphia has great potential in its offence with the addition of Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman, plus rookies like Harry Jones, Harry Wilson and Dan Berry. When Tim Brown is healthy, teaming with Izzy Lang or Tom Woodeshick, the Eagles can score on anybody.

PASSING PROMISING

Bill Kilmer has been nothing short of spectacular for New Orleans in pre-season games. However despite the running of Jim Taylor, the lack of depth will catch up with Tom Fears' gang in the regular season.

The Century Divison is a wide-open scramble.

The loss of Charley Johnson leaves St. Louis with only inexperienced Jim Hart at quarter.

Cleveland's Frank Ryan is coming off an operation and the five-man holdout is bound to affect Browns' morale. New York, coming off its worst season, sees hope in Fran Tarkenton and Tucker Frederickson, but the defensive line is paper thin.

Pittsburgh could win it all if Bill Nelsen can avoid injury.

The loss of Earl Gros for a time will hurt the Steelers but dan, George Andrie, Jethro Pugh and Willie Tones from a rugged barrier against any attack.

Otto Graham has a formidable attack at Washington with Sonny Jurgensen throwing to Charley Taylor, Bobby Mitchell and Jerry Smith.

If Ray McDonald comes Cannonball Butler and Bill Asbury may take up the slack.

Cards have quarterback problems but that defence is good enough to keep them in every game. If Hart lives up to expectations, they could take it all. But Hart still is an unknown quantity.

Cleveland seems to be in trouble despite the running power of Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green. Browns lack depth in many departments. The threat of Ryan throwing to Gary Collins or Paul Warfield is enough to keep the defences honest.

Strange as it seems, even Giants could win the Century Division. The addition of Tarkenton and Bill Triplett and the return of Frederickson must improve the attack.

Islanders Enter Paraplegic Games

Eight Vancouver Islanders are among the 25-member B.C. team in Montreal for the four-day Canadian Paraplegic Centenial Games.

The Island group consists of Lorna Vinden, the gold medal sensation at the recent Pan-Am games; Larry Luck, Wilf Parsons and Don Agnew, of Sidney; Paul Roberge and Wally Robson of Duncan, Wally Thompson and coach Rody Ryan.

Organizers hope that the games will result in the formation of a national wheelchair sports association to handle future Canadian participation in international sports events.

Ten sports are on the program — basketball, table tennis, 60-yard dash, 240-yard relay, slalom races, Indian club throw, discus, javelin — both precision and distance throwing — shot-put and archery.

The slalom races include hopping wheelchairs on and off platforms and negotiating a flag-lined, zig-zag course.

Winnipeg's recent Pan-Am Paraplegic Games provided the first international event of its kind ever held in conjunction with the Pan-American Society Organization.

VANCOUVER TAKES PRIZE

KAMLOOPS — Vancouver Longshoremen, coming up with eight runs in the eighth inning, defeated Kamloops Lelands 10-6 Monday to capture top money in the annual Kamloops Labor Day baseball tournament.

Victoria's entry was kayoed quickly by a home-run barrage. South Burnaby Merchants, scoring all their runs on homers, defeated Victoria 4-2 in the first round.

Victoria, Esquimalt In Favor

Victoria and Esquimalt will help entertain the English National Rugby team when it plays here Sept. 26.

But Saanich informed the Intermunicipal committee Tuesday that it wasn't convinced the first visit of an English international rugby team to the city was a worthy cause.

"I'm against it," said Coun. Leslie Passmore.

"It is a unique occasion," answered Mayor Hugh Stephen. "They are asking us to share in the cost of a barbecue and miniature logging contest to be held at Sooke."

Reeve Hugh Curtis said he would bring the matter before his council at an early date.

Reeve Allan Cox, Oak Bay, promised the same thing but without indicating his personal views.

The team will play an All-Star British Columbia rugby team at Royal Athletic Park on Sept. 26.

FORMER CATCHER DIES

DETROIT (AP)—Clyde Manion, 71, a catcher with Detroit Tigers in the days of Ty Cobb, died following a heart attack.

Perry Posts Jasper Low

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — Perry Kirkpatrick of Vancouver fired a second-round 74 Tuesday to win medallist honors in the Totem Pole golf tournament with a 36-hole score of 70-74—144.

He edged Art Davis of Calgary by one stroke. W. J. Gilbert of Mount Vernon, Wash., was third with 148. Qualifiers ranged all the way up to 162.

Match play was to begin today.

In the women's division, Mrs. A. K. Snell of Edmonton won medal honors with 88-88—176. Four strokes back was Mrs. C. W. Coffen of Portland, Ore., with 180. Third was Maureen Auld of Vancouver with 183.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germany's Soccer Federation has ruled that advertising on players' uniforms will no longer be tolerated.

"Players may only wear their club's name or emblem in addition to their numbers on their uniforms which must not be turned into an advertising medium by additional inscriptions," the announcement said.

The federation acted after the Wormatia Worms took to the field in recent soccer league games with the abbreviated name of an international building machinery firm on their jerseys.

Wormatia officials admitted that they received a considerable amount of money for turning the shirts of their players over to the advertiser.

Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., believes in hitting the ground if necessary to return a tennis shot. Her dive in match with Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., during third round play of U.S. National tennis championships at Forest Hills, N.Y., emphasized her enthusiasm but Billie Jean won 6-4, 6-3.

LIONS LET POKEY GO TO KEEP NEW QUARTER

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Lions of the Canadian Football League have released third-year defensive halfback Ernie (Pokey) Allen.

The former captain of the University of Utah varsity team came to the Lions in 1965, was placed on waivers to make room for import quarterback Hank Schichtle, obtained by the Lions from the Toronto Argonauts in exchange for an unnamed Canadian player.

Record Field Enters Senior Ladies' Event

With 12 of Vancouver Island's 17 clubs represented, a whopping record entry of 130 is prepared to tee off Friday in the annual Island Senior Ladies' golf championship.

The 18-hole medal round will be played at Royal Colwood.

Kay Tribe of Uplands, Mickey Wescott of Colwood and Gorge Vale's Chris Holland all will be on hand to defend the major trophies they won last year.

U.S. Cup Aces Out of Chase

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Wimbledon titleholder John Newcombe of Australia and Bob Hewitt, an Australian exile now living in South Africa, eliminated two of the United States' Davis Cup aces in marathon third-round matches Tuesday and opened the gates for another foreign landslide in the U.S. national tennis championships.

The top-seeded Newcombe, his cannonball service crackling, had the fight of this life with 20-year-old Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., but bulled his way through 13-11, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Richey had set point against Newcombe in the 20th game of the back-breaking and crucial first set and he never gave up, breaking the Australian at love in clinching the third set.

Hewitt, a balding veteran of the world tennis beat, had to rally twice and fight off three match points in winning a three-hour struggle from eighth-seeded Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 12-10.

PASARELL BLEW IT

The tall and talented Pasarell, blowing hot and cold, seemed to go to sleep twice after seeming to have the match in hand — first, after winning the opening two sets with brilliant tennis and again after zooming into a 4-0 lead in the fifth.

Pasarell blev three match points after taking a 6-5 lead and 40-15 on Hewitt's service in the 12th game of the final set.

Newcombe and Hewitt were joined in the fourth round by Rafael Osuna of Mexico, the forgotten 1963 champion; Owen Davidson of Australia, Ray Moore of South Africa; Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., Bob Lutz of Los Angeles and Gene Scott of New York.

Of these, the cat-quick Osuna, in semi-retirement for the last two years, was the most impressive in crushing Terry Addison of Australia 8-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Davidson, the powerful Aussie left-hander, also was awesome in scoring a 6-0, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Jim McManus of Berkeley, N.Y., the man who beat England's sixth-seeded Roger Taylor.

Brilliant Basil To Ride Here

By HAL MALONE

"There They Go-o-o-o!"

In exactly 10 days those stirring words will be chanted by announcer Jack Short, signifying the opening of the 1967 thoroughbred racing season at Sandown Park.

The 17-day annual fall meeting commences Sept. 16, runs through Oct. 14.

A new $125,000 barn, glistening with paint, has been completed to replace the old structure destroyed by a fire which killed 13 horses last October.

A few horses are stabled at Sandown and more are expected daily until the track's accommodations (about 250) are filled.

Among the handicap brigade expected to ship here are Brooknie, Sefton Park, Enchalade, Bouncy Belle, Scomy and Nickonaches.

Twenty riders have pledged their troth to Sandown, among them the brilliant Basil Frazier, contract rider for the Frank McMahon stable trained by Vance Longden.

Here are the riders, followed by a list of the horses:

Jockeys

Basil Frazier, Regellio Trejos, Jim Broomfield, Bob Cormack, Maurice Milne, x-Ron Arnold, Jack Phillips, Sandy Shields, Charlie Ulrich, x-Mike Chabara, Tom Laidler, Ken Coppernoll, x-Bob Howg, x-Kerry Sam, x-Earl Welsh, x-Bob Leung, x-G. Ray, Ted Johnson, Harry Keegans, Sandy Valenzuela.

$2.5M Plan For Oak Bay

Bridge, Mall, Recreation Centre Proposed by Capital Region Team

By TED GASKELL

A 15-year, $2.5 million plan for Oak Bay was unveiled by the Capital Region Planning Board Tuesday night.

Main proposals are:

- A bridge to Jimmy Chicken Island.
- "Greenways" connecting all parks.
- Rerouting of Oak Bay Avenue to provide a pedestrian mall in the village shopping centre.
- Five-fold increase of the municipality's apartment zone acreage.
- An $870,000 recreation centre.

The plan, 18 months in the making, is aimed at improving Oak Bay without destroying its character.

The report, tabled by council for study, points out that Oak Bay's appeal as a place in which to live is based on the natural attractions of land and sea. It suggests the best examples of this natural heritage should form one of the main components of "open space policy".

The plan calls for an expenditure of $1,348,000 in the first five years.

Closed Between Monterey, Yale

Most startling proposal involves changes in the village.

This $335,000 projection calls for closing of Oak Bay Avenue between Monterey and Yale. In those three blocks it would provide parking spaces, "greens" with conversation corners and landscaped areas, free crossing at all points for pedestrians and the rerouting of the avenue down Yale, along the lane behind the Oak Bay Theatre, and back to the original route via Monterey.

The report visualizes a senior citizens centre between Hampshire and Monterey; zoning to permit a church in the area as well as a medical dental building.

Store fronts and signs should be co-ordinated, special paving in front of stores is advocated and all wiring should be underground.

Many people have said that Oak Bay, with its 18,000 people is "over-parked" but the plan calls for more parks and improvements to existing parks.

It calls for a recreation centre to the west of the junior high school.

The project, estimated at $850,000 would be placed roughly in the area Oak Bay once considered for a recreation centre but residents opposed the plan and the land required could not be obtained.

In the last two years the municipality has acquired more acreage in the Henderson Road-Cedar Hill Cross Road area including the Victoria Riding Academy property for park and recreation development.

This is also included in the report but some of the land in the area should be zoned for apartments, the plan suggests.

'Greenway' System for Walkers

Poll of many Oak Bay residents including apartment dwellers, indicates that walking is a popular pastime in the municipality and the report takes this into account with a proposed system of walks or "greenways".

For $40,000 all parks and schools could be linked by a system of paths, which include beach and waterfront paths, to make walking pleasant for those who do it from choide or necessity.

Some such pathways exist. Bowker Creek for part of its course has a little greenway.

New park areas are proposed for Newport Rocks, Brighton Avenue, McMicking Point, Satellite and Downes Road. These areas, plus extension of existing parks would give Oak Bay roughly an addition of 40 acres to its present 123 acres of parks which includes 75 acres in Uplands Parks.

There are people in Oak Bay who believe that all waterfront property should be purchased for parks but the report points out this would mean loss of seven per cent of assessed property and would cost $10,000,000 at today's prices.

It does, however, recommend purchase of some waterfront property and suggests the breakwater at the Marina should be extended to give access to Jimmy Chicken (Mary Tod) Island and a bridge link built.

The people who have awaited most anxiously for the report are those interested in rezoning, particularly for apartment use.

Apartment Zone Crescent Proposed

Since the report was started Oak Bay Council has held in abeyance any requests for rezoning or request for apartment construction permits, preferring to await the planners' feelings on these matters.

The report anticipates an increase in apartment zone acreage from the present 30 to 158 with an apartment zoned crescent sweeping from the Foul Bay Road boundary, down Oak Bay Avenue and along the sea front to the northern edge of the Victoria Golf Club property.

This is a long-term plan. The immediate proposals call for new zones in the York Place-Prospect Place area; behind the shopping area at Frost's Corner and northeast of the junior high school.

More 'Laybys' for Beach Drive

Some important changes are recommended to solve transportation and traffic problems.

Hampshire Road should be pushed through to Cadboro Bay Road behind the Old Men's Home property; Haro Road should be developed in Oak Bay and Saanich to complete a circular route around the university and to link with Henderson.

Only changes recommended for Beach Drive are more "laybys" to permit cars to pull out of the traffic and park. Widening to make a four-lane highway would not be practical considering that the congestion only exists for a few hours on one or two days a week.

Largest single cost in the $870,000 suggested for park addition and improvement is the $410,000 proposed for the two-phase development of McMicking Point.

Another $110,000 is listed for the extension to Fireman's Park and $155,000 for a park at Satellite. All these are long-term proposals.

The Oak Bay Avenue loop is the most expensive road proposal at $215,000, another long term proposition, and there is $100,000 suggested for the Haro Road extension and, says the report, there is more immediate need for this.

HOME GARDEN

Accurate Records Help Garden Plans

By JACK BEASTALL

A winter pastime for most gardeners is the planning of the garden for the coming season.

Most of us rely on memory to answer the dozens of questions that must be resolved before the plan can proceed very far.

Jack

It is then that we realize how fickle and unreliable a memory can be. With so many things to remember that are important to daily living, it is not easy to recall with certainty whether we sowed a Laxton pea or Laxton's Progress Improved.

The same applies to other crops. Quite often we are unable to obtain our regular variety so we take a substitute, and that substitute proves to be far superior to the old standby. But what was its name?

The only way to be sure is to have it written down on paper, and the only way to know where the paper can be found at planning time is to make it a page in the garden notebook.

This is a good time to start a garden notebook, while the plants are still visible, the seed packets still on hand, and the gardener still garden-conscious.

Every year we make errors in planting or sowing, and every year we have some successes that we never planned. To correct these errors and repeat the successes we need them in black and white at planning time.

A stroll around the garden in September will bring to mind a dozen jobs we intend to do this fall or next spring. Instead of saying we must remember to do this and that, it is much easier to remember to take the garden notebook with us and write down the things to be done.

An elaborate, expensive notebook is no better than the cheapest obtainable. It is not the book that counts, it is the reminders we write down that are important.

AUTHOR Henry Miller, 75, will marry jazz pianist Hoki Tokuda, 32, according to her father in Tokyo. He said marriage would take place today in Los Angeles. But Miller refused to comment on the report. (AP Wirephotos.)

Electrical Storm Dumps Rain on City

An electrical storm hit Victoria around 9:15 p.m. Tuesday. Noisy thunder claps were accompanied by gusty winds and about one-sixth of an inch of rain fell in the space of about 50 minutes.

Because of the rain, the gardens looked fresh and green in this morning's bright sunshine.

The weather office predicts cloudy weather Thursday morning, with showers in the afternoon. No more electrical storms are expected.

Cadets Seek New Boys

The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada (Esquimalt) Cadet Corps will resume training at Work Point Barracks on Friday, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Boys between 13 and 18 years of age can join the corps by reporting at the Friday and Tuesday meetings on 7:30 p.m.

ARABS BLAMED

More Shooting Across Canal

United Press International

An Israeli military spokesman charged today Egyptian troops deliberately opened fire across the Suez Canal against Israeli troops Tuesday night. There was some speculation the incidents were staged to cover up political turmoil in both Egypt and Syria.

The spokesman said in Jerusalem the attack by artillery and mortars hit the Ras El-Ish sector 20 miles south of Port Said on the western bank of the canal and that Israel returned the fire. No casualties were reported.

It was the second clash across the canal this week between the two forces. In an exchange United Nations observers said was started by Egypt on Monday, the Egyptians reported losing 42 dead and 161 wounded — all civilians.

Egyptian newspapers said Israel began both attacks. They said the Monday shelling was started by Israel to try to counteract success of the recent Arab summit conference in Khartoum, Sudan, and that the shelling of civilians was the only means left to try to intimidate the Arabs.

NO CASUALTIES

No casualties were reported in the Tuesday night clash.

New details emerged today from an alleged plot against UAR president Nasser, reported earlier this week to have been dismissed from office when they lost the war with Israel.

The pro-Egyptian newspaper Al-Anwar reported in Beirut that former UAR vice president Abdul Latif Al-Bagh Dadi would have replaced Nasser if the plot had succeeded.

Saeed Freiha, editor and publisher of the newspaper, said Kamaleddin Hussein would have replaced Nasser's deputy, Zakaria Mohieddin. All of the men were members of the military junta which ousted King Farouk in 1952.

Egyptians Blamed

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — Secretary-General U Thant informed the United Nations Security Council in a report published Tuesday that Egypt began Monday's "heavy exchange of fire" in the Port Taufiq area of Suez.

Thant based his report on information from the chief of staff of the UN Truce Supervision Organization, Lt.-Gen. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway.

MORE TERROR SWEEPS HAITI

GENEVA (AP) — A new wave of terror, with executions and arrests, has swept through Haiti, the International Commission of Jurists alleged Tuesday.

It said in its latest bulletin that according to information it has received, "the rule of law has been replaced by a reign of terror."

Forest Fires Under Control In Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All major forest fires in the Northwest states were reported controlled or near containment today.

North Idaho crews appeared to be winning their 25-day battle against the 16,500-acre Trapper Peak fire 10 miles south of the Canadian border. The blaze was contained Tuesday and near control this morning.

The huge Sundance Mountain fire was still uncontrolled 18 miles south of Trapper Peak lines. Nearly 2,000 men have completed 40 miles of fire lines and containment is expected by Thursday, barring heavy winds.

In Montana, the 2,000-acre Glacier Wall fire in Glacier National Park was near control. No other major fires were reported.

Message Muffled On McLuhan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The appointment of communications theorist Marshall McLuhan to a $100,000 New York state professorship has run into a snag because of possible constitutional problems, it was learned today.

The state attorney-general's office said it was trying to determine whether the signing of McLuhan to a contract to teach at Fordham University would violate the so-called Blaine Amendment ban on state aid to sectarian institutions.

McLuhan's new job is a state-created post which pays $100,000 a year for salary, research and other expenses.

Sources in the law department said Attorney-General Louis Lefkowitz had been asked to determine whether allotment of about $50,000 for staff assistance and research might be challenged on constitutional grounds.

The question was raised, sources said, because Fordham, a Roman Catholic institution administered by the Jesuits, would receive at least some of the money for providing aides and working space.

McLuhan is the author of a book entitled Understanding Media, in which he argues, among other things, that modern electronic communications methods have become more important than the messages they carry.

COBBLE HILL

'Take Heart' Bonner Tells Fair Board

COBBLE HILL — Neighborly and friendly competition in the domestic classes was the heart of Tuesday's 58th Cobble Hill Fall Fair.

This is where the strength of entries lay. Tables in the Farmers' Institute Hall sagged from the weight of produce — everything from pickling onions to marrows, sheafs of wheat, pumpkin, prunes, raisin bread and honey.

Fall color was added by the displays of dahlias, gladioli, roses, marigolds and chrysanthemums.

OPENED BY BONNER

Grand old man of Cobble Hill, George Bonner, 86, opened the show.

In recent years Cobble Hill Fair officials have been pessimistic about the future.

But Mr. Bonner said they should take heart from the growing number of young people entering the various classes.

In a restricted cattle section, show president John Balme led the way with five first places in the Ayrshire division.

THREE FIRSTS

Ruth Whittaker of Cowichan Station took three first places in the beef classes.

A big attraction always at this rural fair is the horse show.

Local riders excelled this year. Heather McDonald gained most points in the junior classes.

Champion saddle horse was Pacific Wind, owned and ridden by Pam King.

Reserve was Golden Aurua, owned by Irene King and ridden by Wendy Lister.

Sports Field Wins Approval

PENDER ISLAND—This Gulf Island community's centennial project has been finally approved by Ottawa.

The project will provide a sports field at a cost of $1,200 of which $560 will be paid by federal-provincial grants.

'You Can Take a Boy Out Of the Country . . .'

By ED GOULD

GANGES — "These Islands used to be populated by nobody but good, native-born fourth generation Englishmen," the real estate man said. "Now we're getting all sorts of foreigners, Prairie Chickens and Americans."

"Prairie Chickens?" I asked.

"Yeah, old birds from the Prairies. You can always tell what a Prairie Chicken wants in the way of land. Flat, no view, patch of garden, facing the wind with one tree and a two-hole privy."

●

"Easy to please, eh?" I said.

"Nope. It's pretty hard to find property like that in the Gulf Islands where you only have waterfront, views, beaches, and lots of hills and trees."

"We all have different ideas about that constitutes beauty," I suggested.

He ignored me.

"One Chicken I showed a choice lot on Mayne Island last week told me he liked it but wanted to know how much it would cost to cut down the trees and flatten the hills so he could see the view. When he saw it was water, he just about died.

●

"Yes sir, it's hard work selling a Prairie Chicken."

"What do you end up doing?" I asked. "Sell them a piece of waterfront against their wishes?"

"No," he said. "We've got ethics. Sometimes they buy a piece of interior Island about as far away from the water as possible where they can knock down all the trees. Then they build a house on a little hill facing away from the view, and preferably into the wind.

"Prairie Chickens love the wind. If we haven't got any flat land available we bulldoze a good, hilly chunk of property, drain off a lake, and put up a lot of barbed wire."

"I guess that's no worse than the sea captain from Victoria who married a Saskatchewan girl, moved to the Prairie and built himself a house that looked like a ship," I said.

"You know him too, Eh?" the real estate man said. "I hear he got a hired man to walk around the back of the house every hour at night and slosh a pail of water against the tar paper. Made him feel right at sea."

"Everybody to their own taste." I said sagely.

●

"Yes, but it's such a waste of good land out here," he said. "An art professor from Edmonton bought a big chunk of waterfront on Pender. He cleared every tree off around his house so it looked like a gopher's dream.

"In the centre he built a big rambling house with a sunporch where he paints pretty pictures all day."

"Sounds like a good adjustment," I said.

"He paints pictures of crocuses and snow fences," the salesman said.

"The only time he sees the view is when he goes hunting and the game takes off for the cliffs. I could subdivide that frontage and sell it in quarter-acre lots for $50 a front foot. Criminal waste."

"Surely there are some Prairie people who like a view and take to water," I said. "They can't all suffer from hydrophobia."

"A Prairie Chicken only likes water if it's big as a slough, full of alkali, got a barn on one side and full of geese and duck," the salesman said.

"Too much water reminds him of irrigation, floods and Saturday night bath water."

"Well why do they come here?" I asked. "Surely there must be lots of other flat open spaces they can retire to."

●

"Prices are low and the weather' good, that's mostly it," the real estate man said.

"One old Chicken I once sold a whole island for a song. Know what she did? Cleared it like a plate, stuck a two-storey house on it with a rickety veranda running top and bottom clear around it.

"She built a red barn, stocked it with a half dozen chickens and a bull calf, surrounded it all with a barbed wire fence and sent postcards to all her friends inviting them to her Island paradise."

The salesman sighed. "She might just as well have been in Lethbridge," he said.

●

He suddenly looked abruptly at me.

"Say . . . where'd you say you came from?"

"Southeast of Calgary," I said.

"Well, listen," he said, "I've got a lovely piece of waterfront on Galiano, just came on the market. Faces south so it gets all the sun. You can see the ships go by day and night. Want to go look at it?"

"Well . . . I said. "I was just wondering if you had something a little back of the water. You know . . . couple of outbuildings, fenced, not too many trees?

'WHAT CAN THEY GIVE US?'

$5,000 Replanning Fee Opposed

DUNCAN — Municipal councillor Gerry Smith objected Tuesday evening to spending $5,000 for re-planning Pioneer Park.

"What can they give us for that kind of money that we don't have now?" he asked, referring to the planning consultant firm of A. B. Sanderson Ltd.

He was speaking at a joint meeting of North Cowichan and Duncan recreation commissions.

Coun. Smith said $5,000 is practically a year's budget for care of the park.

"It would probably cost another $10,000 to carry out the recommendations they will make to earn the $5,000.

"You can't move the baseball stand. I think this idea is ridiculous.

"I suppose the tennis courts could be moved, but that would cost $10,000. The same applies to the softball diamond.

"We only have 10 acres at Pioneer Park and might never get the extra acreage we would like.

"For $5,000 they are going to give us a plan and we already know we can't move three of the major facilities."

Chairman Ronald Price of the city commission agreed and said Pioneer Park is established and appears to serve local needs.

"We all have at the back of our minds that there will be an auditorium-swimming pool complex there one day.

"Can we not ask the planners where such a complex could be situated and have them carry out feasibility tests regarding footings for the building?"

FOOLISH

Coun. Smith said it would be foolish to tear down years of work by district service clubs.

Newly-appointed municipal commissioner Gordon Cameron said the idea needs close examination.

"Lots of our problems today are the result of poor planning, or no planning."

Coun. Smith was contradicted from the chair when he said soil tests had already been made and shown Pioneer Park unsuitable for digging down a foundation for a swimming pool.

Chairman Coun. Dennis Hogan said only shallow excavations had been made to determine the water level.

The meeting agreed to invite A. B. Sanderson Ltd. to explain what the $5,000 plan would furnish.

CRISIS ADMITTED IN PLAY FIELDS

DUNCAN —Sports groups in the Cowichan district are faced with a serious shortage of playing fields this winter.

Coun. Dennis Hogan admitted Tuesday there is a crisis in the area but said "progress is being made."

In a letter to the joint city and municipal recreation commissions, president Joseph Calverley of the Juvenile Soccer Association said the shortage is going to be more acute than ever.

The city's Wharncliffe Park will not be available because of returfing.

Mr. Calverley said there will be at least 19 juvenile soccer teams in Duncan alone this season.

RIDICULOUS

In reference to returfing of Cowichan senior secondary school's playing field, commissioner Norman Bevan said it is ridiculous three major fields are put out of action at the same time.

Quamichan school field is out of commission while it is being raised above flood level.

Chairman Ronald Price of the city commission undertook to ask Duncan council to bear the cost of preparing temporary soccer pitches at the grounds of Fairbridge School.

Mr. Hogan said the municipality is working on new playing fields at Chemainus and Crofton and would "keep plugging away" to solve the problem.

$1.5 Million Suit Over Land Grab

VANCOUVER (CP) — Torazo Iwasaki, a retired Vancouver Japanese-Canadian, Tuesday launched a $1,500,000 suit against the federal government for land taken from him during the Second World War.

The action was taken in Exchequer Court registry and was in the form of a petition of right.

NO RIGHT

Mr. Iwasaki's claim says the Secretary of State of Canada had no right to take his two large lots on Salt Spring Island.

He asks for an order that the federal government either return the property or give him $1,500,000.

The land was seized in 1942, at which time thousands of Japanese-Canadians living on the B.C. coast were forced to move inland in what authorities said was a war security measure.

The petition gives the crown four weeks in which to file a statement of defence.

STRACHAN SUPPORTS REGIONAL COLLEGE

NANAIMO (CP) — Robert Strachan, provincial leader of the New Democrat Party, Tuesday supported the proposed Vancouver Island Regional College.

Mr. Strachan said an examination of reasons why anyone might be opposed to the college showed none are strong enough to warrant voting against the Sept. 30 plebiscite.

The plebiscite will determine which of the nine school districts north of the Malahat will form a regional college area.

Mr. Strachan said the college is vitally needed because the ability of a nation to produce is a direct reflection on the education of its people.

'FRIGHTENING' BLOCK

Student Parking To Be Surveyed

Use of Hampshire Road's 1600 block for parking by high school students may result in a "tragic accident" unless restrictions are imposed, Oak Bay council was told Tuesday.

Mrs. Sam Gillies, 1630 Hampshire, said it is "frightening" to see the amount of traffic on the narrow street with so many younger children going to and from Willows School.

She urged restrictions and suggested council members make personal observations between 8:30 and 8:45 a.m. on school days.

Council's B. committee will act upon Mrs. Gillies' suggestion.

★ ★ ★

Oak Bay has another year without a fatal accident to its credit.

"This gives us a 10-year certificate," said Reeve Allan Cox commenting on the recognition by the B.C. Safety Council.

"I know we have some bad drivers," he said. "I'm glad to see they aren't fatal, though."

★ ★ ★

Results of the regional district's investigation into sewage disposal will be awaited before Oak Bay takes any action, the Saanich Action Committee on disposal will be informed.

In a letter to council the committee urged inter-municipal action on disposal of sewage and garbage. It strongly advocated study of methods which would protect property values, waterways and recreation facilities.

★ ★ ★

Reeve Allan Cox believes in calling a spayed a spayed.

He advocated this measure for female cats when he noted the SPCA report had listed 101 stray cats impounded and only four claimed.

He had, apparently, no views on dog doctoring.

The report listed only seven dogs impounded and five were claimed.

Bishop's Court Considered In Church Cult

TORONTO (CP)—A high Anglican Church official says a bishop's court could be called to investigate the activities of one of its Toronto canons in an alleged demon-exorcizing cult to be spotlighted in an upcoming inquest.

At least 16 witnesses, including doctors and clergymen, will be called to testify in the Sept. 28 inquest into the death of 18-year-old Kathy Globe of Burlington, Ont., who died June 18 in the rectory of St. Mathias Anglican church here of meningitis and a brain abcess.

Dr. H. B. Cotnam, chief coroner of Ontario, said last Friday Miss Globe died under "most peculiar" circumstances. He ordered the inquest to determine whether the high school student was prevented from obtaining adequate medical treatment.

Dr. Cotnam described the church rectory where Miss Globe died as a centre of a "witchcraft cult."

Suffragan Bishop H. R. Hunt of Toronto said in an interview a church investigation into the activities of Canon G. Moore Smith of the St. Mathias church could be launched by Bishop George Snell but only after he has seen the inquest jury's verdict.

A bishop's court, comprised of the bishop, diocese chancellor, two clergymen and two laymen, has powers ranging from a reprimand to removal of the priest from his church.

Shoplifter Jailed For 2 Months

A man with a record of attempted theft, fraud and false pretences dating back to 1959 was sentenced to two months in jail when he pleaded guilty Tuesday to shoplifting.

George Vaux, 34, of 536 Johnson, admitted taking pants, work boots, a shirt and groceries from Eaton's without paying for them Saturday afternoon.

Vaux said he had a drinking problem. He was released from jail July 1 this year and worked for a time without touching liquor, then started to drink again.

CITY HALL ARCHIVIST Ainslie Helmsken is looking for a stand-up shot of Frank Slavin, last of the bare-knuckle fighters for his sports personalities display at City Hall. Mr. Helmcken has collected dozens of photographs of leading Victoria athletes famous in the city between 1865 and 1914. But to date the famous Frank Slavin rigged for the ring has avoided him. The photographs go on display later this month in the main lobby of City Hall. The sports gallery will be the first of a series of photographic displays depicting life early in the city in all its many phases. (Times Photo.)

No Reason Seen For Sewer Fret

Campbell Soothes Aldermen On Definition of Treatment

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said this morning municipalities should not be unduly alarmed at the prospect of building sewerage treatment plants.

He was answering fears expressed Tuesday by Victoria council members that government insistence on treatment plants could create an additional $21 million burden for taxpayers.

"The definition of 'treatment' depends on whatever impact raw sewage has on the water into which it is going. It is a question of quality control.

"The municipalities will do whatever is necessary to maintain quality control of water."

He said it will be necessary to examine the existing methods of disposal to see whether they are detrimental to water quality.

No one is in a position yet to determine whether heavy costs would be involved, he said.

"This is a matter for engineers."

Referring to the capital region sewage study completed recently, the minister said it is a "particularly good one. If the area were to follow its recommendations in sequence, I don't think there will be any sewage problem in Greater Victoria."

He said the report contains timing estimates for construction of sewerage systems which are "quite valid up to 1985 and beyond."

City engineer James Garnett announced the $21 million tag Tuesday when he reported to the public works committee on future plans for the city's sewerage disposal system.

Present and future plans for Clover Point, Macaulay Point and McMicking Point outfalls for disposing of sewage at sea will cost an estimated $6 to $7 million.

TRIPLED

"This would be tripled if treatment (prior to disposal) were insisted upon," said Mr. Garnett.

Two weeks ago Mr. Campbell announced that early in 1968 new powers would be given the Pollution Control Board to enforce higher standards of sewage collection, treatment and disposal.

The recently completed $75,000 sewerage survey for the entire Saanich Peninsula was based on sewage disposal via long outfalls into the sea.

Treatment plants were rejected as too costly by the engineering firm conducting the survey.

A special committee comprised of the city manager and the city engineer will seek a meeting with the minister and other senior government officials to ascertain just what provincial government thinking is on the matter.

Road Colic Cuts Class In Half

More than half the Port Renfrew High School students attending classes in Sooke failed to turn up today.

Reason: They were sick after the 85-mile round-trip Tuesday, the first day of school.

When Paul Miklenic, 45, who has operated the school bus for the past 10 years, set off from Port Renfrew Tuesday morning there were 42 children aboard.

20 SHOW

This morning only 20 showed up.

Said Mr. Miklenic, a night shift mechanic at Port Renfrew: "The other children apparently weren't feeling well.

"I'm not surprised after Tuesday. It made me feel ill.

It is the only public road into the remote west coast community.

ACTION PROMISED

Said a department of highways official: "We are attending to grading immediately. It's been impossible to do anything during the dry weather. The grading won't take.

"Usually we try and have it done before school starts."

The students attend grades eight to 12 at Milne's Landing High.

Only school in Port Renfrew is for elementary children.

RAIN BRINGS EASIER WATER RESTRICTIONS

The rain was shortlived but it was sufficient to bring an easing of watering restrictions in Greater Victoria.

Water commissioner Ron Upward said this morning that overnight rain plus past conservation made the changes possible.

New hours for garden watering are from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Odd-numbered houses still water on odd-numbered and even on even-numbered dates.

The new hours were stated incorrectly in the morning newspaper.

The old hours were 6 a.m. to noon and 8 p.m. to midnight.

"The new hours will be slightly easier on people," said Mr. Upward.

Poor Season Recorded By Whalers

The British Columbia whaling fleet has finished its 1967 season which has been regarded as one of the poorest on record.

Total catch of all species was 496 compared to 651 last year. The total included 103 Fin whales, 304 Sperm and 89 Sei.

The early season was encouraging with a catch of 147 in April but catches declined during the summer. The Sei catch showed the heaviest decline, dropping from 350 a year ago.

MARKET WOES

The industry also suffered by a depressed oil market and a poor market for mink feed. The only market to hold was frozen whale meat for edible purposes.

Under an international agreement, the big Blue whales and Humpbacks were protected during the season.

The five whaling ships owned by Western Canada Whaling Co. operated out of Quatsino Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island. Their catches were curtailed by stiff competition from Russian and Japanese fleets which are accompanied by factory ships.

$218 Smash

A man who threw an empty wine bottle through the Government Street liquor store window was fined $50 in central court this morning and ordered to make restitution of $168 for the plate glass window.

Robert J. Cameron, 55, of 550 Johnson, admitted causing wilful damage. Police said the accused had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

Merger Vote In October On Peninsula

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A vote on amalgamation at the end of October or early November looms for residents of North Saanich and Sidney.

The vote is expected to follow a report on the pros and cons of amalgamation being prepared by the Stevenson-Kellog Co. of Vancouver.

The two councils last month engaged the company to study all aspects of amalgamation, including the advantages of remaining as separate municipalities.

REPORT TUESDAY

An interim report on the study will be made to both councils on Tuesday.

Municipal officials feel that a vote will be called before the December elections, possibly at the end of October.

North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cumming said if the vote is in favor of amalgamation he will press for the gradual integration of the administration services.

THREE YEARS

"I would not be opposed to electing a single council immediately for the two areas," he said. "But I feel the administration services should be integrated gradually—over a period of three to five years."

Amalgamation would ease the problem of long-range planning for the north end of the Saanich peninsula.

It would mean that Sidney would remain the sole, integrated commercial area for the enlarged municipality. North Saanich would remain largely residential.

Garbage Burning Still Allowed; Permits Needed

Burning of garbage is still permitted in the Greater Victoria area providing precautions are taken and permits have been issued.

In Oak Bay, Victoria and Saanich, garbage may be burned in an incinerator providing a screen cover is used and the fire is watched.

In Esquimalt, burning is permitted between 7 and 9 a.m. only and again a screen-top incinerator must be used and a watch kept over the fire.

Firemen Put Out Four Grass Fires

Saanich firemen were called out to three grass fires Tuesday afternoon.

A cigarette butt is thought to have started a blaze about 1:30 p.m. near the No. 3 firehall on Shelbourne.

Children are thought responsible for a blaze opposite Colquitz school about 2 p.m. and an incinerator fire at 3163 Orillia spread to the grass about 4 p.m.

Esquimalt firemen were called out Tuesday to a grass fire which started on vacant land below Matson Lodge.

THEY WANT TOURISTS TOO

Virgin Islanders Seek Investors

Canadian investment for the British Virgin Islands tourist industry is being sought in an eight-day visit by the territory's chief minister.

As part of the islands' program to develop interest in tourism there, the Hon. H. Lavity Stoutt made a one-day visit to Victoria Tuesday in which he paid his respects to Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes, Premier Bennett and other officials.

A spokesman in the minister's party said the Canadian tour was in line with the territory's first year of independent constitution.

But since the islands are not financially or economically independent there is interest in private development in the field of tourism.

GOOD RESPONSE

The assistant said that so far there had been very friendly response and "tremendous interest" by Canadians.

"We are both in the same hemisphere and we are both members of the Commonwealth," he observed.

The islands number around 40, containing a total 60 square miles and a population of 9,000.

Columbus named them after St. Ursula and her 11,000 virgins during his second voyage of discovery in 1493.

The Spanish named the main island of Tortola — for turtle doves — whose main centre is Road-Town.

The Virgins became a haven for buccaneers ("fifteen men on a dead man's chest, yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum") and Dead Man's Cay is where Blackbeard marooned a group of mutineers.

British forces routed the buccaneers, the French took over and the British recaptured the islands in 1672 in a series of colorful historic episodes that have helped to build a past upon which a tourist industry may thrive.

Sir Francis Drake in 1585 sailed through the channel now bearing his name to enter the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

It was not long before cotton, sugar, rum, molasses, lime juice, ginger, coffee, turtle shell and mahogany became staples of the economy and by 1774 the first assembly was named.

"I LETTSOM"

One of the more famous islanders was John Coakley Lettsom, born on Jost Van Dyke island in 1744, who became a Quaker physician, writer, poet and philanthropist, the founder of the London Medical Society.

Of himself, he wrote:

"I, John Lettsom
Blisters, bleeds and sweats 'em
If, after tha', they please to die,
I, John Lettsom."

Mr. Stoutt heads a strong majority government under the new constitution which became effective this year under administration of a seven-man legislative council.

Curators Here For Museum Discussions

How to run a coin collection. How to preserve basketwork. How to display stuffed animals. How not to preserve an oil painting.

These are the kind of things museum directors talk about when they hold a conference.

Nearly 100 directors (or curators) from many parts of British Columbia, including Fort St. John and Dawson Creek, are comparing notes this week at the 11th annual seminar of the B.C. Museums Association.

"The purpose of this yearly seminar is to improve our knowledge of museum techniques," said Col. J. W. D. Symons, president of the association and curator of the Maritime Museum.

Today was devoted to sightseeing. The curators visited the Maritime Museum, the Provincial Archives, Helmcken House, HMC Dockyard, the Royal Navy cemetry, Craigflower Manor, Craigflower school, the Maltwood Museum and the University of Victoria.

This afternoon they were guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at tea at Government House; then toured the Art Gallery and downtown areas.

CIVIC WELCOME

Thursday at 9 a.m. they will be given a civic welcome before moving into a series of lectures including how to equip a museum workshop, cataloguing and classification, designing and making display cases, coins and medals.

"We are really a very practical association" said provincial archivist Willard Ireland, "but we have lots of fun as well."

The association last met in Victoria in 1958.

Police Hold Two After Cache Found in Woods

Tire Tracks Followed By Officers

By TED GASKELL

Two Saanich policemen followed fresh tire tracks into the wooded area near Beaver Lake at about 6 a.m. today and recovered $3,000 worth of stolen goods.

The articles had been stolen just two hours earlier from two city stores.

Still missing is $345 in cash taken in the same robbery.

Constables David Richardson and Don Russell were on routine patrol when they saw the tracks.

THREE SLEEPING

About 400 yards away from the stolen goods they found a stolen car and not far from that three young persons were sleeping in another car.

A juvenile was released; a 19-year-old girl is charged with vagrancy and a 19-year-old youth is charged with possession of a sawn-off rifle found under the seat of the car.

The stolen property came from a Marshall-Wells store in the Fairfield Plaza and from the Variety Shop-Post Office in the same centre.

The money was taken from a wooden cash box in the post office section of the store.

Stolen property recovered included two television sets, a number of power tools, seven radios, a toaster, steam iron, hunting knives and fishing tackle, all from Marshall-Wells.

30 WATCHES

Also recovered were more than 30 watches taken from the variety store. Later this morning a set of car keys was found in the area.

The robbery occurred between 3:30 and 4 a.m., according to city police who said people in the vicinity heard noises.

Thieves apparently went into the variety store using tools taken from the hardware store.

City and Saanich police are working on the investigation.

Six sheets of fibreboard, a lead melting pot and four sheets of plywood were taken from a construction site at 562 Simcoe Wednesday evening.

Thieves also entered Day's Spring Works at 628 Discovery Street and stole 12 blank cheques.

$800 More Needed For Fire-Hit Indian Family

Another $800 is needed before Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams and their 11 children can move out of the condemned house in which they are living.

The Williams have been living in the hovel on Cole Bay Indian reserve since their own home and belongings were destroyed by fire last month.

Enough money has been raised to buy them clothing. The Indian affairs department has promised to help build a new home.

But extra funds are needed to instal plumbing and wiring in the as-yet unbuilt house.

Donations can be sent to Mrs. Sherrian White, 1328 Clover, or Chief Don Williams, 9045 West Saanich Road.

FORMER SOLICITOR DIES AT 77

Forrest L. Shaw, a former city solicitor and ex-B.C. Power Commission member, died here today at 77.

Mr. Shaw was for many years a key person in community projects in the Victoria area.

Although his parents were Canadian, Mr. Shaw was born in the United States. His parents returned to Canada when he was two years old, and he lived in Manitoba and Alberta until coming west in 1901.

Mr. Shaw was wounded in action with the 7th Battalion during the First World War, and after the war was called to the B.C. Bar in Victoria.

ONE OF FIRST

He practised law for many years and was appointed city solicitor in 1938. He was one of the first B.C. power commissioners, and served on many other boards and committees including the Victoria Rehabilitation Council, the Navy League, and the committee organizing Kiwanis Village.

Mr. Shaw was a past president of several organizations including the Victoria Kiwanis Club, the Canadian Club of Victoria and the Vancouver Island Division of the Navy League of Canada.

The latter position was held by Mr. Shaw for 10 years.

Mr. Shaw could trace his family history back to the year 1405 and the founder of the family, Shaw Mor.

GOVERNOR

One of his ancestors, Alexander Shaw, was present at the capture of Quebec in 1759 and later became the lieutenant-governor of the Isle of Man.

As the Liberal candidate in the 1960 provincial election Mr. Shaw forecast the eventual takeover of B.C. Electric by the provincial government.

During his campaign he stated that a Liberal provincial government would one day take over the private power corporation.

For his work as chairman of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council of Greater Victoria Mr. Shaw was named in the King's Honor List of 1946 and awarded the Order of the British Empire.

He is survived by the widow Edna, two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Baragar and Mrs. J. C. Milton and a sister, Lily.

Funeral arrangements will be announced Thursday.

Marijuana Sold To Mountie Agent

Terrence Latreille, 20, of 809 Penwell, pleaded guilty in central court this morning to trafficking in marijuana.

He was remanded to Sept. 15 for sentence.

Police said the accused, who chose immediate trial by magistrate, sold an ounce of a substance to an RCMP undercover man Aug. 31. Later analysis proved the substance to be marijuana.

Manager Denies Builders Defy Licencing Laws

'Give Us Names' Union Man Told

Charges that hundreds of contractors and sub-contractors are operating in Victoria without trades licences were denied this morning by city manager Dennis Young.

John Schibli, secretary of the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council, made the charge in a letter to Victoria city council.

Mr. Schibli stated that following an extensive survey of Greater Victoria it was discovered that only a small percentage of contractors were licenced in the municipalities in which they operated.

"It was established that out of virtually hundreds of contractors and sub-contractors engaged in the house construction industry, only a small percentage are licenced in all the municipalities in whose bounds they operate," the letter stated.

"We cannot fail but be amazed that this guaranteed and ready source of revenue is so casually neglected by your municipality while at the same time you are forced to annually increase the mill rate to meet an ever-rising budget."

INFORM US

Mr. Young's response to the charge was terse.

"If anyone has any knowledge of a business operating in Victoria without a business licence they should let us know the name of the firm immediately so that we rectify the situation," he said.

"What Mr. Schibli says may be true in other municipalities, I don't know. But it isn't true in Victoria."

In his letter Mr. Schibli also called for tighter control over the issuance of licences to protect the taxpayer.

"The indiscriminate granting of such licences is leading into a general decline in the quality of construction both resulting deterioration of whole areas and eventual loss of tax revenue to the municipality," the letter stated.

"Trades licences are not a control device," answered Mr. Young. "They are chiefly a revenue producing system. And we expect a degree of policing from within the industry concerned."

Ask The Times

Q.—Are there square dance clubs in Victoria which are open to single girls?—J.B.

A.—Victoria has a number of square dance clubs. For more information write to Cam York, 2544 Graham St., Victoria.

Q — Where might I write to in order to get a pen pal in the Canadian and U.S. forces overseas?

A.—Local military authorities suggest a brief letter to the Editor, Forces Sentinel, CFHQ, Ottawa, might help in the case of Canadian Forces and to make enquiries of the Director of Information Services, War Department, Washington, D.C., in the case of U.S. troops.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Proposals Expected This Week On Repairing Major Labor Split

Recommendations aimed at settling the split in the B.C. labor movement over the suspension of four local unions are expected to arrive here this week.

The recommendations have been made by a trouble-shooting team from the Canadia Labor Congress, headed by executive vice-president Bill Dodge.

Mr. Dodge said Tuesday in Ottawa that the recommendations have been approved by the executive committee of the congress and are being sent to the parties involved.

"I am not prepared to say what they are but we are not ordering the parties to refrain from giving them to the press once they have received them," he added.

The parties directly involved are the B.C. Federation of Labor and the Vancouver, Victoria, Duncan and Lumber Inspectors locals of the International Woodworkers of America.

SUSPENDED

The federation suspended the four locals in June for refusing to apologize for a public attack on CLC executive vice-president Joe Morris, a former regional president of the IWA.

The move split the labor movement in the province over the question of whether the federation should censor individual unions.

Indirectly involved are the Vancouver and District Labor Council and the IWA, both at regional and international level.

The labor council, forced by the suspension to order Vancouver IWA delegates to leave, asked the CLC to rule the locals should be reinstated, at least until the next CLC convention.

The IWA regional council protested the suspensions and also asked for the locals to be reinstated.

FIRST VISIT WITH GRANNY—This summer held a special highlight for the children of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Foulser of Thompson, Man. They came to visit their grandmother, Mrs. Cecile Foulser, 72 Cadillac Avenue. It was the first trip west for the young visitors. Here, they're seen with their grandmother and her other grandchildren, children of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Smith, 4475 Densmore Avenue. Mrs. Foulser holds Jimmy Foulser while his sister joins them in the back row. In front, left to right, are Franklyn Smith, Verne and Linda Foulser. Behind them are Arthur and Reggie Smith.

Will Marry Donald Peden on Saturday Evening

PARTIES ARRANGED FOR MISS LYNN BUSH

A round of parties stars the social calendar of Miss Lynn Bush, whose marriage to Donald Peden takes place this Saturday.

Miss Margaret Lockhart and Mrs. Alan Crane gave a surprise shower in the latter's Cochrane Street home. The bride-elect received a spray of roses and heather. Pink bells and streamers decorated her chair as she opened her gifts.

Miss Wendy Cannon entertained at a shower in the Parker Avenue home of her mother, Mrs. R. Y. Cannon. Pink and white flowers decorated the basket of gifts. Valerie Cannon helped the honor guest in opening the gifts. Pink roses en corsage were presented to Miss Bush. Corsages of white shasta daisies were received by her mother, Mrs. Frank Bush, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Ernie Peden. The hostess' aunt, Mrs. M. Spence, presided at the tea table which was centred with a decorated shower cake.

A surprise shower of culinary gifts and recipes was given by Miss Marilyn Symes. The affair was held in the Devon Road home of her mother, Mrs. G. M. R. Symes. The gifts were arranged in an unusual flowered container, made to resemble a coffee pot. The hostess' sisters, the Misses Leslie and Patricia Symes, assisted Miss Bush in opening the gifts. White shasta daisies were received by the bride-to-be and pale yellow carnations were presented to her mother and the groom-elect's mother.

The groom-elect's mother gave a tea in her Cadboro Bay Road home to honor her future daughter-in-law. Miss Valerie Peden assisted her mother in hostess duties. Pink carnations were presented to Miss Bush and her mother received a similar corsage in white.

Pink and white flowers and pink candles decorated the tea table at which presided the groom-elect's aunt, Mrs. R. C. McKenzie-Grieve; Mrs. A. W. Johns, Mrs. T. E. Pagdin and Mrs. Owen Jull. Assisting as serviteurs were Mrs. George Gordon, Mrs. Howard Craig and Mrs. Gordon Wallis.

Mrs. Peden gave another party to honor her son's fiancee. It was attended by many of the groom-elect's family. Among the guests were Mrs. Bush, Mrs. S. Tyrrell, the groom-elect's grandmother; Mrs. Doug Peden, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, Mrs. Eric Sowerby, Vancouver; Mrs. David Stodart, Ladysmith; Mrs. McKenzie-Grieve and Miss Valerie Peden.

Mrs. Frank Bush will give a trousseau tea for her daughter in her Senanus Drive home this evening. Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. G. M. R. Symes, Mrs. R. Y. Cannon, Mrs. George Gordon and Mrs. McKenzie-Grieve.

On Friday evening, the groom-elect's parents will entertain at a dinner in their Cadboro Bay Road home, on completion of the wedding rehearsal. Joining the bridal party will be several out-of-town guests. Covers will be laid for 20.

GULF ISLANDS HONEYMOON

Comerford-Grenier Vows Heard in Local Cathedral

Following their wedding in St. Andrew's Cathedral on Saturday, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Terry Comerford left on a honeymoon trip through the Gulf Islands.

The bride, the former Lynda Theresa Grenier, chose a satin gown encaged in point d'esprit trimmed with Venetian lace flower appliques at the sabrina neckline and sleeves tipping the elbow. A train, highlighted by a row of bridal buttons, swept back from the waistline and her veil of silk illusion was edged in a scalloped design, misting softly from a silk rosette. She carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Rev. William Kennedy officiated at the service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Grenier, 3028 Tillicum Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Comerford, 726 Suffolk Street. Mr. Grenier gave his daughter in marriage.

Yellow gladioli and white chrysanthemums decorated the church. Organist, Mrs. Leslie Gill accompanied the soloist, Miss Pat Malefant, who sang "Ave Maria" when communion was served and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride's attendants wore matching gowns of satin encaged in aquamarine lace, fashioned with panels sweeping back from bridal bows at the neckline. They carried crescent bouquets of white and yellow daisies.

Mrs. William Dawson was matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Margaret Comerford, sister of the groom, and Miss Beryl Yankoski were bridesmaids.

John Howroyd was best man and Bill Comerford, the groom's brother, and James Lynch ushered guests.

At the reception following in Holyrood House Dr. Vere Stuart proposed the toast to the bride. A three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, centred the head table, flanked by bouquets of yellow roses. Hanging baskets of summer flowers completed the decor.

For travelling, the new Mrs. Comerford chose a cream wool suit which she accented with black and orange accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home in Vancouver.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

DEAR EMILY WILKENS:

BAN ON BLACKHEADS

I have blackheads on my face. I have used all kinds of creams without success. Do you know of a remedy?

LaVerne R.

Creams are precisely the wrong treatment for blackheads. Blackheads result from heavy, wax-like secretions that accumulate in the pores and eventually become topped with a bit of dirt.

What's required, therefore, is a treatment which helps keep the excess facial oil under control. Use a medicated, gritty scrub (comes in several degrees of grittiness) two or three times a week, followed by an astringent.

Please don't attempt to squeeze blackheads by yourself. A professional cleansing by a dermatologist might be well worth the expense.

TWO-TONED

My hands and arms are quite freckled and brown. Because I use makeup, my face does not tan or freckle. How can I lighten the skin on my hands and arms?

When I wear sleeveless dresses, I am very conscious of the difference in color.

Helen M.

Special bleach cream preparations (available in drug stores) are sometimes effective for lightening skin. Use according to directions.

You might try a mild, natural bleach consisting of a whole skinned cucumber, 2 tablespoonsful of skim milk powder and a little water whirled together in your electric blender.

Apply this mixture to hands and arms for about twenty minutes, then wash off with cool water.

You might find that rubbing your arms and hands with the cut side of a lemon, followed by baby oil, would be helpful.

Be sure to cover up as much as possible when you're outdoors, via long-sleeved dresses, even gloves, or you'll undo all the good of your treatments.

SCARRED SKIN

I have a lot of scars on my legs. I would like to know how to hide or get rid of them.

Could I use a sunlamp to tan or burn the skin off to another layer?

I use makeup but this doesn't work very well and dries out my skin.

Do you know any other ways to remove or hide scars?

P.S. I don't like textured stockings or I'd wear them.

P.P.S. Help soon!

Joanie B.

Please don't even think of attempting anything so drastic as burning off your skin. Dermatologists do employ various methods of removing damaged skin, but this is a highly professional and sensitive procedure.

Until you're able to consult a dermatologist, investigate a special cream cover-up base, made especially for people with birth marks or skin defacings. It does camouflage scars most effectively.

LIVELY LIPS

Lately I've noticed brighter lip colors in magazines. Are lips coming back into focus? If so, what sort of colors are in fashion?

Also, my lips are too full and curvy. Could you give me some tips on this? Thank you.

"Teen-ager"

Lively, softly glowing lips are back in style, thank goodness. The "lip-less" look is gone.

Investigate this season's interpretations of the following: Coral - hued colors for redheads; pinky shades for blondes; cerise-y or rose pinks for brunettes.

The silvered or gilded shades are interesting for evening wear, and may be applied over your regular lipstick.

To make less of your full lips, apply a bit of base to camouflage the lipline. Powder lightly to set. Then apply lipstick within your lip contours, directly from the tube. A pencil-slim type lipstick is ideal for this.

Emily Wilkens welcomes letters, but cannot undertake to answer each one. She will use questions in her column of general interest. Address your letters to Emily Wilkens, care of this newspaper.

Abortion Laws Come Under Fire

WASHINGTON — A do-it-yourself abortion teacher who arrived here Tuesday to teach two Washington classes thinks it disgraceful that women who want to end their pregnancies should have to resort to her classes or her lists of foreign abortionists.

Every woman who wants an abortion should be able to get one under proper medical care in her home town, without delays, embarrassment, or excessive costs, according to Patricia Maginnis, head of the Association to Repeal Abortion Laws.

Her advice to women who will be attending her self-induced abortion classes: If you have enough money, have it done by a specialist.

The free public classes, open to both men and women, will be held here today and Thursday at the institute for policy studies.

Detailed printed instructions on self-induced abortion will be distributed, but the dangers in home-made methods will also be stressed, Miss Maginnis said. She said she would also distribute lists of abortionists located chiefly in Mexico and Japan. A "good percentage" of them are medical doctors, she said.

Miss Maginnis, 39, a quiet, gentle woman who describes herself as a sedate rabble-rouser, holds some far from sedate opinions on the American medical profession and hospitals when it comes to abortions.

"The medical profession apparently thinks that not all women are entitled to proper medical care for abortions," Miss Maginnis fumed in an interview. "It has always catered to the needs of the economically well-off, and it doesn't seem the least bit hesitant to carry over this attitude to abortion."

The well-off woman can afford the time and expense of a trip abroad for an abortion, or for appointments with doctors and psychiatrists to qualify for a legal therapeutic abortion, Miss Maginnis said. But the impoverished woman is in "the most disastrous situation" when she wants to end an unwanted pregnancy, she maintained.

Hospitals which end up treating women for unsuccessful self-abortion jobs "are out to moralize and to lecture with pitying tolerance," she said. "The hospitals are just barely climbing out of the primordial ooze, and the medical profession s responsible for this."

Miss Maginnis also criticizes women for meekly letting male legislators and doctors work out the laws which restrict abortions, generally to cases where the mother's life or health is endangered.

"The foetus is not a person, or an individual, or a human being," Miss Maginnis maintained. "An adult woman is at all times superior to a foetus, and our concern is that that woman has top priority for good medical care."

Miss Maginnis said she has had three abortions: one quick, successful procedure by a Tijuana abortionist and two self-attempts which landed her in the hospital with complications requiring, in one case, surgery and antibiotic therapy.

A part-time medical technologist at a San Francisco hospital, Miss Maginnis said her interest in abortion law reform began during her service with the women's army corps as a surgical technologist.

The Association to Repeal Abortion Laws is an "amorphous organization" with about a dozen active members and a mailing list of 3,000, Miss Maginnis said. As part of the group's "criminal activity," as she describes it, Miss Maginnis has openly courted arrest with her self-induced abortion classes to test California's law against advertising abortion methods. A test case involving one of her classes is now pending in a state appellate court.

Predicts Safe Medication

WASHINGTON (AP)—A professor of religion says "in a few years there will be safe do it yourself abortion medications" so women can decide whether to have a baby.

Professor R. Paul Ramsey of Princeton University made the prediction in a paper prepared for the opening today of an International Conference on Abortion, sponsored by the Harvard divinity school and the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

Rev. Robert Cunningham officiated at the marriage of the Speaker of the Senate, Hon. Sydney J. Smith and Mrs. Alice Gillespie Smith of Victoria. The immediate families of the principals were present at the ceremony in St. Andrews-Wesley United Church in Vancouver, held on Saturday, September 2. The groom's daughter, Mrs. W. Lawrence Portman, Kamloops, attended the bride. Mr. Gordon Smith, also of Kamloops, attended his father. Mr. Fred Weir, Fort St. John, gave his mother in marriage. The service was followed by a wedding supper, held in the University Club of Vancouver. The Honorable Speaker and Mrs. Smith are now in Ottawa and make their home at Apartment 2, 593 Laurier Avenue West.

Returns Home

Mrs. A. J. Thompson, 131 Helmcken Road, has recently returned home from a seven-weeks holiday in England and Ireland, where she visited with friends and relatives. In England she stayed in Portsmouth, Bridgewater, Somerset and London and in Ireland her stops included Dublin, Waterford, Enniscorthy and Carndonagh in County Dongal.

October Vows

The forthcoming marriage is announced of Karen Elizabeth Lendrum, younger daughter of Mrs. Charles Edward Lendum, 247 Government Street, to Mr. John Raymond Deighton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Deighton of Oliver, B.C. The wedding will take place on Saturday, October 7 at 7 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church. Canon Grahame Baker will officiate.

Novel Container

The gifts were contained in a model of a nurse's kit when Mrs. H. J. Munroe held a shower in her Zinnia Road home in honor of Miss Diane Soderberg, whose marriage takes place this Saturday. Corsages in yellow, pink and mauve tones were presented to the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. A. H. Soderberg and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. H. Stevenson. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. J. McCallum, Mrs. G. H. T. Munroe and Mrs. R. Williams. Games were played and refreshments served. There were 26 guests, friends and classmates of the bride-to-be.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Van Loon of Ottawa announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Catherine Patricia, to Mr. Glen Robert Hammond, son of Mrs. C. W. E. Evens, Toronto, and the late Mr. Reginald Hammond. The wedding will take place on Friday, September 22 in Ottawa.

At Ceremony

Travelling to Victoria to attend the wedding of Lynda Grenier and Terry Comerford were Mr. and Mrs. L. Grenier of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. R. Grenier of Kitchener, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. L. Jarvis of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. G. Grenier of Melfort, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. W. Dawson of Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. M. Campbell of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Molloy of Powell River, Mr. and Mrs. G. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. R. Comerford, Mr. and Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. R. Gordon, Miss Elizabeth Legg, Mr. T. Strayski, Mr. D. Poelvoorde, all of Vancouver; Mr. G. Filek, Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. J. Morris, Mr. J. Mockrie, all of Nanaimo; Miss K. Comerford, Qualicum Beach.

WILL LIVE IN PITTSBURGH

Following a honeymoon trip up-Island and to the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Joseph Cancilla will make their home in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Rev. N. S. Noel officiated on Saturday when Susan Louise Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Lewis, 3921 Smugglers Cover Road, wed the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cancilla, who were here from Pittsburgh. White and pink gladioli decorated St. George the Martyr Church for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride wore a full-length sheath of embroidered French lace over taffeta that was styled on empire lines, with a full back panel that was slightly en train. A cluster of silk organza roses held her bouffant veil of silk illusion net. As jewelry, she wore her grandmother's tiny pearl-studded locket. Her cluster bouquet contained pink roses and heather leaf and was bound with pale pink ribbons.

SIX ATTENDANTS

Mrs. William Pogson was matron of honor and bridesmatrons were Mrs. Gary Olson, Pittsburgh, sister of the groom; Mrs. Jos. Lepri, Fairfax, Virginia, another sister, and Mrs. Richard Lewis, Calgary, the bride's sister-in-law. The flower girls were Dana Lepri, Fairfax, the groom's niece, and Lori Lewis, Calgary, niece of the bride.

The senior attendants chose full-length gowns of pink chiffon over taffeta, fashioned on empire lines with bodices of dainty white lace and back panels of chiffon. They wore pink velvet bows in their hair and carried cluster bouquets of white carnations and heather leaf, entwined with white ribbons.

PINK AND WHITE

The flower girls' dresses had pink velvet sashes cinching the waists of the white lace bodices. The full-length skirts were of pink taffeta. They, too, wore bows in their hair and carried miniature replicas of the other bouquets.

Mr. Lewis was best man for his brother-in-law and ushering guests were Richard McPhee, Vancouver, cousin of the bride; Mr. Pogson and Jos. Lewis, the bride's brother.

Harvey L. Weber proposed the toast to the bride's happiness at the reception which followed in the Union Club. A bud vase of crystal and sterling silver topped the three-tier wedding cake.

As her going-away outfit, the bride donned a yellow wool suit, complemented with green accessories and yellow roses en corsage.

Other out-of-town guests that attended the wedding were Master Richie Lewis, Calgary; Mrs. Doug Henley, St. Catherines, Ont.; Mrs. J. F. Keen, Mr. and Mrs. R. D Hall, Mrs Vera Hoyland, Mr. and Mrs. K. Vogel, Gary Lind, Mrs. Philip Tulk, Mrs. D. McPhee, Greg McKinstry, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barclay and R. K. Robinson, all of Vancouver.

Outdoor Beauty

That lovely fair complexion of yours was never meant to stand up to the harsh summer weather. Be kind to it, see that it is well protected when you're golfing, lazing on the beach, or anywhere in the great outdoors. Wear a wide, shady hat and sunglasses — this will keep you from squinting your eyes. Before you venture out smooth on your oil of Olay before making-up, and don't forget your neck. Your skin will maintain a milky look despite the drying effect of the summer.

Great New Coiffure Helps Problem Poodle

By PENNY SAVER

Friends of ours have a poodle named Mimette, who, when she's standing still, looks as if she were supposed to be a china ornament. Never having seen Mimette looking anything but absolutely immaculate, I was surprised when, the other day I saw a very dingy-looking dog rolling exuberantly in a flower-bed mud-bath . . . long hair matted and most-unladylike. When my friend called Mimette and this mangy little creature came galloping forward, I could hardly believe my eyes. Her hair hadn't been clipped during summer vacation, and it appeared that mudbaths had become one of her favorite sports.

My friend informed me that after she had given Mimette a thorough scrubbing she was going to give her a much-needed haircut. She had just bought a book that gave explicit directions on how to clip poodles — showing not only the standard poodle styles but some "show" cuts as well. The show clips included are the "English Saddle," "Continental Puppy Kennel," and "Royal Duchess." This book includes a variety of terrier clips as well. You can groom your poodle (even if she likes mud-baths) to be Queen of the Kennel with this dandy book.

If your pooch is feeling a little run-down after the long summer, why not buy him a great food supplement I found in one shop? This is a veterinary yeast that acts as a natural tonic in a dog's diet. Containing the Vitamin B complex and essential minerals, this food additive will give your dog that extra ounce of pep he deserves to have.

Specially formulated for cats and dogs, this food comes in two sizes of bottles, the large with 120 tablets priced at $1.40, and the small with 60 tablets priced at 85 cents. You can also buy this food especially prepared for birds, costing $1.25 for two and a half ounces.

If you've always had a yen to own a really unusual pet, a series of booklets sold in this shop will give you all the information you need to know for some of the strangest pets possible. How about a baby alligator in the bathtub or a turtle or terranium? More common pets like mice, gerbels, rats, guinea pigs, snakes and skunks are also fully described in these books. Priced at 39 cents each, details of the creature's history, habitat, breeding, eating, housing and feeding habits are all included.

If you'd like to pamper your pet with these items please give me a call at 382-3131.

Enjoy Guests and Holidays

Visits and holidays have starred the days of Ucluelet and Tofino during the late-summer months.

Mrs. Kenneth MacKenzie and her two daughters have returned to their home, "Storm Bay" in Tofino after spending the summer visiting with relatives in England and Scotland. Mrs. MacKenzie is on the staff of Tofino Elementary School.

Mrs. Robert Douglas and her children, Patricia and Stuart, are holidaying with friends and relatives in Vancouver. Also holidaying in Vancouver are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Singleton and their children, Mary and Danny Singleton.

Mrs. Walter Guppy has returned to her home in Tofino. She and her daughter, Karen, spent a week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. William Archibald of Metchosin. Karen is now enrolled in St. Ann's Academy.

Former Tofino residents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hilmer Wingen, who now live in Victoria, spent the summer with their son, Robert T. Wingen, at Tofino.

Miss Linda Busswood travelled from Vancouver to spend a holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Douglas Busswood of Tofino. Miss Busswood is on the staff of the Holy Family Hopsital.

Miss Loretta Sutherland travelled to Vancouver accompanied by Miss Wendy Parker and Master Kevin Parker, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Parker, to spend a short vacation on the mainland.

Colorful Ceremony Held in Royal Theatre

GRADUATES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Years of study for 1967 graduates of St. Joseph's Hospital's schools of nursing, radiography and medical technology came to a colorful climax on Sunday evening when they received their diplomas and medals in a ceremony at the Royal Theatre.

The graduates were presented by P. H. Blewett, the hospital's assistant administrator. Their diplomas and medals were awarded to them by the hospital's executive director and director of the school of nursing, Dr. E. G. Q. Van Tilburg and Sister Mary Ronalda.

Mayor Hugh Stephen brought greetings from the city of Victoria and Dr. J. D. Stenstrom, president of the hospital's medical staff, offered congratulations. Hon. W. D. Black represented the provincial government.

Msgr. M. T. O'Connell gave the invocation and chairman of the graduation exercises was R. J. Nation, member of the hospital's board of management.

Highlight of the proceedings came when Miss E. L. Knighton, assistant director of the school of nursing, presented the bursary and award winners.

The bursary for the faithful observance of the school's motto "Not for Ourselves Alone" was won by Darleen Lynda Doersam and the bursary for the highest average in provincial examinations went to Margaret Geraldine Almond. This bursary is presented by the hospital's auxiliary.

The alumnae's bursary, given to the graduate receiving the highest average in the three years of examinations, was received by Joan Kathleen Oswald.

Violet Anutooshkin received the award for proficiency in pediatric nursing, Joan A. Suter received the award for obstetrical nursing and the award for operating room technique went to Noreen Ann Dirks. The three awards are given by the active staff of the three departments.

The Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, donated an award for proficiency in psychiatric nursing. This went to Elizabeth-Louise Phyllis Greenwood. The alumnae's award for proficiency in X-ray technology was given to D. Marie Boomhower.

Christina E. Scott received the alumnae's Vancouver Branch's award for the highest average in first and second year examinations. She also won the Florence Nightingale Chapter IODE's award for proficiency in bedside nursing by a second-year student.

The award for the highest average obtained during the first year of study, donated by The Canadian Nurse, went to Sister Christina Roelofsen.

Joan Kathleen Oswald gave the valedictory and A. E. Soles, principal-elect of Selkirk College, addressed the graduates.

William Tickle led the orchestra that added to the evening's pleasure. Stanley Martin sang, accompanied by Richard Proudman. Also giving vocal selections were Ervin Drake, Irvin Graham, Jimmy Shirl, Al Stillman, Malvina Reynolds, Allen Greene, Harry Belafonte, Don Black and John Barry.

Dad Losing Grip on Power

QUEBEC (CP) —Gone is the day of Big Daddy, the all-powerful papa who once had roost-ruling legal authority to dominate families of the Western world.

The trend today is to Ma and the kids, a white-haired grandfather from France told the international conference of the family which finished a week-long session recently.

Georges Desmottes, social science director of France's national school of public health, made his conclusions after a scholarly study of the legal status of the family.

Even in the Soviet Union, China, Asia and Black Africa, Mr. Desmottes said, the rights of women and children are on the march to shatter ancestral tradition.

So successful has been the drive for equality of the sexes, he said, that in Muslim nations polygamy is feeling the pinch and in many cases is on the way out.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Here, Forget What Others Think

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently, my 30-year-old son and I had to make an extensive cross-country trip.

We drove and stopped at motels over night. The average single room was $11. A twin-bedded room was $13. It seemed only sensible for us to share a twin-bedded room for $13 instead of spending $22 for two singles.

When I recounted our experiences to friends, I casually mentioned the fact that my son and I had shared a room each night, and you should have seen the eyebrows shoot up at the implied "indecency" of such an arrangement.

Do you see anything "indecent" about a mother and her 30-year-old son sharing a room? Or am I too stupid to see it?

CALIFORNIAN

DEAR CALIFORNIAN: The only "stupidity" in this situation would be for you to seriously concern yourself with what others think.

DEAR ABBY: I know it's awfully early to be worrying about Christmas, but I am. You see, last year we had lots of sickness in our family, and owed a lot of money, so we decided not to give Christmas presents to anyone excepting our children. Not even to each other.

We asked all our relatives not to give us anything this year because we couldn't give them anything.

Well, along came Christmas, and all our relatives gave us real nice gifts, just like we hadn't said a word. Abby, my husband felt so bad. It was the first time I had ever seen him cry.

When we asked our relatives why they gave us gifts, they said, "Because we wanted to, not because we expected anything in return."

This year we are still in debt, but my husband says he is not going to be the poor relative again, and he will borrow the money to buy everyone Christmas gifts.

I don't think he should, but he has a lot of pride.

Weren't our relatives wrong to give us presents when we asked them not to? How should it be handled this year?

CHRISTMAS SADNESS

DEAR SADNESS: Had your relatives been able to foresee your husband's reaction to their gifts, I'm sure they would have respected your wishes. But their generosity exemplified the true Christmas spirit — giving without expecting anything in return.

I think your husband is wrong to consider going deeper into debt to salve his pride. Do your best to persuade him not to. And ask your relatives to please omit gifts this year.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and children have been visiting my wife's parents in the east for the past three weeks.

Last night I became lonesome and wanted to hear her voice, and tell her that I missed her, so I picked up the phone and called her. I realized that it was nearly one o'clock in the morning where she was, but she told me that she and her mother always sat up talking until that late.

When she answered the phone, she gave me a two minute lecture on why I shouldn't have called her at that hour. Then she asked me what I wanted.

Do you think I was out of line calling her at that hour?

LONESOME JOE

DEAR JOE: Not if you were certain she would be up. Perhaps your unexpected call startled her. But if that's the way your wife continues to react to your expression of affection and loneliness, I'll be looking for another Dear Abby letter (from her) with a bigger problem.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

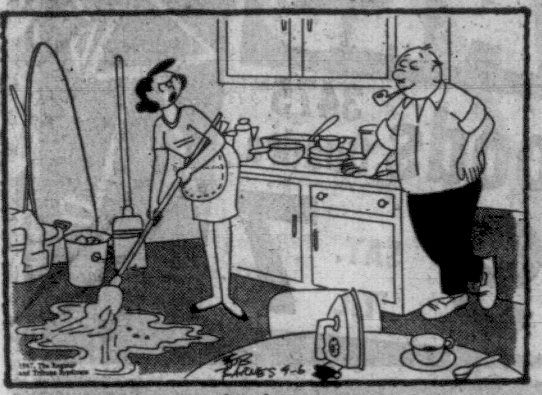
THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes



"Will you please explain how come we women are stupid enough to do all this work if we control 80 per cent of the wealth."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

Many women must prepare rich and interesting meals for their husbands, either because the husband has an incredible appetite or because it makes him feel loved and his wife loves him. This poses a problem.

It is far easier to resist the chilren's hot dogs and popsickles than it is to resist sauce or strawberry shortcake. A woman plans for self-improvement may succeed or fail, depending on her husband's reaction to them and whether or not he is inconvenienced by them.

It is not uncommon for a woman to drive her husband mad with renewed, firm declarations about the diet she is about to start, and continually breaks over, because she cannot resist the temptations of her own cooking. A woman should first consult her husband about her diet plans. Sympathy and cooperation on the husband's part can reinforce the wife's commitment to carry through on her diet.

Some women have chubby husbands who would be interested in sharing their diet and exercise time with them. In other instances a husband might be willing to arrange to have several of his main meals at lunchtime during the work week. If, on the other hand, the husband is annoyed or uninterested, the wife will have to rely on her own willpower. There are, however, some practical tips about how to maintain a diet at the same time you feed a famished husband.

Perhaps the most important thing a woman can do in an attempt to modify her own food intake is to become familiar with the caloric and carbohydrate gram value of various foods. It enables her to plan meals which are not excessively high in caloric or carbohydrate values.

She can then eat the same thing her husband does, but in smaller portions, without paying the consequences in weight gain. For example, she might serve strawberries in port wine instead of strawberry shortcake, broiled or baked chicken instead of fried chicken, broccoli instead of lima beans.

Perhaps one of the greatest enemies of the housewife's diet is the temptation to eat between meals. This can be disastrous if she keeps her own favorite food in store for the family. Purchase these just as you need to for the rest of the clan.

Another good trick is to keep a glass of celery, carrot, and cucumber sticks for nibbling between meals. Sipping a low-calorie hot beverage or soft drink can pacify one's appetite without adding calories. You can allow yourself a certain number of calories for an afternoon pick-me-up of fruit or fruit juice.

ENTER FLOWERED TIGHTS

LONDON (UPI)—The youngest of London's top couturiers took a leaf—or a petal—from the flower people Tuesday and solved the problem of how to keep warm in winter in a miniskirt.

Clive, 33, showed a winter collection full of dresses, tunics and coats, six, seven, and eight inches above the knee. To keep legs warm, he wrapped them in flower-printed lace wool tights.

"Skirts are uncompromisingly short," he said.

His other new ideas: Waders such as fishermen have never worn; a bathrobe in a strangely shimmering fabric called cellophane brocade, colored mermaid blue-green, that looked as if it would melt if worn near a bath.

Actress Diane Cilento, wife of actor Sean Connery, sat in on the show and fell for a delicate ground-length evening dress.

ONLY ONE NATION

'Extend Language School Rights'

QUEBEC (CP)—Jean Martineau, chairman of the Canada Council and a leading Montreal lawyer, took a strong stand for Canadian unity Tuesday when he told the Canadian Bar Association:

"There is only one Canadian nation. I was born a Canadian and I want to die a Canadian, a French - speaking Canadian."

Mr. Martineau made the statement at the bar association's annual meeting after listening through a panel discussion in which some speakers referred to "Canada's two nations."

As chairman of the discussion he claimed the right to last word and spoke in English, saying language and school rights should be extended throughout Canada.

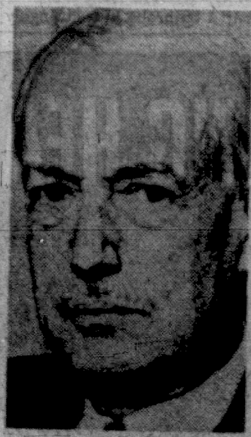
"I think that if we have been able to do this in Quebec, for so well and so long, it can be done in the rest of Canada."

At a news conference following an earlier official speech to the meeting, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, federal justice minister, rejected the political solutions for Quebec envisaging particular status for the province, two nations or associate states.

He said:

"I am closing the door to a solution which would destroy the country."

In his view, constitutional change could only be brought about through adoption of a bill of rights which would guarantee linguistic as well as human rights.



MARTINEAU
. . . strong unity stand

Mr. Trudeau said he thought "particular status for Quebec is the biggest hoax ever foisted on the people of Quebec and the people of Canada."

It meant a different thing in Quebec it did in the rest of Canada. It couldn't work. The more the powers of Quebec increased, the more the presence of Quebec in Ottawa was reduced.

He would fight for solutions such as particular status if he thought English - Canadians were "fools enough to accept them."

He said:

"The special status boys work on the theory you want your cake and want to eat it too."

PROVINCE COOLING OFF

Temperatures dropped as much as 23 degrees in the fire-swept southern interior of British Columbia Tuesday, and the forecast called for the cooling trend to sweep into the hard-hit Kamloops area today.

Castlegar toppled to 70 Tuesday from Monday's 93, and Revelstoke was down to 66 from 88. Kamloops was the warmest spot in B.C. at 88, but the temperature was expected to drop at least 10 degrees today.

The largest of the province's 244 fires, a 45,000-acre blaze at Shuswap Lake near Kamloops, slowed considerably Tuesday after flaring at the weekend.

RAINFALL NEEDED

Guards were being run to the north in an attempt to bring the fire under control, but forestry officials said only a heavy rainfall could extinguish it.

The best the weatherman could offer was occasional showers, which could be offset by predicted gusty winds and lightning.

Meanwhile, a new fire in the Kamloops district broke out Tuesday and was still burning out of control today across 10,000 acres on a steep mountainside near Lumby, southeast of Kamloops.

In the Vancouver forest district, where the fire hazard has dropped to moderate, more than 1,000 acres of timber at the northeast end of Lillooet Lake went up like a match Tuesday when struck by lightning. Then the fire petered out and was quickly brought under control.

HEIRESS to John Deere implement fortune, Mrs. William Wakeman has been charged with aggravated assault in shooting of her husband. He was shot in back with .22 revolver and is in fair condition at a Palm Beach hospital. Couple, shown above, maintains estate at Palm Beach and a home in Greenwich, Conn. (AP Wirephoto.)

'WITH 99 PER CENT INFALLIBILITY'

Crystal Spots Forest Fires

By GRANT SIMS

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Nature has accommodated man this year in the U.S. Pacific Northwest by giving him more than 110,000 acres of blazing timber on which to test a new fire-fighting tool.

The new tool is a man-made crystal one ten-thousandth of an inch square. It has been tagged by U.S. forest service scientists as having the potential of saving several million dollars annually in fire suppression costs.

Called indium antimonide, the tiny crystal is the key ingredient in infra-red light detection equipment which has been developed into a fire-spotting device that can pinpoint a campfire eight miles away.

TAKES FAST LOOK

Stanley Hirsch, project leader in charge of Fire Scan research, said an airplane equipped with an infra-red detector can scan 3,000 square miles an hour compared with 600 miles an hour coverage by visual air patrol.

"About seven such planes could effectively patrol all the nation's forests," he said. "They would cost a total of $2,800,000 and I believe they would save that much during their first year of operation."

Two planes are being operated in the U.S. northwest this year. One, a Convair flying laboratory equipped with several thousand pounds of equipment, is designed to fly in the wake of thunderstorms and take infra-red pictures of fires only minutes old. The other, smaller, plane is used to record infra-red images of larger fires.

SEE THROUGH SMOKE

The Fire Scan can see through smoke and clouds. It takes a perfect map of the fire and registers its intensity at various points.

J. C. Robertson, regional forestry co-ordinator, said infra-red detection is saving time, effort and money.

Hirsch said equipment in the flying laboratory has detected 540 fires since it began flying regular missions in July.

"In pine forests the unit can zero in on a coffee can of burning gasoline with 99 per cent infallibility. The plane can be five miles away and three miles above a grassland fire of no more than four square inches and pick it up in virtually every instance."

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our many friends, neighbours and relatives during our recent time of sorrow in the loss of our dear Mother, Grandmother and Sister, Rose A. Severson.

—Mr. and Mrs. D. White and family. Mrs. D. Merrett.

9 IN MEMORIAM

PREECE — In loving memory of Ron, a dear husband, Dad and Grandpa, who passed away Sept. 6, 1966.

To hear his voice, to see his smile,
To sit and talk with him awhile,
To be together in the same old way
Would be our dearest wish today.
Dear Lord forgive a silent tear,
A constant wish that he were here,
Others are taken, yes we know,
But he was ours and we loved him so.

—Sadly missed but lovingly remembered by his wife Ada and family, Myrna, Chuck and Dale.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The late Grant Marsee of Detroit was one of our best players but, more than that, he was one of the nicest people to play with or against.

Grant was confined to a wheel chair due to Korean War wounds but he was always cheerful and pleasant. What's more, he was unfailing in his courtesy to both partners and opponents.

Today's hand shows Grant's careful bidding style. He had a tremendous hand for his one heart opening. His double of one spade was for takeout so that his partner's two heart bid really didn't promise anything but Grant felt justified in going on to three, whereupon his partner realized that his king and two jacks ought to be enough for Grant.

There wasn't much to the play but it does illustrate how an expert declarer handles the problem of when and how to play trumps.

We don't know just what he would have done against a diamond opening but West put the king of spades on the table.

Grant took his ace and led the suit right back. He wanted to establish dummy's jack and ten of spades as threats against the defenders.

West took his queen and found the diamond shift but it was too late to embarrass Grant. He took his ace of diamonds and played ace and king of hearts. The game was match point duplicate and he wanted an overtrick in case hearts broke. The second heart lead to dummy's king left East with the good queen of hearts but the contract was home.

Grant led dummy's jack of spades and discarded his four of diamonds when East ruffed high. Later, Grant entered dummy with the nine of trumps and discarded a club on the ten of spades.

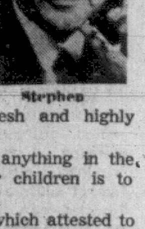
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The story of The Emperor's New Clothes is ages old and a major credit to the story-telling genius of Hans Christian Andersen.

But even he would have flipped in that big storybook land in the sky to see the way the tale is told today.



Stephen

A modern day version of the story of the vain emperor who buys an invisible wardrobe filled an hour of time on CBS-TV Monday.

It rocked with an original musical score and featured a string of characters who lent it a lively air.

Of the New York Prince Street Players, the best of the lot was Marcie Stringer as the trumpet-blowing Queen. Her comedy was fresh and highly amusing.

The jazzed up version didn't lose anything in the telling. The secret of a program for children is to capture their attention and imagination.

Our two moppets were captivated which attested to the measure of the program's success. It will never be another Wizard of Oz or Peter Pan but it filled the bill this particular evening.

The Charles Schultz "Peanuts" character commercials for the cake products didn't harm the program either. In fact, it was a pleasure to wait for the commerks.

Some of the season's new shows made an appearance during the past couple of days. Among them were NYPD and the Second Hundred Years.

It's too early to try to gauge their potential, however NYPD looks as if it will do while the Second Hundred Years already suffers from canned laughtrackitis.

The networks have been showing off their new season wares in specially-produced halfhour shows.

CBC's Get Into The Act featured music, song and interviews with series stars.

CBS filled a half-hour with clips from their new runs.

NBC had Danny Thomas host Remember Next Year? a romp through scenes of the primetime lineup.

Everyone placed the emphasis on color. That is everyone but Channel 12 who offered a lacklustre glance at their primetime future.

There will be the odd CBS show in color but there will also be too much black-and-white in such old series as 12 O'Clock High, Perry Mason, Burke's Law, McHale's Navy and others.

These make up a new television season?

Sailor Drove While Drunk, Impaired

An 18-year-old sailor, Robert Travis of CFB Esquimalt, was sentenced to 14 days in jail in central court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was also fined $300 when he admitted to impaired driving.

His licence was suspended for one year.

Police said the accused was followed Aug. 25 by a patrol car and stopped. He could not find his licence although it was clearly visible. He passed out and had to be taken to Naden Hospital.

September 3 he was seen driving his car in reverse along Caledonia Avenue. He struck a parked car and continued to drive in reverse and struck a utility pole. A breath test gave a reading of .10.

John B. Morgan, 1233 Roy Road, was sentenced to 20 days in jail and his licence was suspended for 18 months when he pleaded guilty to a second offence of impaired driving.

Police game him a breath test which gave a reading of .17, after his car had been seen weaving along the Patricia Bay Highway.

Ray D. Taylor was fined $300 and his licence suspended when he also admitted to impaired driving.

He too was stopped on the Patricia Bay Hishway after driving at more than 60 miles an hour. A .15 reading was recorded by the breath test equipment.

Schools Head Count Not Totalled

Reports on total enrolment in Victoria schools will start coming in to the school board office late today, according to deputy superintencent of schools A. J. Longmore.

"We have asked principals to wait until this afternoon before they send reports," he said.

"The first day is always confusing, but by the end of the second school day we should have an accurate picture."

The district's total is expected to be over 31,000 pupils. School officials expect to be able to arrange distribution to prevent any classes with more than 39 students.

Another 9,000 students have enroled in schools in the surrounding areas, bringing the total school population from Sooke to Sidney to over 40,000.

At least two extra teachers are required in the Sooke district, and senior secondary enrolment in Saanich was reported heavier than expected.

New Jaycees To Be Inducted

Induction of new members will be held at a general meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Ingraham Hotel at 6:30 this evening.

The meeting, the first of the season, will be chaired by president George Robbins.

MEETINGS CALENDAR

ON VIEW AT GALLERY

Japanese Exhibit To Open Friday

Japanese consul general Tetsuo Ban will come from Vancouver Friday to open an important exhibition at the Greater Victoria Art Gallery.

Arts of Japan, Kamakura to Edo, is the title of the show which will be at the gallery until Oct. 1.

This is part of the gallery's long-range plan of organizing, over a period of years, a series of exhibitions covering major cultures and epochs of world art — The Age of Elegance and Three Thousand Years of Chinese Art are past examples.

Many of the 150 works of art, ranging from the austere to the gorgeously decorative creations of the 12th to mid-19th centuries, have been loaned specially for the occasion by leading American museums and collectors.

The core of the exhibition consists of two dozen works, some of exceptional rarity, which Mrs. Fred Pollard of San Francisco has collected for the Victoria Gallery during the past three years.

Most of her major acquisitions of those years have been held unannounced in the Gallery's storage rooms, awaiting their first showing in this long-planned exhibition.

Box Office Opened For City Symphony

Frequent telephone calls to the Victoria Symphony office in Dunlop House, enquiring about season ticket sales, have resulted in opening of the box office at Eaton's a week earlier than the Sept. 11 date originally planned.

First day's business, Tuesday, after the advance season ticket sale in June, indicated that the demand will set an all-time high before the season opens, Oct. 1 and 2.

Scheduling of eight guest artists — seven of international stature — presence of new music director and conductor, Laszlo Gati, and the recent appointment of fine British first desk player, Ray Owens, as concert master, no doubt has bearing on the rising tide of enthusiasm.

In addition, symphony audiences will have the opportunity of hearing Handel's Messiah, Mozart's Requiem and Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass, sung by Victoria Choral Society with the orchestra.

An all-Beethoven program will mark the opening concerts, in which the distinguished Italian violinist, Pina Carmirelli, will play the Beethoven Violin Concerto.

The box office is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

ANYONE FOR SPEBQSA?

A drive for members has been launched by the Victoria chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

The local singing group recently became a licensed chapter of the society which has a membership of 37,000 members in the United States and Canada.

It meets at the Crystal Garden each Tuesday at 8 p.m. Present membership is 35.

BUCHART GARDENS. OPEN EVERY DAY 9 A.M. to 9:30 P.M. LIGHTS OFF 11 P.M.—Here's an exciting, thrifty idea. Since there is no extra charge for the romantic after-dark illumination, come early in the evening, enjoy these 30 acres of heavenly beauty by daylight, refresh yourself with a cup of your favorite beverage served at the coffee bar, then leisurely stroll throught the gardens after dark under the romantic night lighting. So grand, Reader's Digest featured them in it's big American issue, June '67, Canadian issue June '66. To see the fabulous Sunken Garden and the spectacular "Ross Fountains" is worth a visit in itself. Surrounded by sheltering hills, the gardens are usually warm and balmy in the evening. So refreshing! So lovely! So relaxing! Take your family, out-of-town guests. Plan a visit now!
EVER CHANGING, ALWAYS LOVELY as the seasons come and go, these 30 acres of heavenly beauty are particularly inviting right now.

Course Will Outline Beethoven Sonatas

For the first time in Victoria the entire cycle of Beethoven's 32 piano sonatas will be presented in performance and commentary as a University of Victoria non-credit course.

The course will be given by Robin Wood, FRAM, director of Victoria School of Music, in the University's Evening Division program.

Mr. Wood will discuss historical aspects of the works with reference to Beethoven's life and his role in the development of the sonata form.

No special qualifications are required to enroll for the series which will take plaace Wednesday evenings, 8 to 9:30 p.m., starting Sept. 20.

The course will be held over 15 weeks, in the Education-Arts Building, Room 144. Mr. Wood will perform on the University's superb new concert grand piano.

Telephone inquiries may be made to 477-6911, Local 395.

'LUXURIATE IN WELTER OF SYMPTOMS'

20 Million in U.S. 'Cardiac Neurotics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York psychologist said Tuesday almost 20,000,000 Americans have what he termed "the world's most useful neurosis," an imaginary heart ailment.

Dr. Frederick A. Whitehouse of Hofstra University described the "cardiac neurotic" at the closing session of the annual convention of the American Psychological Association.

"What better excuse is there for lack of effort or for failure than to have a heart condition?" he said, contending many people may think themselves dangerously ill when, in fact, they're not.

"One may get frequent expressions of concern. One can luxuriate in a welter of symptoms. . . . Furthermore, one can easily control the family. For who can argue with or resist someone who exhibits alarming symptoms or may drop dead?"

How can a person get the idea he has a heart ailment, when he doesn't really have one?

It can result from an incorrect diagnosis by a doctor, Whitehouse said. Or a patient may interpret the physician's attitude to mean heart trouble when he has not said any such thing. Some may stick to the idea of heart disease even when the physician denies it.

Strike Vandalism

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP)—Approximately $1,000 damage was done by vandals during the week end at the strike-bound Estevan brick plant. Stacks of bricks were pushed over while others, strapped with steel bands and ready for shipment, had the bands cut.

Surgical Mortality Rate Cut

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A recent U.S. health survey report showed that each year nearly 14 million operations are performed. Many of the hospital records show that, especially in the past 20 years, since penicillin became available, the immediate mortality rate for many operations has gone down below 1 per cent. The more skillful the surgeon, usually the less time he takes to perform the operation and with this speed, the shock to the patient and the hospital mortality is lowered.

Alvarez

In 1905-1907, when I was an intern and resident, the immediate mortality after abdominal operations was high — sometimes so high that 1 in 4 people died before leaving the hospital. Much of this tremendous mortality seemed to me to be due to the custom in those days of purging a patient violently the day and night before operation. As a result, the man or woman came to the operating table looking and feeling half dead. I managed to put a stop to that, by showing my professors that the mortality of emergency abdominal operations was much less than that of "interval" operations, in which there was time for the so-called "preparation."

★ ★ ★

I then went to the library and spent many hours reading, until I learned that the idea of "preparation" for an ordeal was a very ancient one that originated with savages. When a boy is initiated into a tribe, he is often tortured a bit to show that he "can take it," and in preparation for this, he must fast, he must stay awake all night, he must keep away from women, he may be purged, and he may even get a drug that will make him vomit. In this way he "is made clean inside."

The young knights of King Arthur's Court, before they got their shield and spurs, had to "watch their armor" all night. In Greek times, purgation was supposed to rid a person of harmful "humors" — supposed fluids that were thought to have most to do with producing illness. When an orator was to undergo the ordeal of debating with another orator, he was first purged.

★ ★ ★

In recent years, in big institutions like the Mayo Clinic, the mortality for interval operations, such as the removal of the gallbladder or of an appendix, averages less than 1 per cent.

I just read in the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company that in an Iowa hospital, in the last 10 years, 2,866 "interval" appendectomies were performed without a single death. Naturally, with a perforated appendix the mortality was higher.

Park Concert Features Variety Program

The final performance in the "Concert in the Park" series in Beacon Hill Park will be a variety show.

Providing part of the entertainment will be a 19-piece band playing the Canadian Centennial March, a new version of "O Canada", a medley of old favorites, a "Star Spangled Spectacular" and the popular "Ca-Na-Da" song.

Also featured will be bass-baritone Don McManus, the City of Gardens Chapter of the Sweet Adelines and the Irving Land Trio from the Red Lion Inn.

The concert starts at 2:30 Sunday at the Cameron Bandshell.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Kevin Swanson, age 7, of Sioux City, Iowa, for his question:

What kind of bird is the quetzal?

The quetzal is a shy and very quiet bird and few people ever see him. He is at home in the misty jungles of Guatemala and in some other parts of Central America. There he sits quite still for hours, perched on a bough among the thick, shady leaves and bright tropical flowers. Chances are, you would not notice him. But if a sunbeam happened to catch his glistening feathers, you would know for sure that you were looking at the most beautiful bird in the world.

The handsome fellow of four feet long, but more than half of his length is tail. And what a tail! Its trailing, vivid green feathers glitter like polished metal and they curve gracefully down in a train more than two feet long. Under the swooping train he has a shorter tail of black and white that is stiff and shiny. His head is crowned with a stiff, kingly crest that curves down and around his cheeks. The feathers on his head and wings, his back and bib are of the same vivid, jewel-toned green as his regal train. The soft feathers of his chest and tummy are glistening strawberry red.

Mrs. Quetzal wears quieter colors and she has no royal train. The handsome bird-of-paradise and most other gaudy birds tend to neglect their drab wives and children. But not so the handsome quetzal bird. He helps Mrs. Quetzal find a suitable hollow for a nest in a log or tree trunk. And he takes his turn sitting on the pale eggs until they hatch.

Sacred to Indians

This is quite a problem for the handsome bird. The nest is a crowded hole and he has to tuck in his long tail feathers. But, being a good father, he finds away. When his turn comes to sit on the eggs, he enters the little woody doorway head first. Then he wriggles and turns himself around to face the door. While he does this, he manages to turn his long, brilliant tail up and over his back. When he finally settles down, the jewel green tips are hanging over his head and face. Mrs. Quetzal is out foraging for food. When she returns, her handsome husband wriggles out, head first, finds a perch and once again, he long tail feathers can droop down in a graceful train.

Quetzal birds catch a few insects as they flutter from bough to bough. But their favorite food is fruit — and there are plenty of lush berries in the dense, misty jungle. The parent birds are never far apart, but quetzals are not very chatty. They have little to say and they never sing.

The quetzals have more than 30 gorgeous cousins in other parts of the world. The handsome relatives are called trogon birds and most of them are rarely seen. The lovely feathers of this family of birds are very frail and easily fall from their delicate skins. It is almost impossible to stuff a fragile quetzal specimen for display. However, the beautiful bird was sacred to the ancient Aztec Indians of Central America. They gathered its feathers and skillful experts used them to make capes and head-dresses for their kings and royal princes.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to Peggy Nygren, age 11, of St. Edward, Nebraska, for her question:

Is it true that some stars never rise and set?

It is true that some of our starry constellations never rise and set. Polaris hangs above the North Pole, marking the North Celestial Pole in the sky. In the sky above Omaha, you can see Polaris standing in the same spot, all night and every night. Around it swing the Big Dipper, the Little Dipper, Draco the dragon, the queen Cassiopeia and the tent-shaped constellation of the King Cepheus. These are the north circumpolar constellations. They circle around Polaris once every 24 hours, as the earth rotates. In Nebraska and other temperate latitudes, they never rise and set. Seen form the tropics north of the equator, our circumpolar stars are lower in the sky, and some of them do dip below the horizon.

At the equator, all the stars rise and set. But down in the Southern Hemisphere there is another group of stars that appear in the sky all night and every night. They are centred around the South Celestial Pole. There is no bright star like Polaris to mark this spot above the earth's South Pole. The nearest marker is the bright Southern Cross. This and several other starry constellations circel the vacant South Celestial Pole in the sky. South of the tripics, these south circumpolar stars do not rise and set with the nightly parade of other stars.

Carter Study Urged

TORONTO (CP) — A Progressive Conservative policy committee voted today to recommend to the party that it support extending the base for the federal sales tax to include some services. It also approved shifting the tax to the retail from the manufacturer's level.

Completing its day-and-a-half study of the implications of the Carter report on taxation on party policy, the committee also recommended that a joint parliamentary committee be set up to study the report before the government presents a white paper on its intentions.

The recommendations will go before a plenary policy session Thursday.

The debate on extending the base of the sales tax sparked a dispute among the committee members, with Robert M. Clark, economics professor at the University of British Columbia warning that a general statement about including "some services" could be misinterpreted.

His proposal to exempt shelter, medical, dental, nursing, hospital and educational services was defeated on grounds there was not time to go into such detail.

The committee's stand on the federal sales tax is similar to that adopted by the Carter report. The 12-per-cent tax now is applied at the manufacturers' level and is passed on to consumers as part of the price.

The Carter report suggested it should be seven per cent at the retail level, but the committee did not pick a rate in going along with the shift.

APPROVE OTHER IDEAS

Other recommendations approved by the committee included:

1. Negotiations between the federal and provincial governments to agree on a common base for a sales tax;

2. An upper limit on the size of retirement savings plans to which payments are tax free should be subject to periodic review. Mr. Carter recommended it be fixed at $12,000 a year, but the committee said that would be far too low to benefit young persons now starting to build their retirement funds;

3. Mr. Carter's proposed foreign tax credits should be reassessed because they are inadequate. The report recommended that Canadian corporations doing foreign business pay a 30-per-cent tax on profits, less whatever income tax they pay in the foreign country.

Prof. Clark said the Carter report does not give enough importance to the value of Canadian investment in foreign countries. Such investment was large and benefitted the country's balance of payments.

A short-term policy of passive austerity appeared to be evolving within a committee on economic development at the convention.

The tone for restraint was set by the two economists — Richard Scott-Ram of Montreal and Arthur Kruger of Toronto — who said that inflationary pressures have brought Canada to the brink of recession.

'LOST GENERATION' SETS PACE

Power Brokers Can't Deliver Tory Votes

By PETER C. NEWMAN

Newman

TORONTO — The voting machines, the television technicians looking like moon men staggering under the load of their apparatus, the teeny boppers in psychedelic colors, the fancy identification tags, the rock bands with their transistorized guitars have given the Conservative convention a twenty-first century air.

At first glance machines appear more crucial than men; it's as though the candidates prepared for this convention believing that if only the mechanics were right, delegates could be dazzled into consent. But they've quickly discovered that this is an illusion.

For in truth the Conservative convention is turning into one of the great democratic happenings of Canadian politics. The power brokers are desperately negotiating their victory deals but all the while they are haunted by the fear that they may not be able to deliver.

Open Convention

They are suddenly confronted with the reality that the delegates are not to be easily manipulated; that they are far more concerned and sophisticated than anybody imaged — a group of free spirits who want to choose that leader who can most effectively deal with the torrent of social, economic and political change which is remaking the nation.

The seem to realize that the problems now facing Canada require mature and subtle judgments which don't come out of the kind of passionate leadership represented by John Diefenbaker.

It's an unstructured, wide-open convention with probably less than a hundred votes separating the top four candidates (Roblin, Fulton, Stanfield and Hees) but some trends are already discernable.

Duff Roblin will probably lead on the first ballot — though not necessarily win the leadership. The Manitoba premier's call for unity has struck a responsive nerve chord in the party, but as front runner he has become the target other candidates are shooting at.

Roblin Weakened

The unauthorized attacks on John Diefenbaker by Roblin's Quebec supporters (and the still unexplained telegram assault by Maruice Arpin) have weakened Roblin's claim to be a compromise candidate.

The most likely combination to beat Duff Roblin would be a coalition between Davie Fulton and Robert Stanfield. This is in the works although until the first few ballots are counted, it's uncertain who'll be backing whom. The Fulton-Stanfield alliance might also include many delegates supporting Fleming and McCutcheon on early ballots.

Until nominations close on Friday morning, John Diefenbaker will remain the palpable political presence against whose stature all Tory hopefuls must measure themselves. But in the environment of these reverberating klieg-lit meeting halls, his sorcery seems less potent.

John Diefenbaker must be the only Tory in town who doesn't realize what this convention is all about. He still regards it not as an important political movement's legitimate process of succession, but only as a plot against him and his historic destiny.

His last, gravelly hope lies in his contempt for those ungrateful men who are trying to replace him, the giant, with some political pigmy from their number.

It took Tuesday and Wednesday's scuffling at the Royal York Hotel to bring the convention alive. What has taken hold of it now is the fever that always grips politicians when power is changing hands.

It's a euphoria and you can see it everywhere, in the flushed faces of matrons with dimpled arms and in the glazed eyes of garrulous men of late middle-age who keep recalling other conventions, but most of all you can hear it in the disjointed theorizing of young and old; everybody talks, incessantly, compulsively rumour-mongering, recounting the latest inside-inside story. A man will rush up and repeat as incontrovertible fact a vague theory you told HIM 15 minutes before.

In the long carpeted tunnels of hotel corridors, delegates, reporters, onlookers jostle each other in constant, verbal confrontation. You can still spot the old pols in the crowd, the senators, the wringers of hands, the anxious glad-to-see-you tooth suckers who promenade up the hotel lobbies as if pursuing some essential mission.

Tired Candidates

But they are far removed from the sources of real power in the party and after this convention even their physical presence will become redundant.

This is a convention that belongs to that lost generation of Conservatives who came of political age after the flowering of John Diefenbaker, but this side of the politically-minded teeny boppers of both sexes who'll inherit the party next time around.

All of the hoopla and most of the attention is focussed on the candidates themselves. They strain to satisfy the yearnings of their followers. But they are tired men.

Except for Roblin and Stanfield, they've all talked too much and travelled too far in the past six months.

Their pronouncements began to multiply back in April and through the long, hot summer they criss-crossed the country, exhausting their mental and physical energies, lacerating their sense of privacy, and exposing themselves

Dief 'Touched' By His Welcome

Fleming First To Meet Chief

By DAVE McINTOSH

TORONTO (CP) — "Wasn't it wonderful," exclaimed John Diefenbaker today about his reception at the Royal York Hotel upon his arrival for the Conservative leadership convention.

"Was that the biggest reception?" he asked reporters when he reached his 16th floor vice-regal suite.

Assured that it was, he said he was delighted.

He said he was concerned about his wife, Olive, in the crush of people at the hotel entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker were caught in a jam of several hundred persons when they stepped from the car which had brought them from the airport.

They were met by E. A. Goodman and Roger Regimbal, co-chairmen of the convention, who had to clear with exhortations a path through the photographers and reporters.

The first caller at his suite was Donald Fleming, one of the nine contenders for the party leadership.

WILL MAKE SPEECH

Mr. Diefenbaker said he will make an address Thursday night to the Conservative association "and to the nation."

He did not elaborate. He had been asked whether he will announce his candidacy Thursday.

There have been reports that Mr. Diefenbaker will support Mr. Fleming for the leadership in an effort to head off three candidates the Chief is said to oppose: Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Davie Fulton, former justice minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker described his reception as "very nice, very touching."

He said he will work today on his Thursday speech.

Many anti-Diefenbaker candidates had earlier expressed concern that an ovation for the Chief might persuade him to enter the race at the last moment.

GOES DOWN TO REGISTER

At noon, Mr. Diefenbaker went down to the convention floor to register.

He was met by one person's shout of "Hurrah for Dief" but there was little reaction.

A shout of "Three cheers for Dief" brought only one cheer and only a smattering of applause from some 20 persons around him.

A little later, Mr. Diefenbaker ran into a vociferous parade for Mr. Stanfield.

The premier's supporters drowned out the shouts of "We want Dief."

An old lady patted Mr. Diefenbaker on the shoulder and said: "You're the best yet."

But there were few if any MPs near Mr. Diefenbaker.

Candidate Alvin Hamilton called on the chief after Mr. Fleming left. Another visitor was Erik Nielsen, MP for the Yukon and campaign manager for candidate Michael Starr.

De Gaulle in Poland

WARSAW (Reuters)—French President de Gaulle arrived here by air today for a week's visit to Poland during which he will have talks expected to range over European security, the German problem, Vietnam and the Middle East situation.

Viet Fraud Charged

SAIGON (UPI)—"Peace" candidate Truong Dinh Dzu said today that seven other defeated candidates would join him in demanding a new South Vietnamese election on the grounds that president-elect Nguyen Van Thieu had won by fraud.

Cong Beaten Back

SAIGON (CP) — About 2,500 Viet Cong guerrillas tried to storm the provincial capital of Tam Ky for three hours before dawn today, but were beaten off with the loss of 219 dead, including three company commanders, and a mass of weapons, a South Vietnamese spokesman said.

KOREAN MINER FREED AFTER 15-DAY ORDEAL

CHONGYANG, South Korea (AP) — Rescue workers brought to the surface today a 35-year-old Korean gold miner who had been trapped 410 feet under ground more than two weeks. Doctors said Kim Chang-son was in fair condition.

Doctors described Kim as a "man of unusually strong will" and said it was largely his willpower that had kept him alive during the 15 days he had spent alone in the mine.

The miner, a veteran of the Korean War, drank water and ate wood bark he found in the mine.

AT MIDNIGHT

Ford Strike Seen Certain

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and General Motors said today they would allow United Auto Workers Union members to man their plants without a contract, thus insuring production by two of the Big Three U.S. auto-makers if the Ford Motor Co. is hit by a strike at midnight tonight.

Announcement by the two companies came as union and company bargainers at Ford broke for a long lunch after haggling for three hours without progress.

The inevitability of a strike by 159,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states grew as they wore on.

At least one UAW Ford local jumped the gun with more than 10 hours remaining to expiration of the three-year contract.

Some 1,700 workers at Ford's Twin Cities plant in St. Paul, Minn., walked off the job without explanation.

Emerging from the morning session, UAW President Walter P. Reuther agreed with Ford's chief bargainer that a strike was "highly probable."

"But that doesn't mean we have given up," he added.

Reuther said the key issues at Ford were economic and added that the situation apparently was going to be reduced to "economic warfare."

Reuther said the only chance of avoiding a strike would be a change in attitude on the part of Ford, adding that he has seen no indication of any such change.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford's top negotiator, said Tuesday he anticipated no new offer by Ford.

Asked whether he would request recommendations from William E. Simkin, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, Reuther said he would leave that for Simkin to decide.

HOPE FOR SHORT STRIKE

The UAW leader said he hoped any strike would be a short one and that negotiations would get under way again "at the earliest opportunity."

Reuther said Tuesday he expected UAW members would be able to remain at their jobs at GM and Chrysler even if the current three-year contracts are not extended.

Sticks, Tear Gas Needed To Stop Separatist Clash

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Andre Theoret of suburban Pierrefonds said today he plans to ask Quebec Premier Johnson for direct intervention against separatist demonstrations of the kind that widened into a violent two-hour battle Tuesday night.

Four persons were arrested after the clash between demonstrators urging completion of a French-language school and English-speaking hecklers. Three policemen and 10 demonstrators were injured.

Pierrefonds police and reinforcements from provincial police and neighboring communities used tear gas and nightsticks to end the fighting shortly after 10 p.m.

Mayor Theoret said a decision will be made within four to six weeks by the municipal council whether zoning laws will be amended to enable construction work on the Roman Catholic elementary school.

Police said the fighting began after a small number of English-speaking persons began singing O Canada in French during a speech by Pierre Bourgault, leader of the Rassemblement pour l'independance nationale, Quebec's largest separatist political party.

Separatists and hecklers traded punches and kicks and wrestled on the ground to shouts of "kill him" from spectators.

The demonstrators then began a noisy march through the community to a shopping centre, shouting separatist slogans.

English-speaking persons then followed the demonstrators to the shopping centre. The two groups broke into full battle after a group of RIN supporters tore a Red Ensign flag from the hands of hecklers.

The demonstration was called by the RIN to protest an injunction taken out by a Pierrefonds home owners association to block further construction work on the elementary school, scheduled for completion in January.

The home owners said traffic in the area would increase and property values would drop if the school were finished.

U.S. Schools Closed By Teacher Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The vast school systems of New York City and Detroit moved closer to massive strikes today and empty classrooms in cities across the U.S. marked the failure of school boards and teachers to agree on issues of salary and educational policy.

New York City's United Federation of Teachers rejected what was described as a final proposal from a mediation board Tuesday only hours after Mayor John Lindsay strongly recommended acceptance.

The teachers threaten mass resignations on Monday, the first day of school, a move that would affect 1,100,000 pupils.

Detroit's 300,000 pupils, scheduled to go back to school today, stayed home as the opening was put off to Thursday in order that negotiations could continue between the board of education and the Federation of Teachers. Lieutenant-Governor William Milliken said, "There is no sign of a settlement."

TEACHERS STAYED HOME

Some 19,000 pupils who trooped to classrooms in other Michigan school districts were sent home Tuesday when their teachers refused to show up without new contracts.

Milliken expected another 74,000 to be sent home today. By Thursday, he said, the figure could reach 500,000.

About 24,000 pupils in East St. Louis, Ill., were in their second week at home as a teacher boycott closed most classes.

Greek Gift To Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — King Contantine of Greece expressed the hope today that the millions of visitors to Expo 67 will "become the heralds of universal understanding and peace."

The king spoke at a colorful ceremony marking Greece's national day at the world's fair as a cool breeze swept the sun-drenched Place des Nations. Boisterous applause and cheers greeted his announcement that he was offering the Greek pavilion to the city of Montreal.

Roost to Roast Axe Handle Away

By TED GASKELL

Birds, ships and children were the prize-winning subjects in the final week of The Times Amateur Snapshot contest.

First $10 prize went to Maurice Bombezin, 1310 Prillaman Avenue, for his shot of a cockpheasant roosting in the handle of an axe.

A child with one solitary tear hanging from its eyelid gave $10 to John Sykora of 3050 Glen Manor Place for the best snapshot in the People of the World Category.

Fishing boats at sunset was a prize-winner in the World in Which We Live group for Mrs. Ann Wilson, 940 Walema.

Runners up were Mrs. Agnes Duke, 5288 Santa Clara, with a picture of a swan at dusk; Mrs. H. Nelson, 30 Douglas Street with the snap of a cabin cruiser high and dry in the World in Which We Live category, and Mrs. F. C. Smith, 4475 Densmore snapped a dirty-faced little boy for second place in the People of the World group.

NATIONAL

The seven winners in each category will now be judged and the best will receive $25 and entry in the national competition for a first prize of a trip around the world for two with $1,000 in spending money. Lesser prizes of trips to Hawaii, Europe, Mexico and the West Indies will also be given as well as seven $100 prizes for Canadian entries and $20 for the best Canadian print submitted.

Prize-winning entries going on to the national competitions must be accompanied by release from the subjects if over 21 or from parents or guardians if under 21.

When these winners are chosen, release forms will be mailed out to the photographers who must have them signed by the subjects or parents and guardians of the subjects and returned immediately otherwise the pictures will not be accepted by the national judges.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices recorded recessions on profit-taking and hedging sales on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Rapeseed showed an easier tone. Reports said Japan took some parcel lots of rapeseed. Oats and barley trade was light and domestic. Rye prices were somewhat hesitant.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 700,000 bushels to Italy, 500,000 to Britain, 465,000 to China, 420,000 to Russia, 270,000 to West Germany, 25,000 to Syria and 20,000 to the Philippines.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were down 1 cent.

Sun-Rype Products Gets Council Grant

KELOWNA (CP) — The National Research Council has authorized a grant to Sun-Rype Products, Ltd., of this Okanagan Valley city to finance part of a research program into the economic uses of apple pomace.

The company says that Dr. David Paton, PhD., a plant biochemist, has been employed to conduct a five-year research program on the project.

Apple pomace is the residue left from the juicing process.

Action Dropped

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver branch of the IWA has dropped its action for contempt against Peter Greenaway, business agent of the rival United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

GROWS GRAIN

The United States grows about 15 per cent of the world's wheat, the second most important food crop.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mines Suffer Decline

Highland Bell was the big loser on a generally declining market on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today. The issue, which jumped almost two points Tuesday, dropped $2 to $12.

Other losers in the mining section were Buttle, off nine to $1.28; Dynasty, down 15 to $8.30; Northlode, off 21 to 95 cents and Western Mines, down 12 to $2.85.

Among the gainers were Yukon, up six and half cents to 51 cents; Peso, eight to $1.40 and Chataway, six to 43 cents.

In the oils, Central Del-Rio dropped a quarter to $24 and Plains slipped three to 45 cents.

Coronation Credit led the industrials gaining 40 cents to $2.10, while Western Broadcasting fell 37 cents to $15.75.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 716,348 shares.

AT TORONTO all major sections of the market made small advances in moderate trading today.

Clairtone sliped ⅛ to 8 in industrials. The company reported a loss for the first six months of this year greater than for the same period last year although the value of sales doubled.

Among other industrials, Simpsons rose 1½ to 33½ and Du Pont ⅝ to 29¼. Chrysler Corp. was down 1¼ to 54¼ and Thomson Newspapers ¾ to 36¼.

In base metals, Highland Bell was down 1½ and Leitch 50 cents to 8.90.

Trading in western oils saw Scurry-Rainbow and Banff slip ½ each to 36 and 15¾ and Canadian Superior and Central-Del Rio ⅛ each to 42¼ and 16.

AT NEW YORK the market continued its rally in active trading.

Ford, the strike target selected by the United Auto Workers Union, edged off, while Chrysler sank nearly a point and General Motors gained a fraction.

Pan American World Airways paced the list on volume, losing a fraction. A single block of 405,400 shares boosted Pan Am far ahead of other stocks in turnover.

American Motors was active as it edged higher in further response to a report of mutual-fund buying.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome Mines was up 1, International Nickel ½, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker Gooderham ¼. Canadian Pacific was down 1, Distillers Seagrams and Massey-Ferguson ⅜.

AT LONDON the market was in a buoyant mood again today, with buyers still taking a long-term optimistic view on the U.K. economic outlook.

Gains in equities once more were widespread, with numerous features. Gilts also gained.

U.S. dollar stocks reflected the rise on Wall Street, but Canadian issues were uncertain. Abitibi, B-A Oil, Central Del Rio, Imperial Oil and Noranda were among those to ease while nickels, Consolidated Paper, West Coast Transmission and Algoma improved.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate trading today

Texaco rose ¾ to 31¼, and Chemcell gained ½ to 11⅜. Scott LaSalle jumped 1⅛ points to 31⅞ after advancing ⅜ in moderate trading Tuesday.

Industrial Acceptance and Labatt each slipped ½ to 22¼ and 29¾ respectively.

Silver Price Rise Seen By Industry

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The price of silver is going to go up, most spokesmen for the mining industry in the western U.S. insist, because demand is outstripping supply.

They talk of the metal selling for $2.25 an ounce, or perhaps $2.50, in contrast with the present price hovering around $1.65.

The rise will start, they say, when the U.S. treasury's supplies are reduced to the point the agency must quit auctioning off 2,000,000 ounces of the metal every week.

When the treasury removed its $1.29-an-ounce ceiling, the price shot to about $1.80, then began to drop back.

The producers' outlook is contrary to that of the treasury department, where a spokesman has asserted there will be plenty of silver to fill needs, including payment of silver certificates, and that the price will range from $1.50 to $1.75 an ounce for the next four or five years.

CITY HALL ARCHIVIST Ainslie Helmsken is looking for a stand-up shot of Frank Slavin, last of the bare-knuckle fighters for his sports personalities display at City Hall. Mr. Helmcken has collected dozens of photographs of leading Victoria athletes famous in the city between 1865 and 1914. But to date the famous Frank Slavin rigged for the ring has avoided him. The photographs go on display later this month in the main lobby of City Hall. The sports gallery will be the first of a series of photographic displays depicting life early in the city in all its many phases. (Times Photo.)

No Reason Seen For Sewer Fret

Campbell Soothes Aldermen On Definition of Treatment

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said this morning municipalities should not be unduly alarmed at the prospect of building sewerage treatment plants.

He was answering fears expressed Tuesday by Victoria council members that government insistence on treatment plants could create an additional $21 million burden for taxpayers.

"The definition of 'treatment' depends on whatever impact raw sewage has on the water into which it is going. It is a question of quality control.

"The municipalities will do whatever is necessary to maintain quality control of water."

He said it will be necessary to examine the existing methods of disposal to see whether they are detrimental to water quality.

No one is in a position yet to determine whether heavy costs would be involved, he said.

"This is a matter for engineers."

Referring to the capital region sewage study completed recently, the minister said it is a "particularly good one. If the area were to follow its recommendations in sequence, I don't think there will be any sewage problem in Greater Victoria."

He said the report contains timing estimates for construction of sewerage systems which are "quite valid up to 1985 and beyond."

City engineer James Garnett announced the $21 million tag Tuesday when he reported to the public works committee on future plans for the city's sewerage disposal system.

Present and future plans for Clover Point, Macaulay Point and McMicking Point outfalls for disposing of sewage at sea will cost an estimated $6 to $7 million.

TRIPLED

"This would be tripled if treatment (prior to disposal) were insisted upon," said Mr. Garnett.

Two weeks ago Mr. Campbell announced that early in 1968 new powers would be given the Pollution Control Board to enforce higher standards of sewage collection, treatment and disposal.

The recently completed $75,000 sewerage survey for the entire Saanich Peninsula was based on sewage disposal via long outfalls into the sea.

Treatment plants were rejected as too costly by the engineering firm conducting the survey.

A special committee comprised of the city manager and the city engineer will seek a meeting with the minister and other senior government officials to ascertain just what provincial government thinking is on the matter.

Road Colic Cuts Class In Half

More than half the Port Renfrew High School students attending classes in Sooke failed to turn up today.

Reason: They were sick after the 85-mile round-trip Tuesday, the first day of school.

When Paul Miklenic, 45, who has operated the school bus for the past 10 years, set off from Port Renfrew Tuesday morning there were 42 children aboard.

20 SHOW

This morning only 20 showed up.

Said Mr. Miklenic, a night shift mechanic at Port Renfrew: "The other children apparently weren't feeling well.

"I'm not suprised after Tuesday. It made me feel ill.

It is the only public road into the remote west coast community.

ACTION PROMISED

Said a department of highways official: "We are attending to grading immediately. It's been impossible to do anything during the dry weather. The grading won't take.

"Usually we try and have it done before school starts."

The students attend grades eight to 12 at Milne's Landing High.

Only school in Port Renfrew is for elementary children.

RAIN BRINGS EASIER WATER RESTRICTIONS

The rain was shortlived but it was sufficient to bring an easing of watering restrictions in Greater Victoria.

Water commissioner Ron Upward said this morning that overnight rain plus past conservation made the changes possible.

New hours for garden watering are from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Odd-numbered houses still water on odd-numbered and even on even-numbered dates.

The new hours were stated incorrectly in the morning newspaper.

The old hours were 6 a.m. to noon and 8 p.m. to midnight.

"The new hours will be slightly easier on people," said Mr. Upward.

Poor Season Recorded By Whalers

The British Columbia whaling fleet has finished its 1967 season which has been regarded as one of the poorest on record.

Total catch of all species was 496 compared to 651 last year. The total included 103 Fin whales, 304 Sperm and 89 Sei.

The early season was encouraging with a catch of 147 in April but catches declined during the summer. The Sei catch showed the heaviest decline, dropping from 350 a year ago.

MARKET WOES

The industry also suffered by a depressed oil market and a poor market for mink feed. The only market to hold was frozen whale meat for edible purposes.

Under an international agreement, the big Blue whales and Humpbacks were protected during the season.

The five whaling ships owned by Western Canada Whaling Co. operated out of Quatsino Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island. Their catches were curtailed by stiff competition from Russian and Japanese fleets which are accompanied by factory ships.

$218 Smash

A man who threw an empty wine bottle through the Government Street liquor store window was fined $50 in central court this morning and ordered to make restitution of $168 for the plate glass window.

Robert J. Cameron, 55, of 550 Johnson, admitted causing wilful damage. Police said the accused had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

Merger Vote In October On Peninsula

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A vote on amalgamation at the end of October or early November looms for residents of North Saanich and Sidney.

The vote is expected to follow a report on the pros and cons of amalgamation being prepared by the Stevenson-Kellog Co. of Vancouver.

The two councils last month engaged the company to study all aspects of amalgamation, including the advantages of remaining as separate municipalities.

REPORT TUESDAY

An interim report on the study will be made to both councils on Tuesday.

Municipal officials feel that a vote will be called before the December elections, possibly at the end of October.

North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cumming said if the vote is in favor of amalgamation he will press for the gradual integration of the administration services.

THREE YEARS

"I would not be opposed to electing a single council immediately for the two areas," he said. "But I feel the administration services should be integrated gradually—over a period of three to five years."

Amalgamation would ease the problem of long-range planning for the north end of the Saanich peninsula.

It would mean that Sidney would remain the sole, integrated commercial area for the enlarged municipality. North Saanich would remain largely residential.

Garbage Burning Still Allowed; Permits Needed

Burning of garbage is still permitted in the Greater Victoria area providing precautions are taken and permits have been issued.

In Oak Bay, Victoria and Saanich, garbage may be burned in an incinerator providing a screen cover is used and the fire is watched.

In Esquimalt, burning is permitted between 7 and 9 a.m. only and again a screen-top incinerator must be used and a watch kept over the fire.

Firemen Put Out Four Grass Fires

Saanich firemen were called out to three grass fires Tuesday afternoon.

A cigarette butt is thought to have started a blaze about 1:30 p.m. near the No. 3 firehall on Shelbourne.

Children are thought responsible for a blaze opposite Colquitz school about 2 p.m. and an incinerator fire at 3163 Orillia spread to the grass about 4 p.m.

Esquimalt firemen were called out Tuesday to a grass fire which started on vacant land below Matson Lodge.

THEY WANT TOURISTS TOO

Virgin Islanders Seek Investors

Canadian investment for the British Virgin Islands tourist industry is being sought in an eight-day visit by the territory's chief minister.

As part of the islands' program to develop interest in tourism there, the Hon. H. Lavity Stoutt made a one-day visit to Victoria Tuesday in which he paid his respects to Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes, Premier Bennett and other officials.

A spokesman in the minister's party said the Canadian tour was in line with the territory's first year of independent constitution.

But since the islands are not financially or economically independent there is interest in private development in the field of tourism.

GOOD RESPONSE

The assistant said that so far there had been very friendly response and "tremendous interest" by Canadians.

"We are both in the same hemisphere and we are both members of the Commonwealth," he observed.

The islands number around 40, containing a total 60 square miles and a population of 9,000.

Columbus named them after St. Ursula and her 11,000 virgins during his second voyage of discovery in 1493.

The Spanish named the main island of Tortola — for turtle doves — whose main centre is Road-Town.

The Virgins became a haven for buccaneers ("fifteen men on a dead man's chest, yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum") and Dead Man's Cay is where Blackbeard marooned a group of mutineers.

British forces routed the buccaneers, the French took over and the British recaptured the islands in 1672 in a series of colorful historic episodes that have helped to build a past upon which a tourist industry may thrive.

Sir Francis Drake in 1585 sailed through the channel now bearing his name to enter the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

It was not long before cotton, sugar, rum, molasses, lime juice, ginger, coffee, turtle shell and mahogany became staples of the economy and by 1774 the first assembly was named.

"I LETTSOM"

One of the more famous islanders was John Coakley Lettsom, born on Jost Van Dyke island in 1744, who became a Quaker physician, writer, poet and phulanthropist, the founder of the London Medical Society.

Of himself, he wrote:

"I, John Lettsom
Blisters, bleeds and sweats 'em
If, after tha', they please to die,
I, John Lettsom."

Mr. Stoutt heads a strong majority government under the new constitution which became effective this year under administration of a seven-man legislative council.

Curators Here For Museum Discussions

How to run a coin collection. How to preserve basketwork. How to display stuffed animals. How not to preserve an oil painting.

These are the kind of things museum directors talk about when they hold a conference.

Nearly 100 directors (or curators) from many parts of British Columbia, including Fort St. John and Dawson Creek, are comparing notes this week at the 11th annual seminar of the B.C. Museums Association.

"The purpose of this yearly seminar is to improve our knowledge of museum techniques," said Col. J. W. D. Symons, president of the association and curator of the Maritime Museum.

Today was devoted to sightseeing. The curators visited the Maritime Museum, the Provincial Archives, Helmcken House, HMC Dockyard, the Royal Navy cemetry, Craigflower Manor, Craigflower school, the Maltwood Museum and the University of Victoria.

This afternoon they were guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at tea at Government House; then toured the Art Gallery and downtown areas.

CIVIC WELCOME

Thursday at 9 a.m. they will be given a civic welcome before moving into a series of lectures including how to equip a museum workshop, cataloguing and classification, designing and making display cases, coins and medals.

"We are really a very practical association" said provincial archivist Willard Ireland, "but we have lots of fun as well."

The association last met in Victoria in 1958.

Police Hold Two After Cache Found in Woods

Tire Tracks Followed By Officers

By TED GASKELL

Two Saanich policemen followed fresh tire tracks into the wooded area near Beaver Lake at about 6 a.m. today and recovered $3,000 worth of stolen goods.

The articles had been stolen just two hours earlier from two city stores.

Still missing is $345 in cash taken in the same robbery.

Constables David Richardson and Don Russell were on routine patrol when they saw the tracks.

THREE SLEEPING

About 400 yards away from the stolen goods they found a stolen car and not far from that three young persons were sleeping in another car.

A juvenile was released; a 19-year-old girl is charged with vagrancy and a 19-year-old youth is charged with possession of a sawn-off rifle found under the seat of the car.

The stolen property came from a Marshall-Wells store in the Fairfield Plaza and from the Variety Shop-Post Office. in the same centre.

The money was taken from a wooden cash box in the post office section of the store.

Stolen property recovered included two television sets, a number of power tools, seven radios, a toaster, steam iron, hunting knives and fishing tackle, all from Marshall-Wells.

30 WATCHES

Also recovered were more than 30 watches taken from the variety store. Later this morning a set of car keys was found in the area.

The robbery occurred between 3:30 and 4 a.m., according to city police who said people in the vicinity heard noises.

Thieves apparently went into the variety store using tools taken from the hardware store.

City and Saanich police are working on the investigation.

Six sheets of fibreboard, a lead melting pot and four sheets of plywood were taken from a construction site at 562 Simcoe Wednesday evening.

Thieves also entered Day's Spring Works at 628 Discovery Street and stole 12 blank cheques.

$800 More Needed For Fire-Hit Indian Family

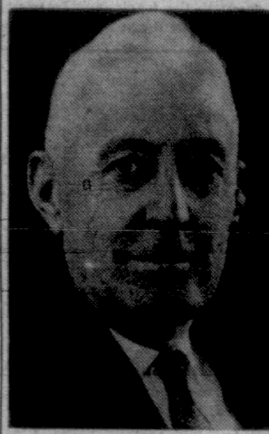
Another $800 is needed before Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams and their 11 children can move out of the condemned house in which they are living.

The Williams have been living in the hovel on Cole Bay Indian reserve since their own home and belongings were destroyed by fire last month.

Enough money has been raised to buy them clothing. The Indian affairs department has promised to help build a new home.

But extra funds are needed to instal plumbing and wiring in the as-yet unbuilt house.

Donations can be sent to Mrs. Sherrian White, 1328 Clover, or Chief Don Williams, 9045 West Saanich Road.



FORREST L. SHAW

FORMER SOLICITOR DIES AT 77

Forrest L. Shaw, a former city solicitor and ex-B.C. Power Commission member, died here today at 77.

Mr. Shaw was for many years a key person in community projects in the Victoria area.

Although his parents were Canadian, Mr. Shaw was born in the United States. His parents returned to Canada when he was two years old, and he lived in Manitoba and Alberta until coming west in 1901.

Mr. Shaw was wounded in action with the 7th Battalion during the First World War, and after the war was called to the B.C. Bar in Victoria.

ONE OF FIRST

He practised law for many years and was appointed city solicitor in 1938. He was one of the first B.C. power commissioners, and served on many other boards and committees including the Victoria Rehabilitation Council, the Navy League, and the committee organizing Kiwanis Village.

Mr. Shaw was a past president of several organizations including the Victoria Kiwanis Club, the Canadian Club of Victoria and the Vancouver Island Division of the Navy League of Canada.

The latter position was held by Mr. Shaw for 10 years.

Mr. Shaw could trace his family history back to the year 1405 and the founder of the family, Shaw Mor.

GOVERNOR

One of his ancestors, Alexander Shaw, was present at the capture of Quebec in 1759 and later became the lieutenant-governor of the Isle of Man.

As the Liberal candidate in the 1960 provincial election Mr. Shaw forecast the eventual takeover of B.C. Electric by the provincial government.

During his campaign he stated that a Liberal provincial government would one day take over the private power corporation.

For his work as chairman of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council of Greater Victoria Mr. Shaw was named in the King's Honor List of 1946 and awarded the Order of the British Empire.

He is survived by the widow Edna, two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Baragar and Mrs. J. C. Milton and a sister, Lily.

Funeral arrangements will be announced Thursday.

Marijuana Sold To Mountie Agent

Terrence Latreille, 20, of 809 Penwell, pleaded guilty in central court this morning to trafficking in marijuana.

He was remanded to Sept. 15 for sentence.

Police said the accused, who chose immediate trial by magistrate, sold an ounce of a substance to an RCMP undercoverman Aug. 31. Later analysis proved the substance to be marijuana.

Manager Denies Builders Defy Licencing Laws

'Give Us Names' Union Man Told

Charges that hundreds of contractors and sub-contractors are operating in Victoria without trades licences were denied this morning by city manager Dennis Young.

John Schibli, secretary of the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council, made the charge in a letter to Victoria city council.

Mr. Schibli stated that following an extensive survey of Greater Victoria it was discovered that only a small percentage of contractors were licenced in the municipalities in which they operated.

"It was established that out of virtually hundreds of contractors and sub-contractors engaged in the house construction industry, only a small percentage are licenced in all the municipalities in whose bounds they operate," the letter stated.

"We cannot fail but be amazed that this guaranteed and ready source of revenue is so casually neglected by your municipality while at the same time you are forced to annually increase the mill rate to meet an ever-rising budget."

INFORM US

Mr. Young's response to the charge was terse.

"If anyone has any knowledge of a business operating in Victoria without a business licence they should let us know the name of the firm immediately so that we rectify the situation," he said.

"What Mr. Schibli says may be true in other municipalities, I don't know. But it isn't true in Victoria."

In his letter Mr. Schibli also called for tighter control over the issuance of licences to protect the taxpayer.

"The indiscriminate granting of such licences is leading into a general decline in the quality of construction both resulting deterioration of whole areas and eventual loss of tax revenue to the municipality," the letter stated.

"Trades licences are not a control device," answered Mr. Young. "They are chiefly a revenue producing system. And we expect a degree of policing from within the industry concerned."

Ask The Times

Q.—Are there square dance clubs in Victoria which are open to single girls?—J. B. ?

A.—Victoria has a number of square dance clubs. For more information write to Cam York, 2544 Graham St., Victoria.

Q.—Where might I write to to in order to get a pen pal in the Canadian and U.S. forces overseas?

A.—Local military authorities suggest a brief letter to the Editor, Forces Sentinel, CFHQ, Ottawa, might help in the case of Canadian Forces and to make enquiries of the Director of Information Services, War Department, Washington, D.C., in the case of U.S. troops.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Proposals Expected This Week On Repairing Major Labor Split

Recommendations aimed at settling the split in the B.C. labor movement over the suspension of four local unions are expected to arrive here this week.

The recommendations have been made by a trouble-shooting team from the Canadia Labor Congress, headed by executive vice-president Bill Dodge.

Mr. Dodge said Tuesday in Ottawa that the recommendations have been approved by the executive committee of the congress and are being sent to the parties involved.

"I am not prepared to say what they are but we are not ordering the parties to refrain from giving them to the press once they have received them," he added.

The parties directly involved are the B.C. Federation of Labor and the Vancouver, Victoria, Duncan and Lumber Inspectors locals of the International Woodworkers of America.

SUSPENDED

The federation suspended the four locals in June for refusing to apologize for a public attack on CLC executive vice-president Joe Morris, a former regional president of the IWA.

The move split the labor movement in the province over the question of whether the federation should censor individual unions.

Indirectly involved are the Vancouver and District Labor Council and the IWA, both at regional and international level.

The labor council, forced by the suspension to order Vancouver IWA delegates to leave, asked the CLC to rule the locals should be reinstated, at least until the next CLC convention.

The IWA regional council protested the suspensions and also asked for the locals to be reinstated.

Sailor Drove While Drunk, Impaired

An 18-year-old sailor, Robert Travis of CFB Esquimalt, was sentenced to 14 days in jail in central court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was also fined $300 when he admitted to impaired driving.

His licence was suspended for one year.

Police said the accused was followed Aug. 25 by a patrol car and stopped. He could not find his licence although it was clearly visible. He passed out and had to be taken to Naden Hospital.

September 3 he was seen driving his car in reverse along Caledonia Avenue. He struck a parked car and continued to drive in reverse and struck a utility pole. A breath test gave a reading of .10.

John B. Morgan, 1233 Roy Road, was sentenced to 20 days in jail and his licence was suspended for 18 months when he pleaded guilty to a second offence of impaired driving.

Police game him a breath test which gave a reading of .17, after his car had been seen weaving along the Patricia Bay Highway.

Ray D. Taylor was fined $300 and his licence suspended when he also admitted to impaired driving.

He too was stopped on the Patricia Bay Hishway after driving at more than 60 miles an hour. A .15 reading was recorded by the breath test equipment.

Schools Head Count Not Totalled

Reports on total enrolment in Victoria schools will start coming in to the school board office late today, according to deputy superintencent of schools A. J. Longmore.

"We have asked principals to wait until this afternoon before they send reports," he said.

"The first day is always confusing, but by the end of the second school day we should have an accurate picture."

The district's total is expected to be over 31,000 pupils. School officials expect to be able to arrange distribution to prevent any classes with more than 39 students.

Another 9,000 students have enroled in schools in the surrounding areas, bringing the total school population from Sooke to Sidney to over 40,000.

At least two extra teachers are required in the Sooke district, and senior secondary enrolment in Saanich was reported heavier than expected.

New Jaycees To Be Inducted

Induction of new members will be held at a general meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Ingraham Hotel at 6:30 this evening.

The meeting, the first of the season, will be chaired by president George Robbins.

CITY HALL ARCHIVIST Ainslie Helmcken is looking for a stand-up shot of Frank Slavin, last of the bare-knuckle fighters for his sports personalities display at City Hall. Mr. Helmcken has collected dozens of photographs of leading Victoria athletes famous in the city between 1865 and 1914. But to date the famous Frank Slavin rigged for the ring has avoided him. The photographs go on display later this month in the main lobby of City Hall. The sports gallery will be the first of a series of photographic displays depicting life early in the city in all its many phases. (Times Photo.)

THEY WANT TOURISTS TOO

Virgin Islanders Seek Investors

Canadian investment for the British Virgin Islands tourist industry is being sought in an eight-day visit by the territory's chief minister.

As part of the islands' program to develop interest in tourism there, the Hon. H. Lavity Stoutt made a one-day visit to Victoria Tuesday in which he paid his respects to Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes, Premier Bennett and other officials.

A spokesman in the minister's party said the Canadian tour was in line with the territory's first year of independent constitution.

But since the islands are not financially or economically independent there is interest in private development in the field of tourism.

GOOD RESPONSE

The assistant said that so far there had been very friendly response and "tremendous interest" by Canadians.

"We are both in the same hemisphere and we are both members of the Commonwealth," he observed.

The islands number around 40, containing a total 60 square miles and a population of 9,000.

Columbus named them after St. Ursula and her 11,000 virgins during his second voyage of discovery in 1493.

The Spanish named the main island of Tortola — for turtle doves — whose main centre is Road-Town.

The Virgins became a haven for buccaneers ("fifteen men on a dead man's chest, yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum") and Dead Man's Cay is where Blackbeard marooned a group of mutineers.

British forces routed the buccaneers, the French took over and the British recaptured the islands in 1672 in a series of colorful historic episodes that have helped to build a past upon which a tourist industry may thrive.

Sir Francis Drake in 1585 sailed through the channel now bearing his name to enter the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

It was not long before cotton, sugar, rum, molasses, lime juice, ginger, coffee, turtle shell and mahogany became staples of the economy and by 1774 the first assembly was named.

"I LETTSOM"

One of the more famous islanders was John Coakley Lettsom, born on Jost Van Dyke island in 1744, who became a Quaker physician, writer, poet and philanthropist, the founder of the London Medical Society.

Of himself, he wrote:

"I, John Lettsom
Blisters, bleeds and sweats 'em
If, after tha', they please to die,
I, John Lettsom."

Mr. Stoutt heads a strong majority government under the new constitution which became effective this year under administration of a seven-man legislative council.

Police Hold Two After Cache Found in Woods

Tire Tracks Followed By Officers

By TED GASKELL

Two Saanich policemen followed fresh tire tracks into the wooded area near Beaver Lake at about 6 a.m. today and recovered $3,000 worth of stolen goods.

The articles had been stolen just two hours earlier from two city stores.

Still missing is $345 in cash taken in the same robbery.

Constables David Richardson and Don Russell were on routine patrol when they saw the tracks.

THREE SLEEPING

About 400 yards away from the stolen goods they found a stolen car and not far from that three young persons were sleeping in another car.

A juvenile was released; a 19-year-old girl is charged with vagrancy and a 19-year-old youth is charged with possession of a sawn-off rifle found under the seat of the car.

The stolen property came from a Marshall-Wells store in the Fairfield Plaza and from the Variety Shop-Post Office in the same centre.

The money was taken from a wooden cash box in the post office section of the store.

Stolen property recovered included two television sets, a number of power tools, seven radios, a toaster, steam iron, hunting knives and fishing tackle, all from Marshall-Wells.

30 WATCHES

Also recovered were more than 30 watches taken from the variety store. Later this morning a set of car keys was found in the area.

The robbery occurred between 3:30 and 4 a.m., according to city police who said people in the vicinity heard noises.

Thieves apparently went into the variety store using tools taken from the hardware store.

City and Saanich police are working on the investigation.

Six sheets of fibreboard, a lead melting pot and four sheets of plywood were taken from a construction site at 562 Simcoe Wednesday evening.

Thieves also entered Day's Spring Works at 628 Discovery Street and stole 12 blank cheques.

FORREST L. SHAW
. . . leading citizen

FORMER SOLICITOR DIES AT 77

Forrest L. Shaw, a former city solicitor and ex-B.C. Power Commission member, died here today at 77.

Mr. Shaw was for many years a key person in community projects in the Victoria area.

Although his parents were Canadian, Mr. Shaw was born in the United States. His parents returned to Canada when he was two years old, and he lived in Manitoba and Alberta until coming west in 1901.

Mr. Shaw was wounded in action with the 7th Battalion during the First World War, and after the war was called to the B.C. Bar in Victoria.

ONE OF FIRST

He practised law for many years and was appointed city solicitor in 1938. He was one of the first B.C. power commissioners, and served on many other boards and committees including the Victoria Rehabilitation Council, the Navy League, and the committee organizing Kiwanis Village.

Mr. Shaw was a past president of several organizations including the Victoria Kiwanis Club, the Canadian Club of Victoria and the Vancouver Island Division of the Navy League of Canada.

The latter position was held by Mr. Shaw for 10 years.

Mr. Shaw could trace his family history back to the year 1405 and the founder of the family, Shaw Mor.

GOVERNOR

One of his ancestors, Alexander Shaw, was present at the capture of Quebec in 1759 and later became the lieutenant-governor of the Isle of Man.

As the Liberal candidate in the 1960 provincial election Mr. Shaw forecast the eventual takeover of B.C. Electric by the provincial government.

During his campaign he stated that a Liberal provincial government would one day take over the private power corporation.

For his work as chairman of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council of Greater Victoria Mr. Shaw was named in the King's Honor List of 1946 and awarded the Order of the British Empire.

He is survived by the widow Edna, two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Baragar and Mrs. J. C. Milton and a sister, Lily.

Funeral arrangements will be announced Thursday.

Manager Denies Builders Defy Licencing Laws

'Give Us Names' Union Man Told

Charges that hundreds of contractors and sub-contractors are operating in Victoria without trades licences were denied this morning by city manager Dennis Young.

John Schibli, secretary of the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council, made the charge in a letter to Victoria city council.

Mr. Schibli stated that following an extensive survey of Greater Victoria it was discovered that only a small percentage of contractors were licenced in the municipalities in which they operated.

"It was established that out of virtually hundreds of contractors and sub-contractors engaged in the house construction industry, only a small percentage are licenced in all the municipalities in whose bounds they operate," the letter stated.

"We cannot fail but be amazed that this guaranteed and ready source of revenue is so casually neglected by your municipality while at the same time you are forced to annually increase the mill rate to meet an ever-rising budget."

INFORM US

Mr. Young's response to the charge was terse.

"If anyone has any knowledge of a business operating in Victoria without a business licence they should let us know the name of the firm immediately so that we rectify the situation," he said.

"What Mr. Schibli says may be true in other municipalities, I don't know. But it isn't true in Victoria."

In his letter Mr. Schibli also called for tighter control over the issuance of licences to protect the taxpayer.

"The indiscriminate granting of such licences is leading into a general decline in the quality of construction both resulting deterioration of whole areas and eventual loss of tax revenue to the municipality," the letter stated.

"Trades licences are not a control device," answered Mr. Young. "They are chiefly a revenue producing system. And we expect a degree of policing from within the industry concerned."

No Reason Seen For Sewer Fret

Campbell Soothes Aldermen On Definition of Treatment

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said this morning municipalities should not be unduly alarmed at the prospect of building sewerage treatment plants.

He was answering fears expressed Tuesday by Victoria council members that government insistence on treatment plants could create an additional $21 million burden for taxpayers.

"The definition of 'treatment' depends on whatever impact raw sewage has on the water into which it is going. It is a question of quality control.

"The municipalities will do whatever is necessary to maintain quality control of water."

He said it will be necessary to examine the existing methods of disposal to see whether they are detrimental to water quality.

No one is in a position yet to determine whether heavy costs would be involved, he said.

"This is a matter for engineers."

Referring to the capital region sewage study completed recently, the minister said it is a "particularly good one. If the area were to follow its recommendations in sequence, I don't think there will be any sewage problem in Greater Victoria."

He said the report contains timing estimates for construction of sewerage systems which are "quite valid up to 1985 and beyond."

City engineer James Garnett announced the $21 million tag Tuesday when he reported to the public works committee on future plans for the city's sewerage disposal system.

Present and future plans for Clover Point, Macaulay Point and McMicking Point outfalls for disposing of sewage at sea will cost an estimated $6 to $7 million.

TRIPLED

"This would be tripled if treatment (prior to disposal) were insisted upon," said Mr. Garnett.

Two weeks ago Mr. Campbell announced that early in 1968 new powers would be given the Pollution Control Board to enforce higher standards of sewage collection, treatment and disposal.

The recently completed $75,000 sewerage survey for the entire Saanich Peninsula was based on sewage disposal via long outfalls into the sea.

Treatment plants were rejected as too costly by the engineering firm conducting the survey.

A special committee comprised of the city manager and the city engineer will seek a meeting with the minister and other senior government officials to ascertain just what provincial government thinking is on the matter.

Road Colic Cuts Class In Half

More than half the Port Renfrew High School students attending classes in Sooke failed to turn up today.

Reason: They were sick after the 85-mile round-trip Tuesday, the first day of school.

When Paul Miklenic, 45, who has operated the school bus for the past 10 years, set off from Port Renfrew Tuesday morning there were 42 children aboard.

20 SHOW

This morning only 20 showed up.

Said Mr. Miklenic, a night shift mechanic at Port Renfrew: "The other children apparently weren't feeling well.

"I'm not surprised after Tuesday. It made me feel ill.

It is the only public road into the remote west coast community.

ACTION PROMISED

Said a department of highways official: "We are attending to grading immediately. It's been impossible to do anything during the dry weather. The grading won't take.

"Usually we try and have it done before school starts."

The students attend grades eight to 12 at Milne's Landing High.

Only school in Port Renfrew is for elementary children.

RAIN BRINGS EASIER WATER RESTRICTIONS

The rain was shortlived but it was sufficient to bring an easing of watering restrictions in Greater Victoria.

Water commissioner Ron Upward said this morning that overnight rain plus past conservation made the changes possible.

New hours for garden watering are from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Odd-numbered houses still water on odd-numbered and even on even-numbered dates.

The new hours were stated incorrectly in the morning newspaper.

The old hours were 6 a.m. to noon and 8 p.m. to midnight.

"The new hours will be slightly easier on people," said Mr. Upward.

Poor Season Recorded By Whalers

The British Columbia whaling fleet has finished its 1967 season which has been regarded as one of the poorest on record.

Total catch of all species was 496 compared to 651 last year. The total included 103 Fin whales, 304 Sperm and 89 Sei.

The early season was encouraging with a catch of 147 in April but catches declined during the summer. The Sei catch showed the heaviest decline, dropping from 350 a year ago.

MARKET WOES

The industry also suffered by a depressed oil market and a poor market for mink feed. The only market to hold was frozen whale meat for edible purposes.

Under an international agreement, the big Blue whales and Humpbacks were protected during the season.

The five whaling ships owned by Western Canada Whaling Co. operated out of Quatsino Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island. Their catches were curtailed by stiff competition from Russian and Japanese fleets which are accompanied by factory ships.

$218 Smash

A man who threw an empty wine bottle through the Government Street liquor store window was fined $50 in central court this morning and ordered to make restitution of $168 for the plate glass window.

Robert J. Cameron, 55, of 550 Johnson, admitted causing wilful damage. Police said the accused had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

Merger Vote In October On Peninsula

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A vote on amalgamation at the end of October or early November looms for residents of North Saanich and Sidney.

The vote is expected to follow a report on the pros and cons of amalgamation being prepared by the Stevenson-Kellog Co. of Vancouver.

The two councils last month engaged the company to study all aspects of amalgamation, including the advantages of remaining as separate municipalities.

REPORT TUESDAY

An interim report on the study will be made to both councils on Tuesday.

Municipal officials feel that a vote will be called before the December elections, possibly at the end of October.

North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cumming said if the vote is in favor of amalgamation he will press for the gradual integration of the administration services.

THREE YEARS

"I would not be opposed to electing a single council immediately for the two areas," he said. "But I feel the administration services should be integrated gradually—over a period of three to five years."

Amalgamation would ease the problem of long-range planning for the north end of the Saanich peninsula.

It would mean that Sidney would remain the sole, integrated commercial area for the enlarged municipality. North Saanich would remain largely residential.

Garbage Burning Still Allowed; Permits Needed

Burning of garbage is still permitted in the Greater Victoria area providing precautions are taken and permits have been issued.

In Oak Bay, Victoria and Saanich, garbage may be burned in an incinerator providing a screen cover is used and the fire is watched.

In Esquimalt, burning is permitted between 7 and 9 a.m. only and again a screen-top incinerator must be used and a watch kept over the fire.

Firemen Put Out Four Grass Fires

Saanich firemen were called out to three grass fires Tuesday afternoon.

A cigarette butt is thought to have started a blaze about 1:30 p.m. near the No. 3 firehall on Shelbourne.

Children are thought responsible for a blaze opposite Colquitz school about 2 p.m. and an incinerator fire at 3163 Orillia spread to the grass about 4 p.m.

Esquimalt firemen were called out Tuesday to a grass fire which started on vacant land below Matson Lodge.

Curators Here For Museum Discussions

How to run a coin collection. How to preserve basketwork. How to display stuffed animals. How not to preserve an oil painting.

These are the kind of things museum directors talk about when they hold a conference.

Nearly 100 directors (or curators) from many parts of British Columbia, including Fort St. John and Dawson Creek, are comparing notes this week at the 11th annual seminar of the B.C. Museums Association.

"The purpose of this yearly seminar is to improve our knowledge of museum techniques," said Col. J. W. D. Symons, president of the association and curator of the Maritime Museum.

Today was devoted to sightseeing. The curators visited the Maritime Museum, the Provincial Archives, Helmcken House, HMC Dockyard, the Royal Navy cemetry, Craigflower Manor, Craigflower school, the Maltwood Museum and the University of Victoria.

This afternoon they were guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at tea at Government House; then toured the Art Gallery and downtown areas.

CIVIC WELCOME

Thursday at 9 a.m. they will be given a civic welcome before moving into a series of lectures including how to equip a museum workshop, cataloguing and classification, designing and making display cases, coins and medals.

"We are really a very practical association" said provincial archivist Willard Ireland, "but we have lots of fun as well."

The association last met in Victoria in 1958.

$800 More Needed For Fire-Hit Indian Family

Another $800 is needed before Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams and their 11 children can move out of the condemned house in which they are living.

The Williams have been living in the hovel on Cole Bay Indian reserve since their own home and belongings were destroyed by fire last month.

Enough money has been raised to buy them clothing. The Indian affairs department has promised to help build a new home.

But extra funds are needed to instal plumbing and wiring in the as-yet unbuilt house.

Donations can be sent to Mrs. Sherrian White, 1328 Clover, or Chief Don Williams, 9045 West Saanich Road.

Marijuana Sold To Mountie Agent

Terrence Latreille, 20, of 809 Penwell, pleaded guilty in central court this morning to trafficking in marijuana.

He was remanded to Sept. 15 for sentence.

Police said the accused, who chose immediate trial by magistrate, sold an ounce of a substance to an RCMP undercoverman Aug. 31. Later analysis proved the substance to be marijuana.

Proposals Expected This Week On Repairing Major Labor Split

Recommendations aimed at settling the split in the B.C. labor movement over the suspension of four local unions are expected to arrive here this week.

The recommendations have been made by a trouble-shooting team from the Canadia Labor Congress, headed by executive vice-president Bill Dodge.

Mr. Dodge said Tuesday in Ottawa that the recommendations have been approved by the executive committee of the congress and are being sent to the parties involved.

"I am not prepared to say what they are but we are not ordering the parties to refrain from giving them to the press once they have received them," he added.

The parties directly involved are the B.C. Federation of Labor and the Vancouver, Victoria, Duncan and Lumber Inspectors locals of the International Woodworkers of America.

SUSPENDED

The federation suspended the four locals in June for refusing to apologize for a public attack on CLC executive vice-president Joe Morris, a former regional president of the IWA.

The move split the labor movement in the province over the question of whether the federation should censor individual unions.

Indirectly involved are the Vancouver and District Labor Council and the IWA, both at regional and international level.

The labor council, forced by the suspension to order Vancouver IWA delegates to leave, asked the CLC to rule the locals should be reinstated, at least until the next CLC convention.

The IWA regional council protested the suspensions and also asked for the locals to be reinstated.

ONLY ONE NATION

'Extend Language School Rights'

QUEBEC (CP)—Jean Martineau, chairman of the Canada Council and a leading Montreal lawyer, took a strong stand for Canadian unity Tuesday when he told the Canadian Bar Association:

"There is only one Canadian nation. I was born a Canadian and I want to die a Canadian, a French-speaking Canadian."

Mr. Martineau made the statement at the bar association's annual meeting after listening through a panel discussion in which some speakers referred to "Canada's two nations."

As chairman of the discussion he claimed the right to last word and spoke in English, saying language and school rights should be extended throughout Canada.

"I think that if we have been able to do this in Quebec, for so well and so long, it can be done in the rest of Canada."

At a news conference following an earlier official speech to the meeting, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, federal justice minister, rejected the political solutions for Quebec envisaging particular status for the province, two nations or associate states.

He said:

"I am closing the door to a solution which would destroy the country."

In his view, constitutional change could only be brought about through adoption of a bill of rights which would guarantee linguistic as well as human rights.

. . . strong unity stand

Mr. Trudeau said he thought "particular status for Quebec is the biggest hoax ever foisted on the people of Quebec and the people of Canada."

It meant a different thing in Quebec it did in the rest of Canada. It couldn't work. The more the powers of Quebec increased, the more the presence of Quebec in Ottawa was reduced.

He would fight for solutions such as particular status if he thought English-Canadians were "fools enough to accept them."

He said:

"The special status boys work on the theory you want your cake and want to eat it too."

PROVINCE COOLING OFF

Temperatures dropped as much as 23 degrees in the fire-swept southern interior of British Columbia Tuesday, and the forecast called for the cooling trend to sweep into the hard-hit Kamloops area today.

Castlegar toppled to 70 Tuesday from Monday's 93, and Revelstoke was down to 66 from 88. Kamloops was the warmest spot in B.C. at 88, but the temperature was expected to drop at least 10 degrees today.

The largest of the province's 244 fires, a 45,000-acre blaze at Shuswap Lake near Kamloops, slowed considerably Tuesday after flaring at the weekend.

RAINFALL NEEDED

Guards were being run to the north in an attempt to bring the fire under control, but forestry officials said only a heavy rainfall could extinguish it.

The best the weatherman could offer was occasional showers, which could be offset by predicted gusty winds and lightning.

Meanwhile, a new fire in the Kamloops district broke out Tuesday and was still burning out of control today across 10,000 acres on a steep mountainside near Lumby, southeast of Kamloops.

In the Vancouver forest district, where the fire hazard has dropped to moderate, more than 1,000 acres of timber at the northeast end of Lillooet Lake went up like a match Tuesday when struck by lightning. Then the fire petered out and was quickly brought under control.

HEIRESS to John Deere implement fortune, Mrs. William Wakeman has been charged with aggravated assault in shooting of her husband. He was shot in back with .22 revolver and is in fair condition at a Palm Beach hospital.

40 Attend Dog Gymkhana

More than 40 members attended the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club gymkhana held at the home of Ron Nutter, 1566 Mount Douglas Cross Road, over the Labor Day weekend.

Events and winners are as follows:

Sack Race—Peter Kimmerly, Sam; Michael Young, Joey; Bernie Thors, Laddie; Andrea Straith, Mickey.

Egg and Spoon Race—John Porter, Buttons.

Relay Race—Kathy Smith, Sasha; Jo-Anne Smith, Honey; Virginia Lyne, Ranzi; Gordon Wallis, Buddy.

Obstacle Race—Andrea Straith, Mickey; Bernie Thors, Laddy; Kim Porter, Buttons; Tom Seaton, Briar; Ian Roberts, Dunga.

Slow Race—Sheilah Roberts, Dunga.

'WITH 99 PER CENT INFALLIBILITY'

Crystal Spots Forest Fires

By GRANT SIMS

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Nature has accommodated man this year in the U.S. Pacific Northwest by giving him more than 110,000 acres of blazing timber on which to test a new fire-fighting tool.

The new tool is a man-made crystal one ten-thousandth of an inch square. It has been tagged by U.S. forest service scientists as having the potential of saving several million dollars annually in fire suppression costs.

Called indium antimonide, the tiny crystal is the key ingredient in infra-red light detection equipment which has been developed into a fire-spotting device that can pinpoint a campfire eight miles away.

TAKES FAST LOOK

Stanley Hirsch, project leader in charge of Fire Scan research, said an airplane equipped with an infra-red detector can scan 3,000 square miles an hour compared with 600 miles an hour coverage by visual air patrol.

"About seven such planes could effectively patrol all the nation's forests," he said. "They would cost a total of $2,800,000 and I believe they would save that much during their first year of operation."

Two planes are being operated in the U.S. northwest this year. One, a Convair flying laboratory equipped with several thousand pounds of equipment, is designed to fly in the wake of thunderstorms and take infra-red pictures of fires only minutes old. The other, smaller, plane is used to record infra-red images of larger fires.

SEE THROUGH SMOKE

The Fire Scan can see through smoke and clouds. It takes a perfect map of the fire and registers its intensity at various points.

J. C. Robertson, regional forestry co-ordinator, said infra-red detection is saving time, effort and money.

Hirsch said equipment in the flying laboratory has detected 540 fires since it began flying regular missions in July.

"In pine forests the unit can zero in on a coffee can of burning gasoline with 99 per cent infallibility. The plane can be five miles away and three miles above a grassland fire of no more than four square inches and pick it up in virtually every instance."

Water Trucked to Drought Area

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP) — A national guard truck with two tanker trailers full of water were sent today to the aid of 35 families on Cooper Mountain, where a water shortage has developed.

Pauline Gaffer, a resident of the district, said the level of the reservoir has fallen too low to meet the needs of the families.

Rain Brings Relief to Hong Kong

HONG KONG (UPI) — Heavy rain in Hong Kong today brought welcome relief to this colony of four million people dependent on China for much of its water.

The Chinese ignored Hong Kong requests for emergency supplies to help the colony through a parched summer. As a result, water was rationed to four hours every four days.

First Clash Reported in Greece

ATHENS (UPI) — Greek police and persons said to be communists fought a gun battle in Salonika Tuesday, police sources said today. One of the civilians was killed and another wounded.

The battle was believed to be the first armed clash between the authorities and opponents of the military regime installed in the April 21 coup.

Auto Racing Figures Killed

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Two figures of American auto racing died today in the flaming crash of a two-engine private plane near here.

The victims were Rhiman A. Rotz, 51 Indianapolis, an official of the U.S. Auto Club, and John Puelsen, 44, Indianapolis and Compton, Calif., a noted race car-builder and mechanic.

CONVENTION ARRIVAL

Dief 'Touched' By Welcome

By DAVE McINTOSH

TORONTO (CP) — "Wasn't it wonderful," exclaimed John Diefenbaker today about his reception at the Royal York Hotel upon his arrival for the Conservative leadership convention.

"Was that the biggest reception?" he asked reporters when he reached his 16th floor vice-regal suite.

Assured that it was, he said he was delighted.

He said he was concerned about his wife, Olive, in the crush of people at the hotel entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker were caught in a jam of several hundred persons when they stepped from the car which had brought them from the airport.

They were met by E. A. Goodman and Roger Regimbal, co-chairmen of the convention, who had to clear with exhortations a path through the photographers and reporters.

The first caller at his suite was Donald Fleming, one of the nine contenders for the party leadership.

WILL MAKE SPEECH

Mr. Diefenbaker said he will make an address Thursday night to the Conservative association "and to the nation."

He did not elaborate. He had been asked whether he will announce his candidacy Thursday.

There have been reports that Mr. Diefenbaker will support Mr. Fleming for the leadership in an effort to head off three candidates the Chief is said to oppose: Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Davie Fulton, former justice minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker described his reception as "very nice, very touching."

He said he will work today on his Thursday speech.

Many anti-Diefenbaker candidates had earlier expressed concern that an ovation for the Chief might persuade him to enter the race at the last moment.

GOES DOWN TO REGISTER

At noon, Mr. Diefenbaker went down to the convention floor to register.

He was met by one person's shout of "Hurrah for Dief" but there was little reaction.

A shout of "Three cheers for Dief" brought only one cheer and only a smattering of applause from some 20 persons around him.

A little later, Mr. Diefenbaker ran into a vociferous parade for Mr. Stanfield.

The premier's supporters drowned out the shouts of "We want Dief."

An old lady patted Mr. Diefenbaker on the shoulder and said: "You're the best yet."

But there were few if any MPs near Mr. Diefenbaker.

Candidate Alvin Hamilton called on the chief after Mr. Fleming left. Another visitor was Erik Nielsen, MP for the Yukon and campaign manager for candidate Michael Starr.

The Diefenbaker - Fleming meeting lasted about five minutes.

Immediately after, Mr. Fleming told reporters any statements about Diefenbaker support for him must come from the leader.

Mr. Fleming did not deny the reports of a possible arrangement. He said:

"I heard the reports earlier and I said at the time I would have to seek confirmation from proper sources."

When Mr. Fleming left the Diefenbaker room, the leader posed with him for photographers clustered around.

Asked whether the two men would meet again today, Mr. Fleming replied: "Maybe."

Mr. Diefenbaker's only comment on the report that he might under certain circumstances give Mr. Fleming quiet support was:

"If I answered all the rumors emanating from the several factories here, I'd have time for nothing else."

SEEMS PLEASED

But he was plainly pleased that Mr. Fleming called on him immediately after his arrival and ahead of the stream of visitors who began to file into the vice-regal suite.

A group of women called on Mrs. Diefenbaker and stayed a few minutes chatting.

In his conversation Mr. Diefenbaker kept returning to the reception scene.

"Wasn't it great?" he asked, turning to a small group around him.

KOREAN MINER FREED AFTER 15-DAY ORDEAL

CHONGYANG, South Korea (AP) — Rescue workers brought to the surface today a 35-year-old Korean gold miner who had been trapped 410 feet under ground more than two weeks. Doctors said Kim Chang-son was in fair condition.

Doctors described Kim as a "man of unusually strong will" and said it was largely his willpower that had kept him alive during the 15 days he had spent alone in the mine.

The miner, a veteran of the Korean War, drank water and ate wood bark he found in the mine.

Carter Study Urged

TORONTO (CP) — A Progressive Conservative policy committee voted today to recommend to the party that it support extending the base for the federal sales tax to include some services. It also approved shifting the tax to the retail from the manufacturer's level.

Completing its day-and-a-half study of the implications of the Carter report on taxation on party policy, the committee also recommended that a joint parliamentary committee be set up to study the report before the government presents a white paper on its intentions.

The recommendations will go before a plenary policy session Thursday.

The debate on extending the base of the sales tax sparked a dispute among the committee members, with Robert M. Clark, economics professor at the University of British Columbia warning that a general statement about including "some services" could be misinterpreted.

His proposal to exempt shelter, medical, dental, nursing, hospital and educational services was defeated on grounds there was not time to go into such detail.

The committee's stand on the federal sales tax is similar to that adopted by the Carter report. The 12-per-cent tax now is applied at the manufacturers' level and is passed on to consumers as part of the price.

The Carter report suggested it should be seven per cent at the retail level, but the committee did not pick a rate in going along with the shift.

APPROVE OTHER IDEAS

Other recommendations approved by the committee included:

1. Negotiations between the federal and provincial governments to agree on a common base for a sales tax;

2. An upper limit on the size of retirement savings plans to which payments are tax free should be subject to periodic review. Mr. Carter recommended it be fixed at $12,000 a year, but the committee said that would be far too low to benefit young persons now starting to build their retirement funds;

3. Mr. Carter's proposed foreign tax credits should be reassessed because they are inadequate. The report recommended that Canadian corporations doing foreign business pay a 30-per-cent tax on profits, less whatever income tax they pay in the foreign country.

Prof. Clark said the Carter report does not give enough importance to the value of Canadian investment in foreign countries. Such investment was large and benefitted the country's balance of payments.

A short-term policy of passive austerity appeared to be evolving within a committee on economic development at the convention.

The tone for restraint was set by the two economists — Richard Scott-Ram of Montreal and Arthur Kruger of Toronto — who said that inflationary pressures have brought Canada to the brink of recession.

Delegates responded by urg-

'LOST GENERATION' SETS PACE

Power Brokers Can't Deliver Tory Votes

By PETER C. NEWMAN

TORONTO — The voting machines, the television technicians looking like moon men staggering under the load of their apparatus, the teeny boppers in psychedelic colors, the fancy identification tags, the rock bands with their transistorized guitars have given the Conservative convention a twenty-first century air.

Newman

At first glance machines appear more crucial than men; it's as though the candidates prepared for this convention believing that if only the mechanics were right, delegates could be dazzled into consent. But they've quickly discovered that this is an illusion.

For in truth the Conservative convention is turning into one of the great democratic happenings of Canadian politics. The power brokers are desperately negotiating their victory deals but all the while they are haunted by the fear that they may not be able to deliver.

Open Convention

They are suddenly confronted with the reality that the delegates are not to be easily manipulated; that they are far more concerned and sophisticated than anybody imaged — a group of free spirits who want to choose that leader who can most effectively deal with the torrent of social, economic and political change which is remaking the nation.

The seem to realize that the problems now facing Canada require mature and subtle judgments which don't come out of the kind of passionate leadership represented by John Diefenbaker.

It's an unstructured, wide-open convention with probably less than a hundred votes separating the top four candidates (Roblin, Fulton, Stanfield and Hees) but some trends are already discernable.

Duff Roblin will probably lead on the first ballot — though not necessarily win the leadership. The Manitoba premier's call for unity has struck a responsive nerve chord in the party, but as front runner he has become the target other candidates are shooting at.

Roblin Weakened

The unauthorized attacks on John Diefenbaker by Roblin's Quebec supporters (and the still unexplained telegram assault by Maurice Arpin) have weakened Roblin's claim to be a compromise candidate.

The most likely combination to beat Duff Roblin would be a coalition between Davie Fulton and Robert Stanfield. This is in the works although until the first few ballots are counted, it's uncertain who'll be backing whom. The Fulton-Stanfield alliance might also include many delegates supporting Fleming and McCutcheon on early ballots.

Until nominations close on Friday morning, John Diefenbaker will remain the palpable political presence against whose stature all Tory hopefuls must measure themselves. But in the environment of these reverberating klieg-lit meeting halls, his sorcery seems less potent.

John Diefenbaker must be the only Tory in town who doesn't realize what this convention is all about. He still regards it not as an important political movement's legitimate process of succession, but only as a plot against him and his historic destiny.

His Last Hope

His last, gravelly hope lies in his contempt for those ungrateful men who are trying to replace him, the giant, with some political pigmy from their number.

It took Tuesday and Wednesday's scuffling at the Royal York Hotel to bring the convention alive. What has taken hold of it now is the fever that always grips politicians when power is changing hands.

It's a euphoria and you can see it everywhere, in the flushed faces of matrons with dimpled arms and in the glazed eyes of garrulous men of late middle-age who keep recalling other conventions, but most of all you can hear it in the disjointed theorizing of young and old; everybody talks, incessantly, compulsively rumour-mongering, recounting the latest inside-inside story. A man will rush up and repeat as incontrovertible fact a vague theory you told HIM 15 minutes before.

In the long carpeted tunnels of hotel corridors, delegates, reporters, onlookers jostle each other in constant, verbal confrontation. You can still spot the old pols in the crowd, the senators, the wringers of hands, the anxious glad-to-see-you tooth suckers who promenade up the hotel lobbies as if pursuing some essential mission.

But they are far removed from the sources of real power in the party and after

Deadline Set For Midnight

DETROIT (AP) — Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers president, proposed arbitration to Ford Motor Co. today and said if it were accepted "a strike can be avoided" at midnight.

Reuther proposed voluntary arbitration instead of binding arbitration.

A UAW spokesman announced the move as Reuther and the bargainers for Ford returned to negotiations from a long lunch break that followed three hours of fruitless talks in the morning.

There was no immediate indication of the company's position.

Earlier, Chrysler Corp. and General Motors refused to extend contracts with the UAW, but said they expected workers to stay on the job regardless of what happens at Ford.

Some 1,700 workers at Ford's Twin Cities plant in St. Paul, Minn., walked off the job without explanation.

Emerging from the morning session, Reuther agreed with Ford's chief bargainer that a strike was "highly probable."

"But that doesn't mean we have given up," he added.

Reuther said the key issues at Ford were economic and added that the situation apparently was going to be reduced to "economic warfare."

Reuther said the only chance of avoiding a strike would be a change in attitude on the part of Ford, adding that he has seen no indication of any such change.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford's top negotiator, said Tuesday he anticipated no new offer by Ford.

Asked whether he would request recommendations from William E. Simkin, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, Reuther said he would leave that for Simkin to decide.

The UAW leader said he hoped any strike would be a short one and that negotiations would get under way again "at the earliest opportunity."

Reuther said Tuesday he expected UAW members would be able to remain at their jobs at GM and Chrysler even if the current three-year contracts are not extended.

SEPARATISTS

Gas, Sticks Break Up Violence

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Andre Theoret of suburban Pierrefonds said today he plans to ask Quebec Premier Johnson for direct intervention against separatist demonstrations of the kind that widened into a violent two-hour battle Tuesday night.

Four persons were arrested after the clash between demonstrators urging completion of a French-language school and English-speaking hecklers. Three policemen and 10 demonstrators were injured.

Pierrefonds police and reinforcements from provincial police and neighboring communities used tear gas and nightsticks to end the fighting shortly after 10 p.m.

Mayor Theoret said a decision will be made within four to six weeks by the municipal council whether zoning laws will be amended to enable construction work on the Roman Catholic elementary school.

Police said the fighting began after a small number of English-speaking persons began singing O Canada in French during a speech by Pierre Bourgault, leader of the Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale, Quebec's largest separatist political party.

Separatists and hecklers traded punches and kicks and wrestled on the ground to shouts of "kill him" from spectators.

The demonstrators then began a noisy march through the community to a shopping centre, shouting separatist slogans.

English-speaking persons then followed the demonstrators to the shopping centre. The two groups broke into full battle after a group of RIN supporters tore a Red Ensign flag from the hands of hecklers.

The demonstration was called by the RIN to protest an injunction taken out by a Pierrefonds home owners association to block further construction work on the elementary school, scheduled for completion in January.

The home owners said traffic in the area would increase and property values would drop if the school were finished.

Greek Gift To Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — King Contantine of Greece expressed the hope today that the millions of visitors to Expo 67 will "become the heralds of universal understanding and peace."

The king spoke at a colorful ceremony marking Greece's national day at the world's fair as a cool breeze swept the sun-drenched Place des Nations. Boisterous applause and cheers greeted his announcement that he was offering the Greek pavilion to the city of Montreal.

Roost to Roast Axe Handle Away

By TED GASKELL

Birds, ships and children were the prize-winning subjects in the final week of The Times Amateur Snapshot contest.

First $10 prize went to Maurice Bombezin, 1310 Prillaman Avenue, for his shot of a cockpheasant roosting in the handle of an axe.

A child with one solitary tear hanging from its eyelid gave $10 to John Sykora of 3050 Glen Manor Place for the best snapshot in the People of the World category.

Fishing boats at sunset was a prize-winner in the World in Which We Live group for Mrs. Ann Wilson, 940 Walema.

Runners up were Mrs. Agnes Duke, 5288 Santa Clara, with a picture of a swan at dusk; Mrs. H. Nelson, 30 Douglas Street with the snap of a cabin cruiser high and dry in the World in Which We Live category, and Mrs. F. C. Smith, 4475 Densmore snapped a dirty-faced little boy for second place in the People of the World group.

The seven winners in each category will now be judged and the best will receive $25 and entry in the national competition for a first prize of a trip around the world for two with $1,000 in spending money. Lesser prizes of trips to Hawaii, Europe, Mexico and the West Indies will also be given as well as seven $100 prizes for Canadian entries and $20 for the best Canadian print submitted.

Prize-winning entries going on to the national competitions must be accompanied by release from the subjects if over 21 or from parents or guardians if under 21.

When these winners are chosen, release forms will be mailed out to the photographers who must have them signed by the subjects or parents and guardians of the subjects and returned immediately otherwise the pictures will not be accepted by the national judges.

ing that governmental spending be curbed and that some programs, notably medical care insurance, postponed.

In its report the rural and regional development subcommittee called for a regional level of government between local municipalities and the provinces and incorporating some of the functions of both.

CO-ORDINATE EFFORTS

Regional governments would co-ordinate the efforts of adjacent cities, towns, counties and rural areas to solve common problems such as metropolitan transport, water conservation and supply, industrial promotion, housing, schools, hospitals, provision of open space for recreation and regulation of land use.

Committee members agreed this is primarily a provincial matter but felt Ottawa should act as a catalyst, especially in carrying out research leading to solution.

Alvin Hamilton, a leadership candidate, told the committee on economic development that the party should develop an economic policy flexible for both the Canadian regions and industries. In this way, Canada can achieve a growth rate of five to seven per cent and, in 25 years, overtake the per-capital earning rate in the United States.

He said the United States is expected to have a relatively constant growth rate of four per cent.

The flexible policy he envisaged would permit the federal government to select areas for incentives. For example, a tight money situation in central Canada would present an opportunity to provide incentives for the Maritime regions.

Meanwhile, each candidate delivered a brief policy rundown Tuesday night, but none set the audience of 2,000 on fire. The consensus was that the first group appearance of the candidates at the convention was a political saw-off for the leading contenders.

Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba had the choice final spot on the speaking order, but his applause was on the same scale as some of his chief rivals such as Davie Fulton, George Hees and Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia.

John Maclean, a relative unknown, drew a laugh by inviting delegates to ponder whether "they were overlooking some talent in the party."

Mr. Fulton favored a move away from universal, compulsory welfare spending in favor of concentration on helping those who really need it. There was a need for major policy changes in several fields.

Senator Wallace McCutcheon said there is no place in Canada for two sovereignties, one French and one English. There may be a place for two different cultures.

Mr. Roblin talked of the need for order and priority in Canadian administration. Mr. Hees promised a trade crusade to expand markets if he gained power.

Mr. Hamilton favored a policy which he termed expansionist economic nationalism.

National unity was a favorite theme, and Mr. Stanfield said it is not unreasonable for French-Canadians to want mechanisms to safeguard their cultural identity.

Mr. Fleming, a former finance minister, called for policies to encourage Canadian savings to provide domestic capital. Michael Starr favored continuation of Canada's membership in both NATO and NORAD.

"Oh dear!"

this convention even their physical presence will become redundant.

This is a convention that belongs to that lost generation of Conservatives who came of political age after the flowering of John Diefenbaker, but this side of the politically-minded teeny boppers of both sexes who'll inherit the party next time around.

All of the hoopla and most of the attention is focussed on the candidates themselves. They strain to satisfy the yearnings of their followers. But they are tired men.

Except for Roblin and Stanfield, they've all talked too much and travelled too far in the past six months.

Their pronouncements began to multiply back in April and through the long, hot summer they criss-crossed the country, exhausting their mental and physical energies, lacerating their sense of privacy, and exposing themselves to too many contradictory positions.

There is George Hees, accompanied wherever he goes by the two-beat rhythms of the metro stompers. Continuously being stopped by TV interviewers, Hees stares into the blinding television lights like a sun worshipper, sure that this is his deity and that he will have its blessing.

Yet his words betray little evidence of a mind given to speculating about the subtleties or even the truisms of our changing society.

Davie Fulton seems gayer than he has ever been. He has somewhere acquired a patina of self-conficence which adds to his appeal. Whether or not he'll emerge as the ultimate winner, he'll come out of this convention with the myth that he's a bad politician finally dispelled.

Robert Stanfield remains a ponderer in an age of quick decisions, a faun among the foxes. But his natural dignity is beginning to assert itself and he is at last looking like a possible, if drab alternative.

Looking for Winner

And here, too, parades Donald Fleming, like some geological remnant of a forgotten age. Outwardly confident, he's been loosing delegates steadily for two months now, first with Stanfield's entry, then with Roblin's declaration, and finally with Diefenbaker's call to rally his troops for a possible, last minute entry.

Fleming has nothing left to offer his party except the salvation of their fiscal souls, but the delegates are in Toronto to back a winner, and they only wince when the redoubtable Donald expounds his dreams of a Canada that began to vanish before he was born.

But there's only one question that matters: when the ballots have been counted on Saturday afternoon, who will be the winner?

Asked a similar question about a U.S. political convention, T. H. White, the American journalist-historian, gave a reply relevant to this one.

"The decisive factor," he said, "is how you manoeuvre yourself to attract the attention of the king-makers, the power brokers, the press and ultimately the people. But the most important ingredient is luck. You must be where the lightning strikes."

"It was the greatest reception I've ever had in public life."

Despite the cheering for Mr. Diefenbaker in the lobby, only a smattering of the crowd wore "Keep the Chief" buttons that have been seen around the hotel during the convention.

Crowds lining the balcony around the lobby were largely silent. As one non-Diefenbaker man put it: "We don't want to cheer too loud, he might run."

The few people who carried Diefenbaker signs were mostly elderly. Most were women.

A Regina woman delegate, without a Diefenbaker button, told a reporter she came to see the leader, who is from her home province, but would not vote for him if he ran.

Many of the persons who jammed the hotel lobby to see Mr. Diefenbaker were not convention delegates.

There was a scattering, however, of supporters of Mr. Fleming and Senator Wallace McCutcheon.

There were few Conservative MPs in evidence.

Ernest MacAulay, the piper for Premier Stanfield, said he was sent down to the lobby by Mr. Stanfield to serenade Mr. Diefenbaker because he was still the chief.

JAPANESE SCIENTIST ARRESTED IN U.S.

'Household Goods' Were Space Study Data

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Federal customs agents arrested a Japanese scientist after, the agents said, they discovered three crates labelled "used household goods" contained information on a U.S. space project.

Charged with making a false customs declaration was Dr. Hidebumi Hazama, 39, formerly a researcher for a National Aeronautics and Space Administration project at University Hospital.

The material was described as the complete and only record of a $300,000 study on the effects of living in space on the human brain.

John Dolan, assistant customs agent, said the crates seized aboard the Pioneer Moon in Baltimore harbor contained data tables, slides, documents, records, computations and other information.

Stephen H. Sachs, U.S. Attorney for Maryland, said the material was not regarded as secret.

The arrest of Hazama last Friday was disclosed Tuesday. Agents said the scientist was picked up as he was putting his wife and child on a London-bound plane at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport.

Death Threat May Cancel China Fair

HONG KONG (Reuters) — One of China's major trade fairs may not be held next month because opponents of Mao Tse-tung threatened to kill the organizers, the English-language Hong Kong Standard says.

The newspaper quotes travellers arriving here from China as saying the site of the Canton Fair — one of China's show windows for the world — was damaged by mobs.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai insisted the fair go on, but anti-Maoists in the city claimed they would kill the organizers if it was held, The Standard adds.

The paper says this explained why no invitations to the trade fair was received in Hong Kong.

The Standard reports continued fighting in Canton and quotes arrivals here as saying the city's Tinho railway station was still in the hands of anti-Maoists.

But it appeared partial train service has been restored to Hong Kong after several days interruption.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices recorded recessions on profit-taking and hedging sales on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Rapeseed showed an easier tone. Reports said Japan took some parcel lots of rapeseed. Oats and barley trade was light and domestic. Rye prices were somewhat hesitant.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 700,000 bushels to Italy, 500,000 to Britain, 465,000 to China, 420,000 to Russia, 270,000 to West Germany, 25,000 to Syria and 20,000 to the Philippines.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were down 1 cent.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and grain futures prices declined on the board of trade today, influenced by good growing weather and prospects of a bountiful harvest.

There was little to stimulate any advance in prices.

Sun-Rype Products Gets Council Grant

KELOWNA (CP) — The National Research Council has authorized a grant to Sun-Rype Products, Ltd., of this Okanagan Valley city to finance part of a research program into the economic uses of apple pomace.

The company says that Dr. David Paton, PhD., a plant biochemist, has been employed to conduct a five-year research program on the project.

Apple pomace is the residue left from the juicing process.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mines Suffer Decline

Highland Bell was the big loser on a generally declining market on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today. The issue, which jumped almost two points Tuesday, dropped $2 to $12.

Other losers in the mining section were Buttle, off nine to $1.28; Dynasty, down 15 to $8.30; Northlode, off 21 to 95 cents and Western Mines, down 12 to $2.85.

Among the gainers were Yukon, up six and half cents to 51 cents; Peso, eight to $1.40 and Chataway, six to 43 cents.

In the oils, Central Del-Rio dropped a quarter to $24 and Plains slipped three to 45 cents.

Coronation Credit led the industrials gaining 40 cents to $2.10, while Western Broadcasting fell 37 cents to $15.75.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 716,348 shares.

AT TORONTO all major sections of the market made small advances in moderate trading today.

Clairtone sliped ⅛ to 8 in industrials. The company reported a loss for the first six months of this year greater than for the same period last year although the value of sales doubled.

Among other industrials, Simpsons rose 1½ to 33½ and Du Pont ⅝ to 29¼. Chrysler Corp. was down 1¼ to 54¼ and Thomson Newspapers ¾ to 36¼.

In base metals, Highland Bell was down 1½ and Leitch 50 cents to 8.90.

Trading in western oils saw Scurry-Rainbow and Banff slip ½ each to 36 and 15¾ and Canadian Superior and Central-Del Rio ⅛ each to 42¼ and 16.

AT NEW YORK the market continued its rally in active trading.

Ford, the strike target selected by the United Auto Workers Union, edged off, while Chrysler sank nearly a point and General Motors gained a fraction.

Pan American World Airways paced the list on volume, losing a fraction. A single block of 405,400 shares boosted Pan Am far ahead of other stocks in turnover.

American Motors was active as it edged higher in further response to a report of mutual-fund buying.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome Mines was up 1, International Nickel ½, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker Gooderham ¼. Canadian Pacific was down 1, Distillers Seagrams and Massey-Ferguson ⅜.

AT LONDON the market was in a buoyant mood again today, with buyers still taking a long-term optimistic view on the U.K. economic outlook.

Gains in equities once more were widespread, with numerous features. Gilts also gained.

U.S. dollar stocks reflected the rise on Wall Street, but Canadian issues were uncertain. Abitibi, B-A Oil, Central Del Rio, Imperial Oil and Noranda were among those to ease while nickels, Consolidated Paper, West Coast Transmission and Algoma improved.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate trading today

Texaco rose ¾ to 31¼, and Chemcell gained ½ to 11⅜. Scott LaSalle jumped 1⅛ points to 31⅞ after advancing ¾ in moderate trading Tuesday.

Industrial Acceptance and Labatt each slipped ½ to 22¼ and 29¾ respectively.

Silver Price Rise Seen By Industry

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The price of silver is going to go up, most spokesmen for the mining industry in the western U.S. insist, because demand is outstripping supply.

They talk of the metal selling for $2.25 an ounce, or perhaps $2.50, in contrast with the present price hovering around $1.65.

The rise will start, they say, when the U.S. treasury's supplies are reduced to the point the agency must quit auctioning off 2,000,000 ounces of the metal every week.

When the treasury removed its $1.29-an-ounce ceiling, the price shot to about $1.80, then began to drop back.

The producers' outlook is contrary to that of the treasury department, where a spokesman has asserted there will be plenty of silver to fill needs, including payment of silver certificates, and that the price will range from $1.50 to $1.75 an ounce for the next four or five years.

"This is the same old line the treasury has been putting out for the last five years and it has been 100 per cent wrong during this period," said H. F. Magnuson of Wallace, Idaho, a vice-president of Golconda Mining Corp. and a spokesman for silver producers in the Coeur D'Alene mining region of northern Idaho. About 45 per cent of U.S. silver production comes from the vicinity.

Westerners declare the treasury and eastern buyers want to keep the silver price down and are deliberately minimizing the situation.
